BANK TAX DISPUTE SNARLS STATE RELIEF

Today

Chicago's Queen of Charm.
Lighter Cars, Faster Travel.
Promises Soon Forgotten.
Beer and Whisky, Separate.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHICAGO, April 25.

BRIGHT SUNSHINE on the lake, much ozone in the Chicago air. Don't forget that Chicago expects you in June for the great exposition that will celebrate A CENTURY OF PROGRESS.

Everything will be ready for you, on time, including the queen of the exposition, now being chosen.

THIS QUEEN will be the most beautiful girl in Chicago, well worth coming a thousand miles to see even if there were no exposition. She will be no ordinary "bathing suit beauty" queen.

In the comprehensive language of this city, she will be expected to "have everything," big, beautiful rolling eyes, a figure that would make Venus dive back into the sea, fearing to compete, wonderful wavy hair, mouth like two small cherries, one above the other, in short, everything "easy to look at."

But Chicago tells you:

"All that will be secondary to CHARM. Charm is the thing, and the girl with the most of it will wear the crown of our Century of Progress Exposition."

NEXT QUESTION, what IS charm? The answer depends on the location. In some Latin countries a very faint growth of dark hair on the upper lip un duvet adds to charm. It would have to be shaved in Chicago.

Hottentot mothers stuff their daughters with camels' milk until they weigh three hundred pounds at seventeen. The fatter the bride, the greater her value. Here that is the rule in the stock yard only.

THE PARIS MUSEUM had a life size, life-like wax facsimile of a Venus Hottentote. The young lady, who died in Paris, was called a great beauty at home, and measured not less than five feet in diameter, from front to rear.

Charm in some places means tattooing, lip-spreading, teeth blackening, head flattening, foot squeezing.

Chicago, defining charm vaguely, says:

"It is the thing that makes you say when you see the girl, 'I cannot live without her, and that's all there is to it.'"

Already 100 Chicago girls have been found that possess it.

LEAVING TRENTON, N. J., yesterday on the Pennsylvania Broadway Limited, traveling 900 miles in less than 17 hours, on a train perfectly equipped, in magnificent, heavy Pullman cars of steel that neither fire nor collision could destroy, on scientifically perfected steel rails, that do not break, and sleeping as soundly as at home, you almost regret that all this "finest in the world American railroading" must vanish, changing its form completely.

THE CHANGE must come from the steel Pullman car that weighs 180,000 pounds and carries twelve passengers on the average, even fewer in these depression times, to a car of light metal, weighing 10,000 pounds, carrying thirty passengers, and going 150 miles an hour, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in 20 hours easily, will be the new railroad travel.

FIFTY YEARS hence this "fast train" will rank in memory with the old British "fast mail" drawn by four horses. Travel on the earth's surface at 150 to 200 miles per hour, and through the air for those in a hurry, on long journeys at 500 miles an hour will be a matter of course.

Breakfast in San Francisco, luncheon above New York, dinner in London.

MR. CRAWFORD, head of the Pullman Company, an able citizen, is looking ahead, as are all intelligent transportation men.

He has already built for French railroads light cars weighing 20,000 pounds only, and will show you at the Chicago exposition in June a car reduced in weight by 80,000 pounds, thanks to the use of aluminum.

POLISH JEWS order a boycott of German goods in protest against anti-Semitism in Germany. Conditions have changed since the great war. Joel Slonim of "The Day," Jewish daily, writing in the New York Enquirer, recalls an appeal to Polish Jews issued by German Field Marshals Hindenburg and Ludendorf when their armies were marching through Poland against Russia in need of supplies from Jewish merchants. Their proclamation read:

"Too long have you been in distress beneath the iron Muscovite yoke. As friends we come to you. The barbaric foreign government is over. Equal rights for Jews shall be developed upon firm foundations. Do not let yourselves, as several times in the past, be duped by flattering (Russian) promises."

THE PROCLAMATION went on to recall to the Polish Jews frightful Russian pogroms of Kisheneff, "and many hundreds of other bloody pogroms. Remember the Belis trial and the efforts made by the barbaric (Russian) government to spread

U. S. MOVES TO JOIN IN WAR CURB

Parley at Washington Spurs Action for Disarmament

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—The possibility of American agreement to consult with fellow signatories of the Paris peace pact in event of a threat of war increased today in the light of developments centering around the conferences between President Roosevelt and foreign statesmen.

Through another day of serious discussion on international economics and armaments, the President, Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, and former Premier Herriot, of France, worked toward assuring success for the London conference aimed to rehabilitate world trade and the moves already under way for armaments reduction.

PLATFORM CITED

Following a visit to the White House, where Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald had been together, Secretary Hull pointed out in a press conference that the platforms of both political parties declared in principle in favor of such consultative provision to strengthen the Kellogg-Briand pact.

He had been asked especially about the chances for this country's joining in such an agreement.

The projected American adherence to a consultative agreement appeared to have a distinct bearing on the deadlocked efforts for reduction and limitation of land, sea and air armaments in the conference which reopened today at Geneva.

Judging from the advisers called into the White House Anglo-American meeting, armaments and related problems were among the uppermost there.

EXPERTS MEET

At the State Department, meanwhile, French experts allied with M. Herriot participated in their first extended exchange of views preparatory to their leader's conferring with the President later in the day.

Secretary Hull refrained from detailed comment, explaining that

REED RENEWS INFLATION WAR

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—Replying to a trio of Republican opponents, Senator Harrison, (Dem.), of Mississippi, declared in the Senate today that Andrew W. Mellon was "in a conspiracy" against the inflation proposal and added there was "nothing in it against sound money."

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—In a speech assailing the administration's inflation proposal, Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, told the Senate today the power proposed to be given the President was unconstitutional and a "terrible power to grant an individual."

Taking the floor as attempts got under-way to compromise the gold and silver clauses whereby the Republican regulars would agree to free coinage or huge purchases

U. S. to Battle Gangs Preying On Beer Trade

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(Universal.)—Attorney General Cummings has declared war on lawless bankers, on racketeers who prey upon the legitimate beer industry, and on inefficient employes of his own department.

Serving notice that the seat of the government is in Washington and not in the financial district, and those who "gamble with other people's money must abdicate their leadership," the Attorney General in a radio address last night said:

"Conditions too long concealed, some of which lie at the very heart of our present difficulties, must be brought to light and corrected. We have reached a stage where we want to know the worst and must know it before the remedy can be applied.

"Already extensive investigations are under way along the lines indicated, and their developments will be made known in due course."

Declaring it is highly important that the legitimate beer industry be kept free from racketeer control, the Attorney General said it already has become apparent "the bootlegging interests will seek to levy a toll" on the beer manufacturers. He added:

"No matter how honest the beer industry itself may be, there remains the danger that it will be preyed upon by outside influence. Those who are endeavoring honestly to live within the law will find a friend in the Department of Justice; others will proceed at their peril."

Roosevelt Indorsement Before Bankers Here

Pittsburgh bankers will be asked tomorrow to pass a resolution expressing their faith in the President of the United States.

The resolution will be presented by James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, to the members of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association tomorrow after closing hours in the Mellon National Bank.

That the President has set in motion various forces for the restoration of prosperity and is conceded to be fearless and with a constructive mind is declared in the resolution.

Just how far Pittsburgh bankers will go in commending President Roosevelt at a time when he has apparently committed himself to a policy of currency inflation is being watched with interest.

With former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon opposing inflation, the action of Pittsburgh bankers, many of whom are directly under the Mellon influence, is expected to be of interest.

LOST FLIER'S KIN FEARED SUICIDE

Fortune Lost in Hunt For Redfern Blamed In Bridge Leap

His fortune swept away in a futile effort to find his aviator nephew, Paul Redfern, who disappeared in 1927 while on a flight to South America, according to police, Richard S. Redfern is believed to have committed suicide by jumping from the Veterans' Memorial Bridge at Rochester, N. Y., last night.

Mrs. Gertrude Redfern, of Fairfax apartments, Oakland, who has been much interested in the search for her husband, today said Redfern's uncle had expended considerable money in the search. Concerning the suicide report she said:

"I don't believe that he would do anything like that unless he lost all his money."

Brunswick (Ga.) police, according to an Associated Press dispatch from that city, said the elder Redfern had visit that city last October in connection with a proposed expedition in search of his nephew in the Amazon swamps. At that time it is reported he had expended considerable money in the search.

Redfern's automobile was found a short distance from the bridge in Rochester a few hours after witnesses saw an unidentified man leap into the river.

Police there were attempting to determine whether Redfern's disappearance had any connection with the detention in Para, Brazil, of a man named Tom Roch, who was attempting to raise funds to finance an expedition to search for the missing airman.

Richard Redfern, who was 60 years old, was a real estate operator in Rochester.

DENNY TO PROBE 'HILL' VICE

Public Safety Director Harmar D. Denny, Jr., today said he would investigate vice conditions in the Hill district, even if District Attorney Andrew T. Park won't.

Both were asked what they were going to do about charges made by Deputy Constables Hyman Shalansky and Sam Feldman, before Judge Samuel H. Gardner that there are 325 lottery and gambling houses and 124 speakeasies in the Fifth Ward and the police are aware of it.

Park said he doesn't intend to get embroiled in "the factional row," that he doesn't have enough men, and added:

"If the deputies have the information they claim ,it is their sworn duty to act on it by making raids."

Denny said:

"That sort of thing certainly will be investigated. I will not only order an investigation of conditions on the Hill, but throughout the city.' '

The charges were made while Feldman and Shalansky were resisting efforts of Constable Earl Sams, Negro, to have their appointments revoked.

Wisconsin Second To Ratify Repeal

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(AP.)—Wisconsin's constitutional convention today cast a unanimous vote to ratify repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Preceded by Michigan, Wisconsin was the second state of the Union to vote for the repeal of federal prohibition.

Shawn, St. Denis Separate for Love

Marriage 'Outmoded' For Intellectuals, Says Dancer.

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS.)—Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, whose dancing feet have twinkled in double harness for many years, will henceforth live separate lives, for they have just discovered, according to Miss St. Denis, that marriage for artistes is an outmoded and confining institution.

Quite frankly Miss St. Denis discussed the new marital status which she and her dancing husband have instituted.

It is not exactly separation and it most certainly is not divorce. In fact, Miss St. Denis says, she and her husband have but recently fallen in love with one another.

Other men? Other women? Nonsense—it is merely that they find that marriage is a failure and they have substituted something else.

She, for instance, is living at Denishawn, which is in the Bronx, and he is living at a farm at Lee, Mass., teaching young men the interpretive style of dancing, of which he is the acknowledged master.

Now and then they spend a few days together. Miss St. Denis said:

"Our marriage did not pan out, because two high-spirited horses cannot move in the restriction of the same harness. Now that we are freed, we find that we love each other more than ever."

Asked what her substitute for marriage was, the dancer was quick to respond.

"I propose a spiritual bond between two people that does not necessarily restrict extra-marital relations, but at the same time centers and legitimatizes their relations above the point of criticism.

"Marriage for intellectuals is outmoded. What I propose seems to be the only possible way intellectuals can solve their marriage problems."

Nicola Makes Plea For New Tax Trial

Arguments were made today before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker on a motion for a new trial for F. F. Nicola, Pittsburgh real estate operator, convicted last February, charged with evasion of $26,394 on his 1928 income tax return.

Nicola was represented by Attorneys J. A. Richardson and Maynard Teal. First Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh presented the government's case. A decision will not be given for several days, it was learned.

DENY BARDOLPH NEW TRIAL

Charles A. Bardolph, president of the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company today was denied a new trial on his conviction on 11 charges of making false entries in the books of the bank.

Assistant District Attorney Harry R. Phillips, who prosecuted the case, said he would move for sentence Thursday. The maximum penalty on each count is five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine. The former banker is expected to appeal to Superior Court.

$8,000,000 REVENUE IN DISPUTE

Pinchot Holds That Einstein Bill Only Shifts Levy

Developments in the State Legislature in Harrisburg today included these:

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF—Agreement on the state's $45,000,000 program was held up by a dispute on the meaning of the Einstein bill to exempt savings accounts in banks from the four-mill personal property tax.

SUNDAY SPORTS—The Schwartz bill, modifying the blue laws to allow Sunday sports, was returned by the Senate to Gov. Pinchot's desk today without amendment.

BEER LICENSES—The McClure bill with its possibilities for large state revenue from beer licenses was reported favorably today by the House Committee.

TEACHERS' PAY—The Wilson (McKean) bill, allowing school districts to cut teachers' salaries, went to Gov. Pinchot after passing both branches.

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Agreement on and passage of a $45,000,000 state unemployment relief program today hangs on conflicting interpretations of the bill of Senator Morris Einstein, which exempts interest-bearing savings accounts from the four-mill personal property tax.

The bill was intended to exempt interest-bearing savings accounts from tax.

Attorney General William A. Schnader advised the Governor that the bill merely transferred the tax from the depositor to the banker and turned the revenue over to the state instead of counties.

John Fertig, chief of the Legislative Reference Bureau, gave an opinion that the bill exempted all accounts, and claimed to have coinciding verdicts from George Alter, of Pittsburgh, former Attorney General, and former Senator George Wharton Pepper.

ARBITRARY DECISION

Seizing the opinion of Schnader, the Governor's aides fixed an arbitrary sum of $8,000,000 to accrue from banks under the Einstein bill, and this was regarded as revenue for relief. A legislative group agreed on this principle, but immediately thereafter preparations were made for the introduction of a resolution de-

$500,000,000 Relief Approved in Senate

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—The administration bill to set up a $500,000,000 fund for direct unemployment relief neared final congressional approval today when the Senate Banking committee approved the measure virtually as it was passed by the House.

Parties 'Padlock' Frat At W. & J. College

They were having their troubles at Washington and Jefferson College today—troubles that reminded one of that ancient triumvirate, wine, women and song.

On the other hand, out on the Carnegie Tech campus the collegians were drinking their beer quietly and all was well.

At Wash-Jeff the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house was "padlocked" by Ralph C. Hutchison, president of the college, while gossip raced over the town of Washington about more than interesting parties staged in the house.

Dr. Hutchison admitted the presence of unchaperoned young women at the fraternity's parties had been reported to him. And there were tales of hard liquor having been served.

The fraternity will be allowed to reopen on June 1, in time for commencement, if the parties are eliminated. But let there be any repetition, and the young men can pack up their steins and buy a one-way ticket home.

Dr. Hutchison emphasized his ban on legal beer by warning one and all fraternities that the serving of either beer or whisky would bring down the iron hand.

At Carnegie Tech things were different. Beer was banned from the co-ed's dormitories by Dean Mary Watson Green, but the males are allowed the new brew in their rooms.

ROOSEVELT MOVES ENTHUSE REOPENED ARMS PARLEY

GENEVA READY FOR CONCRETE PROPOSALS

Anti-Militarism and Economic Recovery Linked

GENEVA, April 25.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt's conversation with foreign statesmen in Washington gave to the world disarmament conference, re-opening today, the most promising moral support it has ever had.

The conference has reached the stage of considering concrete proposals for arms reductions, which it is agreed are tied up inextricably with the measures for economic recovery being sifted at the Roosevelt talks.

Heretofore disarmament, like economic recovery, has been impeded by moral apprehension for the future.

Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador-at-Large, is here to put the same vigor in this conference that President Roosevelt is injecting in the broader field of problems. The main task is to allay fears of European nations that their national soil may be invaded.

FRANCO-GERMAN ISSUE

The resumption of disarmament efforts is centered about Franco-German relations. The opinion is expressed by most delegates that if France and Germany would reach an armament agreement the whole problem of disarmament would take on a new aspect and soon find a solution.

Until, however, France and Germany get together, perhaps through the channel of Mussolini's four-power directorate for European peace efforts, and supplement the Locarno pact of peace on the Rhine by peace agreements wider in their scope, it is believed the disarmament conference will continue to find the sledding very hard.

At all events, the conference will resume with determination to study piecemeal the British draft convention.

Germany, under this project, gets 200,000 soldiers in the home country with none for overseas. France gets 200,000 at home and an additional 200,000 troops for her colonies.

BIG RUSSIAN FORCE

Italy gets 200,000 for her homeland with an extra 50,000 for overseas possessions. Poland gets a total of 200,000 troops, while Soviet Russia is slated to have the biggest army of all, namely, 500,000 troops.

The British draft convention allocates 500 military planes each to Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, the United States and Russia and none to Germany, under treaty restrictions.

U. S. MAY BACK ANTI-WAR PACT

he was devoting himself almost exclusively to the economic phases of the conversations and leaving armaments to President Roosevelt.

Progress has been prevented in part at Geneva by French insistence upon guarantees of security against attack in return for any reduction in their armed forces.

This demand has been re-emphasized with the rise of Hitler's strongly Nationalistic party to power in Germany with accompanying French fears that her old enemy would rearm.

The task, as officials here see it, is to quiet these fears as an essential preliminary to the actual reduction of armaments. The present discussions between Mr. Roosevelt and M. Herriot, as well as Mr. MacDonald, are looked to for definite indication of whether American agreement to a consultative pact would fill the French security demand.

Just such a consultative proposal has been made by MacDonald in his recent disarmament plan to which the Geneva conference devoted its attention today.

Woman Recluse, 84, Found Dead in Woods

OIL CITY, Pa., April 25.—(AP.)—The body of Annie Brewer, 84, was found in the woods last night by members of a searching party organized to clear up the mystery of her disappearance two weeks ago.

An autopsy will be necessary to determine the cause of death, the Coroner said.

Britain Makes No Plan For Debt Payments

LONDON, April 25.—(AP.)—The 1933-34 budget of the British government, which follows last year's precedent by making no provision for any war debt payments to the United States, was presented in the House of Commons today by Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain.

The Chancellor aroused cheers with a declaration that every member of the House, irrespective of party, earnestly prayed for the success of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's mission in Washington.

He absolved the Washington government of charges that have been made by some commentators to the effect that America abandoned the gold standard for the purpose of arming itself with a bludgeon for the Roosevelt-MacDonald discussions.

If the budget works out as Chamberlain atnticipates, Britain will come through the year with a surplus of £2,191,000 ($4,900,000).

On the basis of last year's taxation the Chancellor would have had a surplus of approximately £17,250,000, but he gave to the workingman the long-sought boon of a penny a pint off the beer tax, costing the exchuequer £14,000,000, and he made some other small concessions.

The Chancellor estimated next year's revenue at £698,770,000 and expenditures at £697,486,000.

REED RENEWS WAR ON INFLATION

of silver in return for elimination of the gold content reduction. Reed called the inflation program the "most unwise act that could be conceived of."

He quoted from President Roosevelt's campaign speeches and the Democratic platform assuring the country the Democratic party would stand for a sound currency, and asserted nothing could be more unsound than the pending proposition.

COALITION HINTED

Meanwhile, talk of a possible coalition of regular Republicans and "Free Silver" Democrats to eliminate the gold-content reduction clause and to put over the free coinage of silver amendment of Senators Wheeler and King went the rounds of the Senate.

Senator Reed said he had heard the proposition suggested, but did not know how far it had gone.

Meanwhile, in the House, a new silver bill was sent to the Coinage Committee. It was by Representative White (Dem.), of Idaho, and would remonetize silver by directing the Treasury Secretary to accept deposits of silver bullion at at market price of silver and issue therefor legal tender silver certificates. White said:

"Under the provisions of my bill, we will broaden the base of metallic money in our Treasury reserves without cost to the government.

"This measure will enhance the value of silver and will raise the purchasing power of the people of the silver using countries and thus provide a bigger outlet for our products."

Senator Reed, in assailing the gold content clause, said:

"Th power for which President Roosevelt is asking is without any precedent in our governmental history. The Constitution gives the jower to regulate currency to Congress and does not give us the power to delegate.

"The Constitution is wise in that because to put such power in the hands of an individual is the most unwise act that could be conceived of."

SEES 'PRESSURE'

Making clear he was not criticising the President as an individual, Reed said he would be "exposed to pressure from every fanatic and demagogue" in the country to put the program into effect. He declared:

"It's a terrible power to give an individual."

He quoted Thomas Jefferson as having said "the Constitution fixed the limits to which our confidence may go."

Reed told Senator Trammell (Dem.), of Florida, if President Hoover had sought similar power he would have been the first to "refuse it." He continued:

"It is suggested that this power is not expected to be exercised. If so why ask it? Why should we expose the President to the folly of propaganda to which we ourselves are being subjected? I'm physically unable to read the messages I'm getting on every side."

Reed said the President would be "forced" to use the power as the "pressure would be so great he would have to use it." He added:

"When we think it would not be used our hope is getting the better of our judgment."

Reed quoted Mr. Roosevelt's Brooklyn speech of November 4, in which the President said the platform "specifically declare we advocate a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards" and that "sound money is an international necessity." Reed went on:

"That's what President Roosevelt said about sound money on the eve of his election. Now he is sponsoring the Thomas and Wheeler amendments, in which are embodied all the suggestions of unsound money since history began.

"Back in 1896 we fought a campaign that was called the 'sound money' campaign. The people voted as unsound free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. The President supports not the heresy that Bryan offered but the heresy that gives him the unlimited authority for free coinage at any ratio he sees fit, which may be 60 to 1, the present value of silver, or 6 to 1.

"That one man can put this into effect by his ipse dixit is a thousand times worse than what Bryan proposed."

BORAH INTERVENES

Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, called attention to a Supreme Court decision which held the greenback law of 1862 enabled the "successful prosecution" of the Civil War and Reed replied the government then was "driven to a desperate expedient."

Borah replied:

"Well, we should proceed on the theory that we are confronted with as great an emergency as in 1862. When this emergency is over the United States will redeem its pledge and take the necessary steps to restore a sounder dollar."

Reed compared the proposed inflation with that during the French Revolution. Then Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, entered the debate for the first time.

Glass told Reed he omitted an important fact—that France made it a "capital offense for any citizen to discriminate in favor of gold and against printing press currency." Glass observed:

"We have now gone far beyond that, we've made a statutory sriminal of everyone who holds gold."

Reed expressed amazement at the statement yesterday by Senator Thomas that under the inflation it would be possible, and would b justified, to transfer $200,000,000,000 from the creditor class who "did not earn it" to the debtor class "who lost it."

30-HOUR WEEK FAVORED BY ROOSEVELT

First Lady and Ishbel Hear President's Views Aired

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Roosevelt is friendly to the Black 30-hour week bill, but it is not an administration measure, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins told the House Labor Committee today.

The question was asked by Representative Ellzey (Dem.), of Mississippi, as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, and Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the British Prime Minister, listened attentively.

Ellzey said:

"You will realize the importance of this question because of the situation in the House. I understood you to say when you appeared in executive session that the President is friendly to this bill, but it is not an administration measure."

"That is right," replied Miss Perkins.

ENDS CHILD LABOR

She had no objection to a law putting everybody in the country on the six-hour day and five-day week.

Testifying on the Black bill, which passed the Senate, and her own proposed expansion, she characterized the bill as the "beginning of the end of child and old-age labor." She intimated representatives of organized labor will come before the committee urging a universal 5½-day week—for baank presidentts as well as for factory workers.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, who proposed expansion of the 30-hour week bill to include a national minimum wage and limitation of industrial production, was the witness Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss MacDonald came to hear.

Secretary Perkins, who submitted suggestions to the committee after the Senate passed the Black bill, declared immediately that her proposals had been misunderstood. She said:

"The purpose of this bill is to reduce the hours of labor and thus increase employment.

"It is desirable to increase purchasing power and to remove the impediments to interstate commerce so that commerce will move more freely."

REVIEWS STATISTICS

The Secretary explained statistics showing the decrease in employment, wages and manufacturing output from 1929 to 1932. She said:

"The purchasing power during this period has fallen to a devastating extent, partly because of lowered wages and partly because of lowered production. Unemployment is another story."

The Black bill, which provides for a 30-hour week and six-hour day, is not sufficient because it does not meet the question of reduced purchasing power, she said. She added:

"Those who think revived purchasing power is the key to recovery would be glad to see increased ability to buy."

For this reason, she explained, she recommended a national minimum wage. This wage minimum, she said, would protect the exploited classes of labor.

STOCK 'DEALS' CHARGED TO BIG UTILITY

Cities Service Traded In Own Securities, Inquiry Told

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—Testimony that through a wholly-owned subsidiary the Cities Service Company, Henry L. Doherty untility concern, virtually traded in its own stock on the New York Curb Market, was laid before the Federal Trade Commission today by one of its examiners.

This practice, said the examiner, Dr. Thomas W. Mitchell, is disapproved of by the New York Stock Exchange.

A searching analysis of the market operations of the subsidiary, the Cities Service Securities Company, was presented to the commission with the statement that these were typical of the modern corporate methods of stock market control, methods which when carried on as in 1927-1929, "induce a general orgy of speculation in which stock prices go to absurd heights, from which they must inevitably crash . . ."

These statements were made by Mitchell, testifying in a new phase of the long-standing utility investigation. His analysis of a voluminous report of the Securities Company's operation said the various forms of trading in the parent concern's securities were of major importance in modern finance because of their volume and effects.

As the Trade Commission hearing progressed, agents of the Securities Company distributed to the newsmen reporting it, a statement taking issue with Mitchell's conclusions and asserting that the company's market purchases were not made for itself, but to fill orders for customers, and that far from inducing speculation the purpose of the concern was to raise new capital for the Cities Service Company and to place securities "more or less" permanently.

New Mitchell Indictment Returned on Tax Charge

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—A second superseding indictment was returned today by a federal grand jury against Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, charging him with evading payment of federal income taxes for the years 1929 and 1930. Mitchell pleaeded not guilty and the case was placed on the trial calendar for May 8.

Meanwhile, J. P. Morgan & Co. have supplied virtually all the information called for in the questionnnaire of Ferdinand Pecora, counsel to the Senate Banking Committee investigating Wall street and banking practices, and the data now is being analyzed and studied in preparation for resumption of the committee's hearings, Pecora said today.

LABOR KILLING, RAID JAILS 9

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—Nine men were charged with homicide and malicious mischief today as a result of the bloodiest labor fued in recent years.

They were seized after mobsters, armed with pistols and lead pipes, raided a left-wing fur workers' union yesterday, starting a battle in which one man was shot to death and a score injured.

Three of the prisoners are in a hospital in critical conditions.

The gang, dashing into the headquarters of the Needle Trades Workers' Industrial Union, struck down men and women, throwing the neighborhood into an uproar. Some of the besieged workers fought for their lives with furriers' knives.

County Sued Over Postal Savings Tax

A court fight to determine whether Allegheny County has the right to tax postal savings was begun today.

Mary A. Kaylor, through Attorney Henry Ellenbogen, appealed to Common Pleas Court from the decision of the Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes. The board had held that she pay the usual personal property tax on postal savings of $2,000. This would amount to $8.

Rumanian Fascists Begin Jew Boycott

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 25.—(AP.)—Iron Guard Fascists of Bukovina Province have taken their cue from German Fascism and declared a boycott for 10 days, beginning Thursday, against all Jewish shops.

A committee also was organized to foster direct contracts with German firms, eliminating Jewish middlemen.

Blaming 'Other'

MYRTLE H. STEARN

Mrs. Stearn, the amateur golfer, who today in court, according to her counsel, was to place the responsibility for the loss of her husband upon a Washington (Pa.) girl. She's fighting his suit for divorce. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

BANK REFORMS AGREED ON

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—A far-reaching bank reform bill with provision for insuring deposits in Federal Reserve member banks probably will be reported to the Senate Banking Committee within the next week by a sub-committee which has been studying the problem for two years.

Terms of the measure were virtually agreed upon at a White House conference yesterday between President Roosevelt and members of the sub-committee headed by Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia.

The Chief Executive recommended a few modifications in the committee's proposal for a $2,000,000,000 fund to insure deposits, but it is expected to be reported without fundamental alteration.

To safeguard the insurance fund, the sub-committee probably will adopt a suggestion by the President that only deposits of $10,000 and less be given a 100 per cent insurance and that larger accounts be only partially insured.

MONACA CLUB'S AIDE PAROLED

On the plea he needed sunshine as a cbure, Frank Pope, Monaca Club bartender, was paroled for six months by Judge S. H. Gardner today. He was fined $100 and costs.

Pope, the last employe of the raided club to be arraigned, pleaded guilty to violating the liquor laws. Sentence was held up while Jail Physician C. J. Ellis made a physical examination of Pope.

Ellis confirmed reports of two other physicians Pope, suffering the effects of influenza last fall, needed to have his lungs drained and sunshine was necessary to a cure. Pope lost 30 pounds, one physician reported.

Eleven other employes were paroled before Easter after serving two months of a four months' sentence.

GOLFING WIFE BLAMES RIVAL FOR SUIT

Husband Admits He Held Liquor Parties With 'Other Woman'

Mrs. Myrtle Stearn, golf enthusiast, of the William Penn Hotel, fighting the divorce suit of Bert M. Stearn, film agent, today on the witness stand blamed her marital troubles on a Washington (Pa.) girl with whom she said her husband was infatuated.

Mrs. Stearn testified:

"He told me there was another girl in his life and he couldn't live without her. Several times I tried to persuade him to give this girl up, but he said he was going to marry him and nothing could stop him."

OFFERED MONEY

The wife told Judge Thomas M. Marshall her husband asker her not to contest his divorce suit, promising her "more money" if she did notp ut up a court battle.

She was willing to go back to her husband and "do everything to make him happy," Mrs. Stearn testified.

Mrs. Stearn explained her arrest on a disorderly conduct charge in a Johnstown hotel by saying there had been some trouble witht he management about a bill. She denied beating her husband in public or having told him he was "only a meal ticket."

TELLS OF PARTIES

Stearn, called for cross-examination by Attorney O. K. Eaton, admitted having taken the Washington girl to several cabarets, and of drinking highballs with her and her sister in a hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Newman, of Cleveland, foster-parents of Mrs. Stearn, testified in her behalf. Newman told og going to Washington and talking with the girl in an effort to persuade her to give Stearn up.

Newman testified:

"Stearn told me his wife was a good woman and had been a great help to him."

MORTGAGE AID MEASURE GAINS

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—The House Banking Committee today ordered favorably reported the Roosevelt $2,000,000,000 home mortgage refinancing bill. The measure will be put before the House tomorrow.

An amendment was adopted to permit loans to be made on property up to $15,000 in value, but not more than $10,000 to be advanced on one piece.

HOUSE PASSES SHOALS BILL

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS.)—The administration Muscle Shoals bill, providing for eventual development of the entire Tennessee River valley for fertilizer and power production, navigation, flood control and forestation, today passed the House by a vote of 306 to 91.

Just before final passage the House defeated a move to substitute the Norris Senate bill for the House measure. The vote on this was 68 to 326.

The Norris bill provides for a far greater government participation in fertilizer and power production, does not take into consideration as fully as the House bill the interests of the private power companies in the southern states, and provides for giving 5 per cent of the gross proceeds of operations to Alabama and Tennessee for operations wholly within those respective states.

Revised B. & L. Code Now Up to Pinchot

HARRISBURG, April 25.—The Senate has agreed to House changes in the Sordoni bill which compiles building and loan association laws and gives the Department of Banking more extensive supervision over the associations. The bill goes to the Governor. The House had passed it, 121 to 46.

Julian Found in China; Blames Woman

By DIXON HOSTE
International News Service.

SHANGHAI, April 25.—C. C. Julian, fugitive millionaire oil promoter, today laid his troubles to the trick of fate that led a woman to recognize him.

Julian, who is not under arrest, arrived here a month ago and is residing at the Hotel Metropole.

He expects to fight attempts to extradite him to the United States, where he is wanted by Oklahoma City authorities to face trial in an alleged $3,500,000 mail fraud conspiracy.

Under the alias of T. R. King, Julian reached here from Kobe, Japan, where he went aboard the steamer Hikawamaru from the United States.

Although he refused to comment on the charges against him, he said the woman recognized him at the Astor House bar here and immediately shouted:

"Look, there is C. C. Julian!"

Julian declared:

"I tried to turn my head away, but it was useless. The woman evidently phoned someone and a detective was soon pounding at my door."

Julian said he had engaged Dr. O. Fischer, well-known Austrian attorney, to aid him in battling applications for his extradition to America. Julian said plaintively:

"The United States is no good nowadays for a small man. The big men always frame him. That's why I left Oklahoma.

"You can't get justice in America."

NOTED SURGEON TO REMOVE BABY'S EYE; PARENTS YIELD

CHILD HURRIED TO NEW YORK HOSPITAL

Associate of Man Who Operated on Siam's King Retained

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Helen Vasco was taken today to Presbyterian Medical Center where eye surgeons will remove her left eye and with it, they hope, the cancerous growth which is spreading to her brain.

The 2-year-old child is to be operated on, probably tomorrow, by Dr. John M. Dunnington, associate of Dr. John Wheeler, who recently performed an eye operation on the King of Siam.

The hospital and the operating surgeons both were chosen by Helen's mother who, finally agreeing to the operation, specified that it should be performed at the Medical Center and that Dr. Dunnington should do it.

Mrs. Vasco told Yonkers' Children's Court Judge George W. Smyth, who after weeks of patient pleading, finally induced her to allow the operation without being forced to it by the law:

"I want that big New York hospital."

• Judge Smyth prepared a paper for Mrs. Vasco to sign in which Dr. Dunnington was formally requested to perform the operation. He examined Helen last week at the Medical Center and his verdict agreed with that of other specialists—that the cancerous growth will reach the brain and kill the child unless it is cut out by removing the eye.

Helen, who was taken last night to St. John's Hospital, Younkers, was brought to New York by Theodore Murin, Judge Smyth's secretary, who first called for Mrs. Vasco at their home in Hastings.

The child's father was reported to be at work, having earlier agreed to the operation and added his own pleas to those of Judge Smyth in finally breaking down his wife's stubborn resistance.

RUTH IN ASYLUM CATS WITH HER

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 25.—(Universal.)—Clinging stubbornly to her family of cats, refusing to surrender a handful of rocks that she carried all the way from Florence, alternating between sullen resentment and angry outbursts, Winnie Ruth Judd was a patient today in the sunny hospital ward that a jury's verdict substituted for the gallows.

The slayer of Agnes Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson was anything but a quiet patient as she was coaxed out of the big car in which Warden A. G. Walker, of the State Prison, had driven her swiftly over the 60 miles to Phoenix. She objected to coming out of the car at all, and absolutely refused to move unless the black mother cat and the two gray kittens went along.

Catching sight of a small group of hospital attendants, newspaper men and photographers, Mrs. Judd broke into angry outcries. She shouted:

"I never saw such gangsters."

Italian Fliers Hunt Missing Air Liner

NAPLES, Italy, April 25.—(AP.) An intensive search by planes and ships was continued today for a missing air liner which failed to reach Naples after taking off from Corfu, Greece, early Sunday. Seven persons, including John Van Cleef, an American, were aboard.

A John Van Cleef, of Montclair, N. J., was in India about a month ago.

Student Found Dead, Probe Kidnap Note

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 25.—(INS.)—Provincial police today moved into the mystery that surrounded the death of Stewart Ashley, 19-year-old student at the University of British Columbia, and school teacher. His body, an eye bruised, was found in a gully.

Ashley disappeared after attending a class. A week later his parents received a badly typed unsigned letter stating he had been kidnaped and would be returned upon payment of $5,000 ransom.

ESTELLE WINS IN CRASH SUIT

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—(AP.)—Under court order Estelle Taylor, screen actress, will receive $20,000 for injuries she suffered in a traffic accident while returning from a dance with Frank Joyce, theatrical agent.

The judgment is against Joyce and his chauffeur, Noel L. Scott, whom the former wife of Jack Dempsey, one time heavyweight boxing champion, sued for $150,000. Miss Taylor said she was badly hurt when Joyce's machine, driven by Scott, struck a palm tree as Joyce was escorting her home from a Christmas Eve party, and that she lost thousands of dollars through inability to proceed with motion picture work.

She accused Scott of intoxication. He denied it, and, early in the trial, charged Miss Taylor was under the influence of liquor and therefore guilty of contributory negligence.

She protested vehemently at that allegation and her counsel offered to call "half of Hollywood" to testify she never drank. Defense attorneys thereupon withdrew the charge completely, entering into the records the remark that "it is well known that Miss Taylor does not drink."

Judge Frees Man, Faces Impeachment

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—Representative Smith (Dem.), of Virginia, said today in an interview if he could find grounds under the law he would demand impeachment of Federal Judge James A. Lowell, of Boston, as a result of Lowell's decision yesterday freeing George Crawford, negro, wanted in Virginia on murder charges.

Brick Manufacturer, Hurt in Crash, Dies

MISS PERKINS SHUTS OFFICES

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—A complete reorganization of the federal employment service is to be announced within a few days by Secretary Perkins, who has already ordered discontinuance of a number of the state offices.

Under the new program it is understood offices created to aid war veterans find jobs, and the farm labor offices will be undisturbed. Most other agencies operated jointly throughout the country by federal and state governments are to be supplanted by a system worked out by Miss Perkins.

Paderewski Awarded Warsaw Music Prize

WARSAW, Poland, April 25.—(AP.)—Ignaz Paderewski has been unanimously awarded the annual municipal music prize of 5,000 zloty (about $550).

As a result, newspapers predicted, he will return to his native land for the first time since 1920.

Trial Set for 7 In Living Burial

MARTINEZ, Cal., April 25.—(AP.)—Seven Filipinos, accused of burying alive Mrs. Cecelia Novarro, 29, as cult punishment for alleged unfaithfulness to her invalid husband, yesterday were ordered to go on trial for murder here June 26.

Savant Upsets Theory Of Acidosis Origin

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS.)—Physicians of the world should abandon their present method of treating one of mankind's commonest ailment because they have made a great mistake about the origin of the condition, the National Academy of Sciences was told today by Prof. Yandell Henderson, noted physiologist of Yale University.

The ailment to which he referred has "acidosis," for which mililons of persons treat themselves or are treated by physicians in the belief it results from overproduction of acid within the body.

In disproving the acid overproduction theory of the cause of acidosis, Dr. Henderson used labcratory animals to which he administered small doses of monoiodacetic acid.

Tests showed that production of the body's chief acid, lactic acid, ceased in the tissues, and yet when the animals were subjected to deficiencies or oxygen, similar to those accompanying acidosis, the animals had all the symptoms of acidosis.

Thus he was able to produce acidosis symptoms artificially, while the acid production in the animal tissues was at a complete standstill.

He pointed out that this discovery corroborates recent vain attempts to cure the acidosis of diabetic patients with alklaine treatments. He concluded:

"The theory that acidosis is intoxication by acid is an apparently logical deduction from the conception now prevailing as to the nature of the acid base equilibrium of the blood.

"It is, however, definitely contradicted by facts, and some other theory must be developed."

DEBATE SCHOOL SHUTDOWN IN CHICAGO

Seek Legal Ruling on Closing as Teachers Plan New 'Siege'

CHICAGO, April 25.—(AP.)—Goaded into some definite action by belligerent thousands of unpaid teachers, schools board heads determined to day to inquire as to the legality of closing the Chicago schools six weeks early.

Orville J. Taylor, president of the board, proposed to shut down all schools May 12, although he was reluctant to do so.

Superintendent William J. Bogan, after a conference with Taylor, expressed fear that such a course would deprive the pupils of their credits for the semester and prevent college entrance.

STATUTE SCANNED

Whether a shutdown would be of advantage to the teachers, still unpaid for last June's work, was another question. If their salaries were cut off May 12 they would at least not have to work for nothing; but Taylor said he was not certain the board could legally stop salaries before the usual term end in June—the board might be liable for the full salaries anyway. The question will be put to the legal department.

Another question was whether the school board could legally disregard the statute requiring Chicago to furnish a nine-month school term.

PLAN NEW SIEGE

Another demonstration of the teachers, now thoroughly aroused in their demands for payment of back salaries, was planned for tomorrow at the Loop banks which were besieged by delegations yesterday.

Bank officers who addressed the picketing teachers blamed the situation wholly on slow payment of taxes by the public.

"Unless people pay their taxes the government is going to break down," said Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank.

Chicago legislators have drafted a program to tighten the laws governing tax collections.

Last 2 Schools Join New Jersey Strike

RIVERSIDE, N. J., April 25.—(INS.)—School activities were at a complete halt today when 500 pupils of the two remaining schools here joined the 800 on strike protesting the reappointment of Mrs. Marion B. Rein as supervising principal.

Mrs. Rein was returned to her post following dismissal by the Board of Education in January, 1932, on the grounds of inefficiency.

Bench Warrant Out For Convicted Juror

ST. PAUL, April 25.—(AP.)—Federal authorities, bearing a bench warrant for her arrest, today sought Mrs. Genevieve Clark, of Minneapolis, convicted Foshay trial juror, who failed to appear at the County Jail to begin serving a six months term.

Sentenced last Friday after her contempt of court conviction was confirmed by the United States Supreme Court, Mrs. Clark was given a stay of sentence until yesterday. When she failed to appear, the bench warrant was issued.

Ruins in Glassport's Apartment Fire

THE RUINS OF GLASSPORT'S FIRE . . . TWO GARAGES, TWO APARTMENT HOUSES BURNED

WOMEN CARRIED FROM FIRE

Two aged women, one an invalid, were carried from smoke filled apartments and 19 other persons, including several small children fled to safety in night attire during a blaze that early today swept two garages and apartment houses in Monongahela avenue, Glassport, causing damage estimated at $35,000, by firemen.

Awakened by a granddaughter, Anna Steiglner, 18, when she smelled smoke in their third-floor rear apartment at 709 Monongahela avenue, Mrs. Catherine Lynch, 80, became hysterical and refused to leave her home, police said. Wrapping her in a blanket, Patrolman Joseph Zalowski carried her to the street.

Mrs. Mary Heerdt, 79, an invalid, was carried from a second-floor apartment by Jack Davis, 21, of 840 Monongahela avenue. Mrs. Heerdt's husband, George, 75, escaped unaided.

The family of Ligouri Conley, 38, including his wife, Mary, 37, and six children, fled to the street. The families of Peter Iacone, Mrs. Louise McIntosh and James Mudd also were routed.

The first floor of the building was occupied by a beer "garden" operated by George Skodol.

DEATH OF GIRL ENDS ART HOPE

The struggles and high hopes of a career of art were over today for Lucy Virginia Raven, 19.

The girl artist, who without special training and in the face of financial difficulties had achieved recognition at the beginning of her career, died yesterday in Montifiore Hospital.

She had exhibited a painting, "Boy With Toy Airplane," in last fall's Schenley lawn show, and won special recognition for a charcoal sketch of the Venus de Milo in the Corcoran art galleries, Washington.

A graduate of Ambridge High School, Miss Raven recently lived at 4518 Fillmore street. Though sometimes too poor to buy paints, she never gave up her determination to become a portrait painter.

She had succeeded in selling a few of her works.

And her recent painting at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement had been highly spoken of, according to her family.

HOPE DIAMOND PUT ON SALE BY MRS. M'LEAN

Gem Said to Cast Curse Over All Who Own It

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Washington Herald today printed the following copyrighted story:

The blazing blue radiance of the famous Hope diamond, which down through the ages has mirrored the fall of empires, bloodshed and wrecked lives and fortunes, now shines in a pawnbroker's vault.

Mrs. Edward B. McLean, owner of the world-famous gem, has placed it in the hands of George Horning to sell for not less than $250,000.

An exquisite ruby accompanied the diamond to the pawn shop after Mrs. McLean decided to delve into her priceless collection of gems in an effort to raise funds with which to preserve the Washington Post for her son.

$300,000 JEWEL

Edward B. McLean bought the Hope diamond for his wife in 1912, after months of litigation with Cartiers, New York jewelers, over the purchase price. The 44½-carat gem is said to have cost approximately $300,000.

The diamond, said to cast a "curse" over all who own it, was brought to Europe from Central Asia and sold to Louis XIV in 1669. Louis XV presented the gem to his queen and shortly after her execution it disappeared.

The gem next appeared in England and in 1893 Lord Francis Hope inherited it. The next year he married and his wife deserted him for another man. Five years later Lord Hope sold the jewel to Habib Bey, who was drowned. Another owner, Prince Kantivoski, was assassinated. A Greek jeweler was killed in an automobile accident. Then it came into McLean's hands and it was thought the curse had gone.

SON KILLED

When McLean's son was killed by an automobile in front of his Friendship home, it was reported all over the world that the curse of the Hope diamond was at work again.

Mrs. McLean first wore the stone at a lavish reception to the Russian Ambassador and Mme. Bakhmeteff.

Since then the McLean fortune has dwindled, McLean's health has been shattered and the couple has been estranged.

EXPERT URGES CREDIT REFORM

Needed changes in bankruptcy laws to provide better protection for debtor and creditor were outlined today by Thomas C. Billig, of the University of West Virginia, before a district conference of the National Association of Credit Men in the Hotel William Penn.

Author of many books and papers on bankruptcy practice, Mr. Billig cited four proposals necessary to improve bankruptcy administration. These were: Limitation on receiver and trustee personnel; official recognition of a bona fide creditors' committee; precedural changes, and assignment for the benefit of creditors rather than an administration in bankruptcy.

the horrible lies about the use of blood among the Jews."

Said the German field marshals:

"That is how the tsar kept his word as a monarch, given when he was in a tight corner."

The Jews of Germany probably wonder what has happened to the promise given on the honor of two great German field marshals when they were in a tight corner.

JACOB RUPPERT, whose brewing business dates back to early days in New York, demands, wisely, that the sale of beer be kept separate from that of whisky and other "intoxicating liquors" in the interest of permanent temperance, and national welfare.

Mr. Ruppert says "the saloon was the Frankenstein which forced the brewers into a false position." The same thing was said by this writer to the principal brewers of the United States at their annual convention long before prohibition arrived. They were then warned that a continuation of four saloons on every four corners, with beer on the bar and whisky in the back room, would bring prohibition, drive out beer, and make gin and whisky the national drinks.

Some of them remember it, not many paid much attention to it. Mr. Scharman of Brooklyn, a fine old German brewer of Brooklyn, was one of the exceptions. He and some of the younger brewers, in Milwaukee favored "beer apart from whisky." Politicians did not approve the idea.

RELIEF SNARLED BY BANK TAX DISPUTE

claring it has been the intent of the Legislature in the Einstein bill to completely absolve bank deposits from the personal property tax.

This resolution might be advantageous to any bank which fought collection of the tax, and should the courts decide against the state the relief program would be askew—but no more askew than things have been throughout this Legislature.

The purport of the Einstein bill burst on the Republican organization and the bankers last night as a stunning surprise, though the Governor said his Secretary of Revenue, Leon Metzger, had given fair warning of the bill's effects.

URGED BY BANKERS

Bankers got behind the Einstein bill as a relief for depositors when Allegheny County this year began to enforce the tax on deposits. One big bank complained that deposits were being transferred to nontaxable repositories, such as federal postal savings.

Senators and Representatives received sheafs of telegrams urging approval of the Einstein bill as a relief to depositors. The secretary of the State Bankers' Association appeared to back the bill before a committee hearing.

The bankers appeared not to realize that in amending the first section of the personal property act of 1913 they should do something about section 17, which the Governor's office says makes them liable to be taxed, an opinion in which state leaders not in harmony with the Governor politically agree. Now there are predictions that interest rates may be cut if the bill stands up, bankers claiming they are not in a position to absorb the tax.

The probable outlet would be a reduction of a half per cent in the interest rate.

Counties also are expected to object to the manner in which they have been outsmarted. Deprived of the tax which they need for local financing, they must stand by and see it go to the state. The blow to local taxing agencies, already at the limit of real estate taxation, is especially severe if the state is to get the money.

SCHOOL PAY CUT UP TO PINCHOT

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—The Wilson (McKean) bill permitting school districts to cut teachers' salaries, today had been passed by both branches of the Legislature.

The House approved the measure last night, 141 to 50, the Senate 37 to 7. It goes to Gov. Pinchot, who estimates its provisions will save local taxpayers $24,000,000 in two years.

The second of a series of educational bills, sponsored by Wilson, was also sent to the Governor today when the Senate passed finally, 41 to 8, a measure to reduce the salaries of county and assistant county superintendents of schools.

This bill provides a 20 per cent cut for the year 1934, which is equivalent to a 10 per cent reduction for the biennium.

The first bill, as prepared by a Senate-House conference committee, permits districts to cut teachers' salaries 10 per cent during the next two years. With consent of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, financially distressed districts may make further slashes.

State's Relief Program

Associated Press.

New compromises between Gov. Pinchot and legislative leaders provide for raising $90,000,000 during the next two years and spending it for unemployment relief up to April 1, 1934.

The plan, subject to modification before the necessary bills are enacted, would raise the money from these sources:

Beer tax to yield $10,000,000 from a levy of $1.24 a barrel and half-a-cent a bottle;

State economies paring $3,000,000 from the Pinchot budget estimates;

Four mills personal property tax, paid by banks, on interest-bearing deposits, to produce $8,000,000; and

A bond issue of $25,000,000, requiring approval of the voters in November and its proceeds not available before that time.

Federal loans of $45,000,000, expected on a dollar-for-dollar basis of the $45,000,000 state appropriation.

The program calls for spending the state money in this way:

Appropriated for April and May, $7,000,000;

Available for June to October inclusive, $18,000,000;

Available after November, with approval of voters, $20,000,000. (The April-May total includes $5,000,000 advanced from the general fund, to be repaid from the bond issue proceeds).

Proportional federal funds are expected to reach the state for each of the three periods, as in the past.

COYNE PROBERS GET NEW 'LIFE'

HARRISBURRG, April 25.—(INS.)—Continuation of Senator James J. Coyne's investigation of the "high cost of government" in Allegheny County was authorized finally today when the House approved a resolution passed by the Senate last night.

The resolution, sponsored by Coyne, provides that the investigating committee which he heads shall be continued until the 1935 session of the Legislature. It was created at the special session last summer and was to report at the present session.

Senator Coyne and Senator Morris Einstein are the only members last year were not reelected. They are former Representatives Soffel, Neely and Wettach.

The committee, unlike similar committees, asks no appropriation. It gets its assistance from volunteer workers, and its personal compensation from the fun it has with its investigation.

One especial target was the School Board, and Senator Coyne contended that agency was extravagant. It was expected he would make a report along these lines to the Legislature, but it takes a good man to be an investigator and a Warwick at the same time, so nothing was done.

It now appears the committee will have two more years in which to work, and it can find something to do right up to the eve of the next campaign for County Commissioners.

Grocery Beer Ban Suggested in House

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—The House has received a resolution urging the members to oppose sale of 3.2 per cent beer in grocery stores.

It was introduced last night by Representative Blake B. Shugarts, Clearfield, and went over for printing.

BILLBOARD TAX FIGHT PUSHED

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—The old fight over taxation of outdoor advertising reentered the Legislature as proponents and opponents of billboard taxes presented their views to the House and Senate Judiciary General sub-committees.

After accepting arguments yesterday for and against favorable action of the Harris (Allegheny) bill, the committee members took no action, and announced reports will be submitted to the whole committees of each house.

A group representing state-wide women's and garden organizations claimed the billboards are blocking the view of nature's beauties. Members of the Outdoor Advertising Association opposed the measure on the ground they now are subject to taxation.

The bill empowers the Department of Highways to impose license fees, ranging from $10 for the erection of four billboards, to $500 for 500 or more advertising signs.

Chain Store Tax Up for Passage

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—An attempt to recommit the Maloney (Allegheny) bill taxing chain stores failed in the House last night and the measure was up for final passage today.

Representative Morton Witkin moved to recommit the measure to the Ways and Means Committee for a hearing, but the motion was lost.

BEER CONTROL BILL GIVEN TO HOUSE

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 25.—The House Law and Order Committee today reported favorably the amended McClure bill to regulate the manufacture and sale of beer in Pennsylvania.

Manufacturers' licenses are to be issued by the State Alcohol Permit Board, which has supervised near-beer brewers; County Treasurers will issue retail licenses, and the Department of Revenue will license railroads and steamboats.

Retail license fees are based on population of municipal areas, ranging from $75 to $300. The latter figure would be the fee in the largest cities.

The bill will be up for final action tomorrow, and, if passed, will require three more days before it can be dealt with finally in the House.

Members of a sub-committee of the Senate Law and Order Committee, consisting of Senators Coyne, Staudenmeier and Trainer, wrestled with the problem through the early hours last night. Then, as has been customary in this Legislature, they took their troubles to Gov. Pinchot to be told what to do.

The Governor explained that the only thing to do was what he wanted, and the amended measure is the result.

The House bill of Representative James J. McClure, Glassport, placing a tax on beer, passed first reading in the House last night, will go through second reading today and can pass finally in the Senate Friday if approved by the House tomorrow. There have been threats from Philadelphia sources to recommit the bill after it passes second reading.

The bill calls for a tax of $1.24 per barrel on beer, with a ½-cent stamp tax on each bottle.

Pinchot O. K.'s Fund for Pymatuning Dam

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—With a stroke of his pen, Gov. Pinchot has made the final move toward completion of the Pymatuning Dam project in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

He signed the Stevens (Mercer) bill appropriating $450,000 for the work, the only state construction project recommended by the Governor for the next biennium.

Spring's Balmiest Day Followed By Snowstorm

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 25.—(AP.)—This fickle jade, Spring! Yesterday was the warmest day of the year with a balmy 72. Today, a snowstorm.

PINCHOT GETS KAMONS BILL

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS.)—The Hutton bill making possible the extradition of Louis J. Kamons, Western Penitentiary inmate, to Cleveland to answer a murder indictment was sent to the Governor today.

Kamons is wanted in Cleveland to stand trial with four Pittsburgh men for the death of 13 persons in the Ellington Apartment fire last summer. He was sentenced to Western Penitentiary on arson charges resulting from destruction of an Ambridge store.

SUNDAY SPORTS UP TO PINCHOT

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS.)—With little formality and no debate, the Senate returned the Schwartz Sunday sports bill to Gov. Gifford Pinchot's desk today.

Only a few scattered "noes" were audible as the upper branch concurred in the House resolution to return without amendment the Sunday blue law modifier.

Action was taken immediately after the Senate killed the Ederer bill to permit the training of dogs on the Sabbath. The Ederer bill, previously passed by the House, fell before a 33-to-11 vote.

The Senate showed its antagonism to proposals further liberalizing the blue laws by defeating the Long bill to permit music concerts on the Sabbath. The vote was 23 to 26 on the measure. It had weathered the blue law battle in the House after Senator Samuel Salus, Philadelphia, urged passage of the bill. Senator George L. Reed, Dauphin, termed the document an attempt to "whittle away the Sunday blue laws." He characterized it the opening wedge to a commercialized Sunday, and demanded its defeat.

Household Goods Exemption Passes

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—Despite an appeal from Senator Samuel W. Salus, Philadelphia, that the Senate defeat the Long (House) bill exempting household goods from levy and sale for rent, the measure, was passed last night, 35 to 14.

Salus described the bill as one of the worst to come before the Senate this session, and said it was supported by a lobby of "instalment men" and is not "welfare legislation."

CITY MANAGER BILL DOOMED IN HOUSE

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Hope for enactment of city manager legislation for Pittsburgh was abandoned today as the House Elections Committee voted to keep the Kane bill in a a sub-ommittee.

An attempt to discharge the sub-committee from further consideration was defeated by the entire committee.

Amendments satisfactory to the House Elections Committee are being prepared under the supervision of the Pittsburgh Registration Commission for inclusion in the Harris permanent registration bill. The measure passed the Senate last week, and now is in the hands of a House sub-committee consisting of Representatives Steedle and Metzler, of Allegheny County, and Mason, of Luzerne.

One projected amendment would not make the bill operative until next year.

Permanent registration for Pittsburgh also was given a setback, with the Harris bill referred to a sub-committee.

The committee reported for action the Shapiro bill which repeals an act passed in 1931, requiring ballots be numbered.

A favorable report also was made on the Scott measure imposing filing fees ranging from $5 to $100 upon candidates for state, city and borough offices.

Repeal Conference Error Corrected

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—The House has adopted the conference report on the McClure (Delaware) bill providing for the election of 15 delegates-at-large to a convention to act on the Eighteenth Amendment repealer.

The report merely corrected typographical errors.

Life for Kidnapers Of Children Voted

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—The Mason (House) bill making the kidnaping of children under 16 an offense punishable with life imprisonment had been sent to the Governor today by the Legislature.

Hiccoughing Girl, Man Suffer in Same Town

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., April 25.—(AP.)—Suffering from hiccough attacks for more than a week, a Williamsport man and a girl showed no signs of improvement today.

Mildred Weaver, 16, is in a hospital after hiccoughing at short intervals for 13 days. Edward Kavanaugh, 32, is being treated at his home for similar attacks which began eight days ago.

PINCHOT FIGHTS TO AID LABOR

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—Immediate and drastic action on unemployment relief legislation, and enactment of laws to prevent a recurrence of the depression, were demanded by Gov. Pinchot today in letters to members of important legislative committees.

He urged favorable action on security for workers through establishment of old age pensions, limitation of working hours and more stringent prohibition of child labor. He wrote:

"The recent children's strike at Allentown has focused attention on the atrocious conditions prevailing in certain Pennsylvania factories and shops. No state can afford to allow employers to pay 15-year-old girls as little as 30 cents a week."

ONE-PARTY BILL VOTED FINALLY

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS.)—Decision today rested with Gov. Gifford Pinchot on one of the most politically significant measures acted upon by the Legislature this year—the Woodward bill.

Returned to the Governor after the House approved amendments last night, the bill now provides that candidates for public office in Pennsylvania may have the nomination of only one party, judges exempt. The bill affects candidates for both state-wide and local offices.

ATTACKS 'WEAK' UTILITY BILL

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—Opposition to the McClure (Delaware) utilities regulation bill cropped up at a caucus of House Democrats. Leading the attack on the measure, Representative Chester H. Rhodes, Monroe, classed it as a "milk and water proposition as it came from the Senate."

The McClure bill, designed to grant the Public Service Commission wider powers over utilities, is opposed by Gov. Pinchot, who had a bill of his own introduced in the Senate recently.

The Governor insists his bill would strengthen the utilities laws still further.

Meanwhile, Senator McClure slapped back at Gov. Pinchot, who criticized McClure's bill. He charged the Governor has been "sleeping soundly" at Washington, while the Legislature wrestled with aid for the needy, utility regulation and other major problems.

PROBE 'JUGGLE' OF MILK BILL

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 25.—Juggling of the milk marketing bill by the Legislature is being investigated by milk producers. J. B. Henderson, of Hickory, president of the Western Pennsylvania Milk Producers' Association, is in Harrisburg today to investigate the circumstances that sent the bill back to committee, after being passed twice in the Senate.

Other milk producers in Western Pennsylvania have urged dealers to get in touch with their Representatives and demand immediate passage of the control bill. The bill provides for a commission to investigate, regulate and control production and sale.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Aid in the Fight on Diphtheria

Our discovery of an anti-toxin for diphtheria and a similar treatment of scarlet fever have gone far towards lowering the death rate of children. No one will deny that with better care of measles, chickenpox and other diseases of childhood, the death rate has been greatly decreased. But now comes the uncomfortable statement that the number of deaths caused by diphtheria in certain localities has increased within the past year.

Dr. Copeland

To what can we attribute this increase? It is because there has been a definite decrease in the number of children receiving the immunization treatment of diphtheria. This is indeed unfortunate, because diphtheria is a disease that can be prevented.

Every child should be given this protection. It is a simple procedure and administered without pain or discomfort. If every child would be immunized from diphtheria when he reaches the age of nine months, diphtheria would soon become as rare a disease as smallpox.

I am confident that if all mothers realized the grave danger of diphtheria they would not hesitate to take immediate steps to protect their children. Of course the children are safe if they are not exposed to the germs of the disease. But when and how that exposure may take place is something we cannot foretell.

Diphtheria germs are present everywhere. They grow in contaminated milk. They are found on soiled cups, drinking fountains, pencils, pens, forks, spoons and other objects soiled by persons suffering from this disease.

Another danger that we must guard against is that of infection by the so-called diphtheria "carriers." Diphtheria carriers are persons who are perfectly well themselves, but harbor the diphtheria germs.

From what I have said you will agree that it is practically impossible to guard your child from the germs of diphtheria. Unfortunately, it is impossible to determine accurately when these germs are present. But the child can be protected by diphtheria inoculations. It confers "immunity," protection against the disease. If the child is exposed to the germs he will not contract the disease if proper immunity has been given.

The injections are safe and no mother should be alarmed about this procedure. The treatment is given in three injections at weekly intervals. Infants may receive it as early as the ninth month.

I cannot over-emphasize the importance, the real necessity of taking the inoculations for protection against diphtheria. The decrease in the number of children who receive the immunization treatment may be attributed to the present economic situation. But this is no excuse. If your child has not been immunized against diphtheria, consult with your physician or local board of health, for direction to a free clinic.

Your co-operation in this vital public health problem is urgent. Protect your children and your neighbors' children before it is too late.

HOSPITAL FUND BOOST PRAISED

Assurance that hospitals in the Pittsburgh district will be able to continue their treatment of charity patients was seen today by officials in the 20 per cent increase in appropriations granted by the State Legislature. Bills providing the increase are now before the Governor.

Miss Jessie J. Turnbull, of Pittsburgh, president of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, made public a message received from Maj. Roger A. Greene, of Pottsville, chairman of the legislative committee of the association, in which he said:

"Acceptance by rural and city legislators of the truth that hospitals could not keep going without additional help is a cause of deep gratification.

"Many legislators are considering including the hospitals in any state fund for unemployment relief. On the basis of $20,000,000 for relief, at least $1,500,000 should go toward taking care of the sick unemployed."

CANAL LEADERS IN WASHINGTON

Backers of the Lake Erie-Ohio River canal project were in Washington today to reply to railroad interests opposing the canal, and to urge Army engineers to approve its construction.

The engineers will be handed two reports favoring the canal by A. W. Dann, chairman of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal Board of Pennsylvania. They will discuss economic factors of the canal and offer an analysis of water and rail transportation. Both were prepared by Theodore Brent, former vice chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and now transportation consultant of New Orleans.

RELIEF DEMAND RISE CHECKED

Allegheny County's load of re-ef cases has increased less apidly in the last two weeks, acording to George P. Mills, county elief director.

Last week the relief load increased only 1,300 cases, whereas the increase had been running more than 2,000 cases weekly. The arrival of spring weather as well as improvement in business conditions is believed responsible.

The relief burden in the county has increased to a staggering total in the last three years. In March, 1931, $19,000 was spent on 3,740 cases; in March, 1932, $111,287 was expended on 18,603 cases; in March of this year, $268,000 was spent of 70,000 cases.

The number of individuals in Allegheny County on relief April 15, according to Mills, was $98,571.

Fixtures of Closed Bank to Be Sold

Arthur R. Atwood, receiver of the Duquesne National Bank, Pittsburgh, was authorized to sell the furniture and fixtures of the bank at private or public sale, in a decree signed by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. The sale must meet with approval of the Comptroller of Currency.

LYSLE ON TRIP FOR U. S. FUNDS

Mayor George H. Lysle and City Controller William Campbell, of McKeesport, left today for Harrisburg and Washington to confer with state heads and Reconstruction Finance Corporation officials.

They hape to obtain $1,925,590 from the finance corporation for projects in McKeesport, including widening of Jerome street, a storm and sanitary sewer in the Eighth Ward and the raising of Fifth avenue.

Rather than asking a loan, the city officials will try to have the finance corporation spend the money in McKeesport along with other projects throughout the country.

Prior Offender Gets Jail in Rum Case

J. S. McIntyre pleaded guilty yesterday in Federal Court to a charge of selling and possessing contraband liquor and maintaining a common nuisance in Rockwood, Somerset County. A prior offender, he was sentenced to serve two months in jail and pay a $200 fine.

John Kosty, of Nant-y-Glo, Cambria County, a liquor violator, was placed upon probation for a year and fined $50. John Sherman, John Clark and Frank Miller were fined $50 each for liquor violations in Meyersdale, Somerset County.

GROUPS TO VIE IN FOOD SHOW CONTESTS

The "battle of devil's food cake" will open at Pittsburgh's Annual Food Show tomorrow in Motor Square Garden, as part of the afternoon and evening programs.

In the baking contests conducted by the cooking school at the show, two prizes will be offered for the best devil's food cakes baked by girls under 15.

PRIZES FOR CAKES

Prizes will be awarded in the women's angel food cake contest Thursday, and butter cakes in general will enter competition Friday.

Clubs in attendance at the show today include Reed Missionary Society, Ladies of Mooseheart, Courts Swissvale and Grace of the Catholic Daughters of America, Morningside Presbyterian Church and the Friendly Class of Spencer Methodist Episcopal Church.

GROUPS LISTED

Groups scheduled to attend tomorrow's show include Allojo Chapter., Eastern Star; Etna Woman's Club, Allegheny County Council Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Court Amaranth, Aspinwall; New Century Club of Dormont and the East Liberty Presbyterian Church.

A meeting of the Triangle Merchants will be held in the basement of Motor Square Garden tomorrow night.

EXHIBIT OPENS ON MAY 8

Plans are nearing completion for the annual exhibition and spring festivities of the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries, scheduled for the week of May 8.

Monday there will be a reception for Bishop and Mrs. Adna W. Leonard.

Girls of the settlement classes will give a fashion show with the clothes they have made on May 9.

An operetta by the music and art classes will be presented Wednesday. There will be a Mothers Club reception Thursday, a stunt night Friday.

Throughout the week there will be an exhibit of handwork products of the settlement.

Church Brotherhood Dinner Dance Friday

The annual dinner dance of the Brotherhood of the Sixth Presbyterian Church will be held in the Pittsburgh Country Club Friday night. Philip H. Dewey, state secretary of internal affairs, will talk on "America."

The Sixth Church Singers, a chorus of 30 voices, will make their initial appearance, directed by Dr. Charles N. Boyd. Selections will be rendered by Mrs. Mildred Cunningham, Miss Alta V. Shultz, Samuel Murphy and Chester Sterling, with Dr. Boyd at the piano.

Lady Astor's Cousin Socialist Candidate

RICHMOND, Va., April 25.—(INS.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis Otey, Lynchburg Socialist and first cousin to Lady Astor, will be one of four speakers to be heard here May 29 when the Socialist state campaign opens.

Mrs. Otey will oppose Senator Harry F. Byrd, appointed by Gov. Pollard to the seat vacated by Senator Claude Swanson. Her mother was a sister to the late Chiswell Langhorn, father of Lady Astor.

CONTEST CAKES GOING TO POOR

Angel food cake for the hungry and destitute! That seems incongruous yet several hundred poor families will be supplied with this luxury next Friday.

Thursday afternoon and evening the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, headed by Mrs. Mary Horan, will dominate in the activities at the Motor Square Garden food show and as the feature of the program sponsored by this organization there will be prizes awarded for the best angel food cake submitted by Pittsburgh's housewives. From the present outlook it would seem that there will be plenty of this luxury on display. When the judges have made their awards the greater part of the contest exhibits will be turned over to Father Cox for distribution among his needy families. Father Cox expects to be at the show when the judging takes place, but he doesn't promise to eat any of the angel food cake because his doctors have him on a strict diet.

It looks as though the Father Cox-Sun-Telegraph subscription drive is going to have another record-breaking week, Father Cox entering the campaign with renewed vigor following a week of rest. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or is telephoned in with the request that Father Cox be given credit for it, brings to his unemployment relief fund a liberal cash commission.

HERE'S ANSWER TO LAST CIPHER

By KENNETH A. NAGEL
Cipher Editor

The solution of the final cipher—No. 88—is published today.

That will be all, for the present, at least.

The Cipher Editor takes this opportunity to thank all those who have contributed interesting ciphers of their own creation and the many others who have displayed so much interest in this feature.

20-8-5-4-12-9-20-8-16-5-4-20-8-5-12-9-20-8-16-5-18

Did you solve this, "A" was one and "Z"—"26." It's was the final cipher, and an easy one.

The answer was:

"Thith ith thaid to be the thimpletht thipher code uthed, lithped the lithper."

CARRIES ALL-BRAN ON EVERY VOYAGE

Seaman Finds This Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Darragh:

"I have been going to sea for the past fourteen years. Every trip, I underwent severe headaches, nervousness, and sleeplessnes. Tried all sorts of remedies, and received only temporary relief.

"So hearing about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN thought I would get a box, which I did. That was six months ago, haven't been without it at home, and when I go to sea a box of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is always with me."—George D. Darragh, 1914 32nd Avenue, Oakland, California.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things for common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much pleasanter this is than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

U. S. BUSINESS LEADERS HERE FOR MEET

Captains of industry from throughout the country arrived here today for the twentieth national foreign trade convention, prepared to lend their efforts toward economic recovery of the nation.

All felt the eyes of the administration in Washington and business interests throughout the world on them. Their concerted views, they felt, will play an important part in economic discussions between the United States and foreign powers.

An unusual note of engerness to get to the task of threshing out thep roblems that face American business in foreign trade was observed among the arriving delegates and members of the Foreign Trade Council.

OPENS TOMORROW

The convention will open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the William Penn Hotel.

The discussions this year will not alone deal with foreign trade, members of the council said, but will be vitally concerned with domestic affairs. Bound up in the discussions are questions of the world's currencies, ward ebts and domestic problems.

James S. Carson, vice president of the American and Foreign Power Company, a member of the National Foreign Trade Council, addressed a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, recalling that 16 years ago he addressed the Foreign Trade convention here, when, he said, the "theme song" of the convention was "The War After the War."

SEES NEW TREATY

Carson said he believed the coming economic congress in London will result in a new treaty of peace to end that "War After the War."

He added:

"Let us pray that when this new treaty is written it will take on a little bit more of the spirit of the 'Sermon on the Mount' and less of the suspicion, the greed, the expediency, the cynicism and the selfishness which characterized the document signed at Velsaialles.

"Foreign trade has a great deal to do with all of this and the great convention which opens in your city tomorrow will discuss some of its broader aspects."

JAPANESE BOMB U. S. MISSION

PEIPING, April 25.—(INS.)—Japanese military airplanes bombed the American Methodist Mission at Shih-Hsia today as Japanese and Chinese forces in North China engaged in bitter hostilities.

Fate of the mission or its inmates could not immediately be learned. It is one of the oldest American missions in China.

The station was in charge of a native pastor during the bombing, which was described as unusually severe.

With the Japanese troops still pounding from the north, disaffected elements in the Peiping-Tientsin area continued efforts to overthrow the authority of the Nanking government here.

It was reported the rebel leaders were working in co-operation with Manchukuo agents, aided by the Japanese.

100-Year Prisoner Again Fails in Flight

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., April 25.—(AP.)—Leland Harvey, serving more than 100 years for banditry, made another of his escapes from the state prison farm here last night but was captured a few hours later.

Thomas Will Run If Presidents Stay in Style

DAYTON, O., April 25.—(AP.)—Norman Thomas, twice-defeat Socialist candidate for president, said in an address last night that "if the United States still has presidents by 1936, I may be in the running again."

President Roosevelt, he said, made a mistake when he failed to nationalize all banks after the recent banking holiday.

Dr. Adler, Jewish Educator, 82, Dies

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—Dr. Felix Adler, Jewish educator and founder of the Ethical Culture Society, died last night in Mount Sinai Hospital, in his 82nd year.

BRITAIN'S RED EMBARGO NEAR

LONDON, April 25.—(AP.)—Britain's almost complete embargo against Russian imports becomes effective tomorrow.

No word has been received in London about the likelihood of the Soviet government commuting the sentences of two British engineers now in prison after having been convicted of espionage.

Officials here said the Soviet government's complete ban on British trade became effective today.

'TRUTH SERUM' AIDS DEATH HUNT

CHICAGO, April 25.—(INS.)—On the basis of stories told by three witnesses who submitted to "truth serum" treatments, police today were searching for four men in connection with the murder of Frank X. Holbrook.

Holbrook was shot to death Saturday as he was leaving a West Side cafe, and Lillian Nance, 17-year-old member of his party, was kidnaped and attacked.

Detectives, convinced that the witnesses were withholding vital information, obtained the serum from the Northwestern University laboratory of scientific crime detection. The treatment is credited with making a subject incapable of telling a lie.

Two of the witnesses, according to Lieut. Charles Egan, declared under treatment that a man had checked a revolver at the cafe and had taken it with him shortly before the shooting. Police refused to name the four men involved.

Immediately after the serum treatment the trio repudiated the stories they told.

Patricia Pitt's Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

There's to be cause for rejoicing. For one usual summer event hasn't been cancelled—the Sewickley Dog Show. It will be held this year July 1 in the horse show ring at the Allegheny Country Club.

This show is always given by the social service committee of the Allegheny General Hospital, and is a benefit of course.

Today I have a bit more news about one of our brides of Saturday, Ruth Christine Kohne, who married Charles C. Cole in the Church of the Ascension.

Mrs. William A. Irvin, former Pittsburgher, who is the wife of the president of the United States Steel Corporation, gave a luncheon for the young Coles in the Biltmore, New York, yesterday just before they sailed on their honeymoon trip to Bermuda.

Tea For Bride

Betty McCance will give a tea in her home, Thomas boulevard, Friday afternoon after the rehearsal for the wedding of Neil Stewart Zang and George C. Stephenson, to take place in Calvary Episcopal Church Saturday.

Robert B. Stephenson, of Chicago, will be best man, and Matthew B. Potter, of Morriston, Ill.; George Z. Fencil, of Alton, Ill., and Robert H. McClintic, Charles G. Crockett, William R. Black and Harold M. Jorgenson, all Pittsburghers, will be the ushers.

Soiree Sponsors

Members of the Architectural Club are resting up so that they'll be in good form for their next affair, Friday night, when the Garden Clubs of Allegheny County will sponsor une soiree charette at the club, Charette way.

Among those who've taken tables for Friday night are Mrs. Roy A. Hunt, Mrs. W. H. R. Hilliard, Mrs. T. A. Mellon, Priscilla Barnes, Mrs. William Booth, Mrs. W. R. Blair and Miss Eleanor Chalfant.

The second Junior League night at the club, Saturday, proved every bit as popular as the first with the architects' orchestra and show coming in for applause galore.

To Repeat Affair

So many who've been there for the Junior League's two nights want to go again, as do many of their friends, that the Architects will repeat the affair Saturday night.

Next week on Friday and Saturday nights the American Institute of Architects will be entertained. And that will be the end of the Chauve Souris touch in Pittsburgh life—at least for this season. These are benefits for unemployed draftsmen.

Wedding Usher

In late May, Richard King Mellon will go East to usher at a wedding, that of Annette Payne Dederick, daughter of the Archland M. Dedericks, of Londonville, N. Y., and Malcolm Southard Davis, son of Mrs. S. Livingston Davis, of New York.

The wedding date is May 27, and the place is St. Peter's Church, Albany. A reception for members of the two families and a few friends will follow.

Pitt 'Y' to Give Pan-American Program

Pan-American Day will be celebrated by the University of Pittsburgh's Y. W. C. A. on Thursday with a program of Latin-American music and talks.

Dr. Esther J. Crooks, head of the Spanish department of Goucher College, will be guest speaker. Other talks will be given by Dr. N. A. N. Cleven, professor of history at the University and by Dr. M. A. DeVitis, head of the Spanish department.

A Spanish-American exhibit and music typical of the Latin countries will complete the program.

20th Century Ticket Elected Unanimously

The nominating committee's ticket was unanimously elected at the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning, these officers having been chosen: Vice presidents, Mrs. Frank T. Hogg, Mrs. David Wilson Kuhn, Mrs. John A. Murtland and Mrs. Howard H. McClintic; recording secretary, Mrs. George B. Oates; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George B. Berger, Jr.; treasurer, Miss Hannah J. Patterson; directors, Mrs. Horace F. Baker, Mrs. George L. Claypool, Mrs. Frederick S. Morris, Mrs. George J. Willock and Mrs. William P. Witherow.

Musical World Leaders Attend Meeting of State Federation

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

A number of visitors prominent in musical circles are here today for the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Federation of Music Clubs. The national president, Mrs. Elmer James Ottaway, of Akron, is the guest of Mrs. T. C. Donovan, president of the federation.

Among other visitors are Mrs. Walter A. Knerr, president of the Norristown Octave Club; Mrs. Ella O. Hartung, president of the Philadelphia Music Club, and Mrs. Richard Kountz, wife of the former Pittsburgh composer, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. N. B. Carpenter, of Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg.

Mrs. A. L. Hullstrom, of Philadelphia, treasurer of the federation; Mrs. Vera Bull Hull, New York concert manager, and Miss Ora Witte, Dallas soprano, are others who are attending the morning session in the College Club, the Tuesday Musical program this afternoon in Memorial Hall and the banquet in the University Club this evening.

Tonight the speakers will be Mrs. Ottaway and A. Walter Kramer, composer and editor of Musical America. The Foster Singers will furnish the music.

Alliance Francaise Elects New Officers

These officers have been chosen for next year by the Alliance Francaise: Honorary president, Mrs. David Wilson Kuhn; president, Louis Celestin; vice presidents, Edwin Z. Smith, Emile Majerus and Mrs. William R. Jarvis; secretary, Miss Emma B. Suydam; treasurer, Alfred C. Dickey. On the board of directors are Mrs. Joseph Blair, Frederick P. Colette, Miss Edith G. Ely, Miss Sarah F. Ellis, Miss Berthe Levy, Miss Anna Paull, Miss Hettie G. McConnaughy and Sydney Prentice.

Junior Department Formed in Aspinwall

Twenty-six young women organized a junior department to the Woman's Club of Aspinwall last night, naming Mary Helen Wanamaker and Marion Richardson as temporary chairman and secretary.

Miss Florence Milliken, newly appointed county chairman of juniors, addressed the meeting. By-laws will be adopted and officers elected at a meeting on May 2.

Social Set Sees Curtain Rise on Pitt Play

The Nixon Theater looked like the good old times last night when the University of Pittsburgh Cap and Gown Club presented the opening of "All to the Point."

All the boxes were filled with various members of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, which sponsored the opening, as hosts.

The aides, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby, were ever so attractive. Mrs. Jacoby wore black crepe with orchid and black pleated tulle triple frills over the shoulders.

Caroline Mitchell wore an interesting gown of white ribbed silk crepe, resembling pique; Betty Kennedy's was of jade green crepe, figured in gold; Clara Dorothea Jenkins was in rough white crepe, having a jacket of the same material and a jaunty Ascot scarf in red; Louise Baton chose magenta crepe with many petals of magenta velvet on the shoulders, and Jane Sloan was in black crepe; Mary Gordon in French blue.

Peggy Robinson, Elizabeth Thomas, Anne Wehr and Wilhelmina Coyle were also aides.

Emily Frew wore an intriguing frock with a jumper effect of powder blue crepe and organdy; Virginia Frew Wright was in flame red crepe; Patricia Witherow in jade green; Dorothy Blaxter in flax blue with a white frill outlining the decolletage in back.

V. F. W. Auxiliaries To Honor Heads At Banquet

Mrs. Anderson

A banquet will be held by the Allegheny County Council, Ladies Auxiliaries to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in honor of their department president, Mrs. Florence Anderson, of Philadelphia, tomorrow evening, at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

On Thursday a luncheon will be held by the department and county council officers in the Hotel Mayfair with Mrs. Anderson as honor guest, and later Mrs. Anderson will visit the Veterans Hospital in Aspinwall.

Department Commander Benjamin Ralsky, of Bradford, will share honors with Mrs. Anderson at the Veterans of Foreign Wars ball, Thursday evening, in the Hotel Schenley.

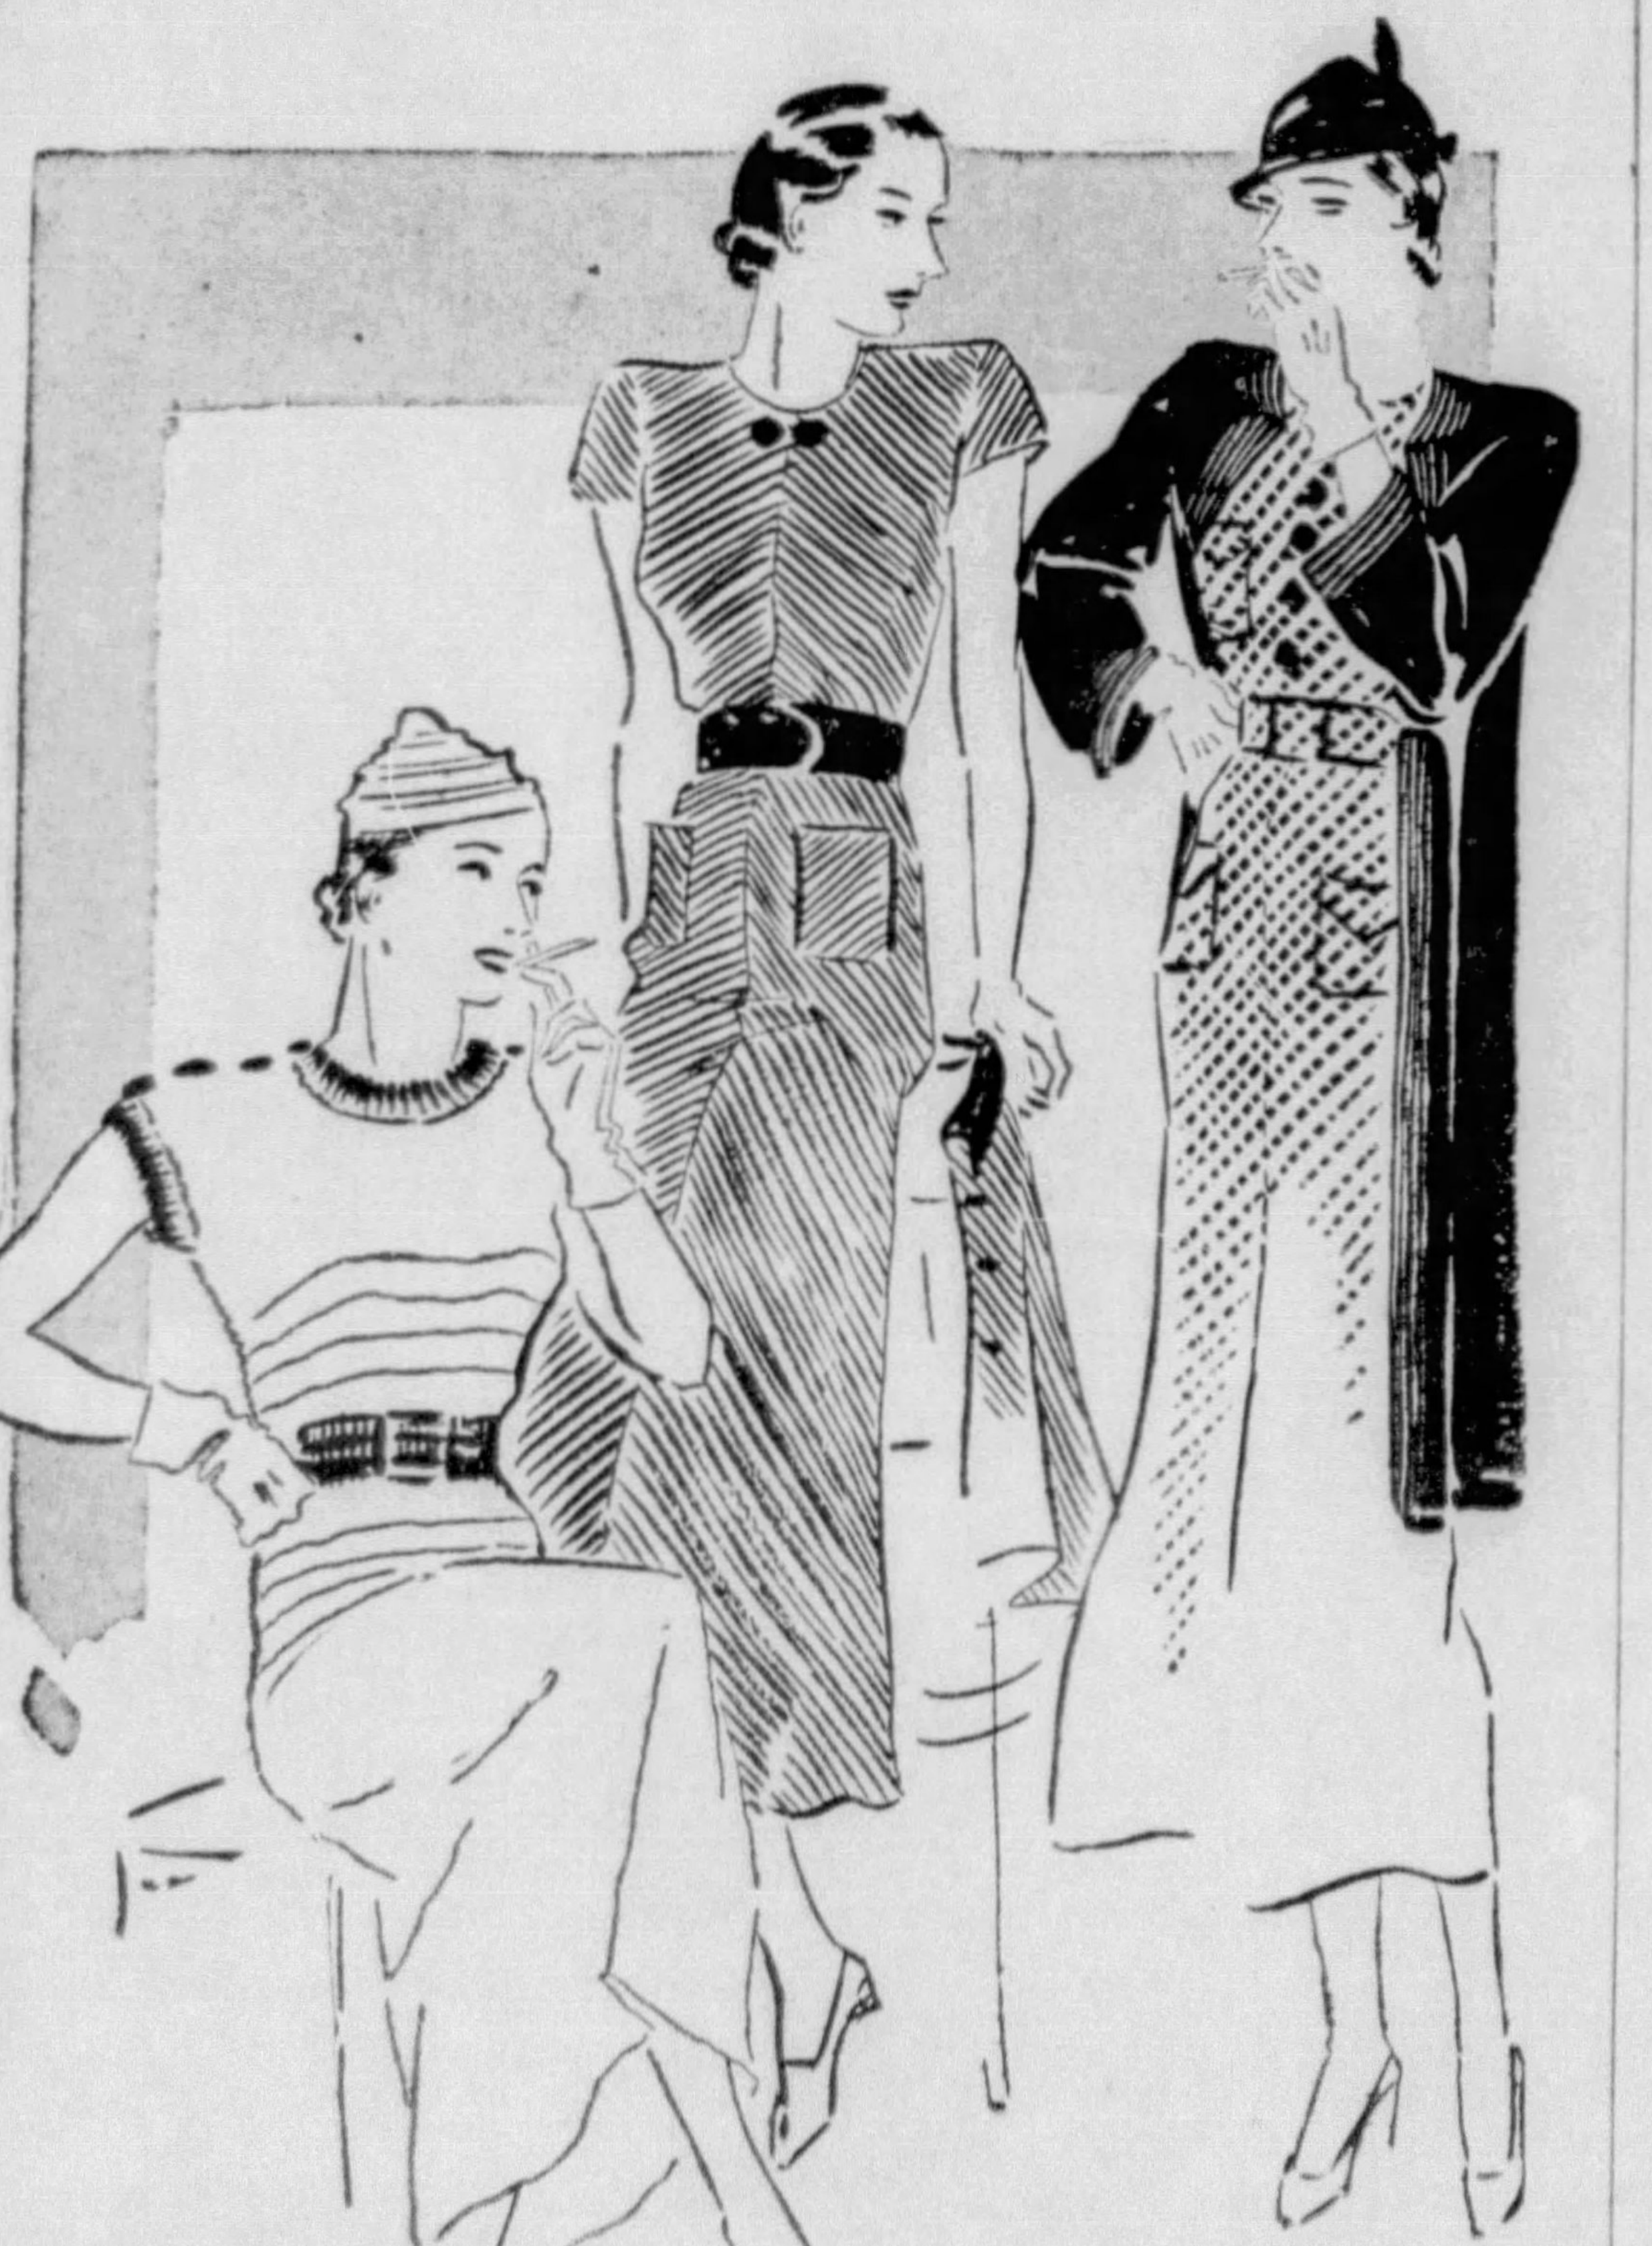
IF YOU WOULD ENJOY CHIC, LOOK TO YOUR KNITTED FROCKS



KNITTED FROCKS are so incredibly smart this season that it's hard to be discreet about them. They are so many and so lovely that you want them all. And in many cases the knitted frock and suit has gone urban and can be worn most any old place in the daytime if one feels casual. This and the irresistible woolen colors, ranging from muted pastels and white up to brilliant combinations, give us a truly all inclusive scope.

THE CHIC young thing in the pointed hats wears a white wool knitted dress with a most casual air, quite unaware that she is causing a sensation. It's the roman stripes around the collar, armholes and the roman-striped belt that give her costume such a distinctive air.

* * *

IN THE center is a dashing red and white knitted frock with a cunning cape to match. Belt, buttons and collar on the cape are of solid red and add no end of distinction to an otherwise simple costume.

BROWN AND white is favored by the casual spectator on the right. It is also knitted in a decidedly different stitch. The coat with its stitched trimming makes the shoulders almost unbelievably square. It is the sort of casual little-longer-than-the-finger-tip-length coat that will be seen a lot at distinguished gatherings this summer.

THE SOAP OF BEAUTIFUL WOMEN
CAMAY
CAMAY

Can soap affect your beauty? Make your skin good to look at—soft to the touch?

Why, my dear girl, that's the very reason why Camay—The Soap of Beautiful Women—is gathering more new users with every passing day.

Camay is made for the feminine skin! Nothing so caressingly rich has ever touched your skin! Try it, and this will be your reward! First, your skin will take on a "downy, ducky" kind of softness.

And that begins with the very first cake of Camay you use. Then, you'll have a self-satisfied glow, because admiring glances, compliments will follow!

Keep them coming! Life is a long, long Beauty Contest for every girl. You're competing, whether you like it or not, for the admiration every woman craves. Get Camay. It can help your beauty—it can help you with your skin.

THE "GOOD TASTE TREND" IS ALL TO CAMAY

During the six months past—thousands and thousands of smart girls have changed their old soap habits. They've gone modern—they've taken up Camay.

Camay ought to be higher priced than the soap you now are using. It isn't—it's lower! Camay sells at a low 1933 price. Check that up and see what a surprise is in store for you!

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Orchids and Orchisses!

"DEAR WINCHELL," writes M. P. L. of Lebanon, Tenn., "an orchid to you for your good-natured defense of George Bernard Shaw in your recent pillar of Love Letters. The boobish innuendo of the American press—to the effect that G. B. S. was frightened by the roar of the American giant—must have caused wonderment in Valhalla and sadness on Olympus. Who could say he was afraid of the skyline or anything else, since he more than measures up to our standards of virility by the amount of hair on his chest?

"Shaw has always seemed to me the reincarnation of his literary ancestor, King David, whose ability as a writer was no less than his ability as a fighter. In fact, armed with the pebble of his wit, impelled by the slingshot of his personality, he caused many a complacent Goliath to feel the sting of the Shavian arm.

"And how could his visit to our Philistine shores have been more timely? The jawbones of the colossal asses lay whitening on the plains of Wall street; the air was thick with the flying stones of the people who live in glass houses; the giant weak from the steady diet of razzberries, and too deaf, dumb and blind to do more than chuckle in asinine stupidity as the well-cast barbs nicked his hide. However, let David be consoled—for if he did not slay—at least he left a headache.

"And let us be consoled—for any sign of life in the head augurs well. And let us, while we are sending flowers, toss a lily to the man who always plays Winchell to our Bernie, and who has so painstakingly carved for us a niche in the halls of fame. For who could remember Goliath if little David hand't played on his harp?"

"DEAR DOPE," writes an air admirer, who caught us twice in the same broadcast with our napkin tucked in our collar, "not only did you send your congratulations to our Montgomerys on their new $400 income tax exemption by saying it arrived a few minutes ago when it came many hours before, but you showed your ignorance when you distinctly said 'Bangkok, Spain,' everybody knows Bangkok is in Siam."

Well, it just goes to show how nervou Siam. "I put it in zo zveet," as Weber and Fields used to zay—"but itt kumms ow-ut zo zour!" You think you heard me boner it and I probably did, at that—but it must have been that Mr. Miller, in the control room. He's always fooling around—and he must have made it come over the ether that way.

And, anyway, if I did stumble or get googly-eyed in my hasty tempo, I'm glad. Because I'm fed up with too many of my competitors who have been going around saying that I am perfect.

"DEAR MR. WINCHELL," writes Charles Burgess, "I wish to apologize for Ruth Avon and myself for announcing her betrothal to the 'Count Paul de Montifiere.' It was made in all sincerity (the announcement)—and she had kept company with him for over a year. Your notice which was the first to appear in any paper is directly responsible for the exposal of the imposter. It is directly through you that Miss Avon was saved from a marriage which probably would have spoiled her life.

"Following your blurb about it, the New York Evening Journal called on Miss Avon and produced photographs of the spurious Count. She recognized him from the likenesses at once. It seems that in 1925 or 1926 he was arrested for pulling the same racket. Miss Avon then cancelled the engagement and on her behalf I wish to thank you for helping (in an unintentional way, of course) to avert a catastrophe."

What! No hugs or squeezes???

Mr. Marshall Called for June 19

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 25. — A Hurry-up call has been put in by Paramount for Herbert Marshall, the English actor who went back to London to do "I Was a Spy" for the British Gaumont.

The popular actor must finish and be back here by June 19 to begin work in Dorothea Wieck's first American picture, "Hangman's Whip." Charles Laughton is the third foreign-born screen notable in this production.

Herbert Marshall is the husband, you'll remember, for whom Edna Best fled Hollywood when they were separated by work. The Marshalls expect a happy event in May. He passed up the chance to do "Design For Living" here to be with his wife in London when the babe arrives.

"Hangman's Whip" is a Broadway play by Norman Reilly Raine (here writing for M-G-M) and Frank Butler. Dorothea Wieck plays the continental wife of an African river-boat trader, so whatever accent her daily English lessons leave by the time the picture begins will not be inappropriate.

* * *

El Brendel, whom I cornered on the beer garden set for Fox's "My Lips Betray," turned down a bid for membership in a nudist colony, he claims.

"I can't stand them," he said. "They are too overbearing!"

* * *

It will be the middle of May before Universal starts things stirring. Warner Brothers expects to start up in mid-June . . . John Boles is seriously studying for a concert tour to take place when picture work slackens . . . Cedric Gibbons is busy doing technical shots for the new Tarzan picture he expects to direct. Johnny Weissmuller, in the meantime, is teaching Dolores Del Rio to swim . . . Franchot Tone gets a huge kick out of the clipping from his home town, Niagara Falls, which shows him billed over Walter Huston in "Gabriel Over the White House."

* * *

Polly Moran invited every one at Bill Haines' party the other night out on a surprise trip. It turned out to be the city jail . . . Lulu Wong, Ann May's sister, attended an Eskimo party when she was in the Arctic with W. S. Van Dyke's company. One of the northern swains took a liking to her and presented her with a tube of toothpaste—a great delicacy . . . Donald Stuart is making hurried trips to San Francisco to see a girl named Ann . . . The name of the girl Gordon Westcott is being seen around with is Betty. It's his sister.

Donald Ogden Stewart has had passport pictures made for a trip to Europe . . . Josselyn Lee gets herself a tonsilectomy . . . A big black mustache worn for a scene in "When Ladies Meet" still fails to hide the pride on Robert Montgomery's face. His new baby is named Elizabeth . . . Harold Lloyd had a birthday on the 20th, and his wife gave him a bicycle . . . Claire Sindow was out at the late spots with Alberto Pani, son of the Mexican official.

* * *

Scarpitta's nude statue of Marlene Dietrich goes on exhibition at San Diego shortly . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conway are headed for New York on his first vacation from M-G-M in three years. He'll take a look at the crowds at "Hell Below" on Broadway . . . Marie Dressler, whom I saw hale and hearty at the business of an oyster lunch the other day, is in the desert for a few days before starting "Tugboat Annie" . . . Upwards of 30 Hollywood stars turned out to appear in the Masquers' revel Sunday night.

Joe E. Brown Sends Wagner Trophy

Dick Powell, former master of ceremonies in the Stanley, will present to Honus Wagner a solid silver baseball trophy from Joe E. Brown, himself a former major league player, and now part owner of the Kansas City Baseball Club. The trophy will be presented on the field, in view of the entire grandstand, just before Friday's game and again in the Stanley Friday night. Mr. Brown is giving Honus the trophy because of his aid in making "Elmer the Great," Joe's baseball picture which opens Friday in the Stanley. Several Pirates appear in it. Honus also gave technical advice to the director in making the film.

"Lo, Dick"

Dick Powell, who has registered strongly in the movies since leaving his megaphone and baton here, will be back to direct the orchestra for dancing in Duquesne Garden Friday and Saturday. Another local boy who made good in Hollywood.

Future Movie Bills

"Christopher Strong" with Katharine Hepburn and Colin Clive, in leading roles, opens in the Enright tomorrow. Others in the cast include Billie Burke, Helen Chandler and Ralph Forbes.

* * *

Gloria Swanson has the feminine role in "Perfect Understanding," photoplay to follow "Cavalcade" in the Fulton. The story is about an American girl married to a son of an English peer. Laurence Olivier, Genevieve Tobin, Michael Farmer and John Halliday are also in the cast.

* * *

"Today We Live," a war drama with Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper in the leading roles, opens in the Penn Friday, with Franchot Tone and Robert Young also in the cast. The romance has the triangular pattern.

Famous Prussian Hoax Shown in Cinema

After many weeks the Avenue Cinema has returned to the German language with a picture that dramatizes one of the most famous hoaxes of history. Wilhelm Voigt, the "Captain of Koepenick," was a real person and his exploit is no fairy tale.

The picture shows how a cobbler who had spent 23 years in the pen for various misdemeanors, crowns his achievements by buying a captain's uniform second-hand and taking command of several platoons of soldiers whom he meets. He marches them to the little town of Koepenick, arrests the burgomaster, seizes the town treasury, and vanishes after sending the prisoners to Berlin.

Next day the whole world is laughing about the hoax which showed how the Prussian military uniform had turned everybody into puppets at the command of a fake captain. Those who understand just what the military fetish does to ordinarily intelligent people will get a lot of laughs out of this true-to-life picture based on the play by Carl Zuckmayer.

Early Pittsburgh Scenes In Tuneful Romance 'All to the Point'

By GEORGE SEIBEL

With true Ziegfeldian opulence, the Cap and Gown Club of Pitt University last night gave the expectant public two eyefuls, two earfuls, and a lesson in history. "All to the Point," the new musical revue at the Nixon, goes back to the Point in the days when there was no D. A. R., and the future mothers of the same were surrounded by wild redskins, villainous fur-traders and potent firewater dispensed at the taps of the Green Tree Inn.

Along Smithfield street flourished vast ostrich plumes of orange hue, and along the river bank was a Chinese wall to keep Penn avenue from being flooded by the spring freshets. The first horse came bringing the first mail from Philadelphia, Hugh Henry Brackenridge gathered notes for his history, and John Scull, editor and postmaster, granted himself second-class privileges for his newsy Acta Diurna.

Mr. Seibel

Which is all part of the gorgeous, tuneful, romantic and spectacular production that required one librettist, two poets, six composers, and who knows how many purveyors of costumes, fichus, belt-buckles, corsets and hairpins for its proper presentation.

The librettist was G. Norman Reis, who knows his history and his primitive instincts. The bards are Louis M. Fushan and Stanley Goldman, who are well versed in meters, anapestic and dactylic, and have both wit and sentiment. The composers are Gus A. Schnabel, who also conducted the band; John M. St. Peter, Harold Levenson, Benjamin Levant, Bernard Rosenson and Charles Textor, who invented good melodies and sometimes remembered others almost as good.

HERE'S A GREAT FIND

But there's a great find in this great epicene exhibition—for the heroine, twin sister of Russell Connolly, is quite the peer of Marilyn Miller, Billie Burke, or any of the beauteous belles discovered by Florenz (Columbus) Ziegfeld, Arch and enticing, with all the feminine allure of Ninon de Lenclos and Lady Hamilton, this Melissa has a voice of languishing tenderness, which blended well with the even less robust tenor of James Holland as the hero.

Speaking of beauteous ladies and robust qualities, there has never been so much feminine pulchritude displayed in conjunction with such muscular biceps—which was a good thing, for those pioneer ladies had to take care of themselves in those rude days when Chief Cornplanter was head of the D. P. S.

But, ah, who would not gladly go back to the Virginia Reel and the Minuet, danced with abandon or stately grace, without jingles and jangles from the jungles? Hereby the music of "All to the Point" is stamped with the official O. K. of the Back to Bach Society. Six composers will take one bow!

To catalogue all the lyrics and dances that deserve to be praised would be tedious. Hear them and pick your own favorites.

SOME STAR PERFORMERS

Still there are a few star performers, besides those already immortalized, who merit a nosegay or a potted palm. Ralph P. Snively for singing a spiritual with spirit—Bernard Rosenson for comedy and brogue—Norman Wolken for ferocious villainy and comedy singing—John Wyeth for graceful adiposity and putting across his quip about "Hoops"—Eugene Kelley for some diabolically delectable dancing—and a trio composed of Marshall Baker, Horace Hubbard and Robert Haase, for real spice without olfactory offense—all these come to mind among the multitude of good, better, best and super-excellent things. Half a score of others have also a right to be pointed out, but no matter how many you would include, there would be some one omitted—and it is better to skip a dozen than to ignore one.

If Florenz Ziegfeld could have come back last night to the scene of so many of his triumphs, he would have gone back to his tomb to rest more easily, knowing that he won't be missed so very badly. But he would feel chagrined that he had not been here to discover the demure and delicious Melissa Connolly, for whom we predict a great future in the London Gayeties unless she marries a Dook or an Earl.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Seats will be on sale Thursday for next week's attraction in the Nixon, Podrenecca's "The Piccoli," final offering in the subscription series of the American Theater Society. It is a varied musical entertainment that has had great success in New York, Boston and other cities although its "artists" are all marionettes—800 of them.

* * *

Among the spectators at tomorrow night's performance of "All to the Point," Pitt Cap and Gown Club's musical romance in the Nixon, will be Steve Swetonic and members of the Pirates and Cubs. The Pirate hurler was a Cap and Gown Club member when he was a Pitt student, though he never acted.

The Masquers of Calvary Parish presented four one-act plays last night, their second production of the season. One of the offerings, "Caleb Stone's Death Watch," by Martin Flavin, will be the Masquers' entry in the Drama League contest Friday night.

One-Act Play Contest To Open Tonight

The annual one-act play contest of the Drama League of Pittsburgh will open tonight in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement Theater. Four plays nightly will be presented tonight, tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, with dramatic editors of Pittsburgh newspapers among the judges. Tonight's bill includes the Civic Repertoire Players in "Design," by George M. P. Baird, Pittsburgh playwright; Thiel Players of Thiel College in "The Game of Chess," by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman; Emerson Club of Sacred Heart Church in "The Old Lady Shows Her Models," by Sir James M. Barrie, and Thurston Drama Club of Thurston School in "The Romance of the Willow Pattern," by Ethel Van Der Veer.

Wake Up, America! Drive Out the Racketeers

HERE ARE some serious words for serious-minded Americans.

Do the citizens of this country realize that RACKETEERING has become an American institution?

Do they realize that this malignant growth of the last few years has fastened itself upon American life and succeeded in dragging within its criminal and putrid tyranny almost every form of commercial and industrial activity, invading the courts, the law enforcement agencies and even the professions?

The rapid development and spread of racketeering throughout the United States has no parallel except in the history of the Italian Camorra, which had its seat in Naples, and that equally sinister organization, devoted to terrorism and extortion, the Mafia.

This is a hideous and tragic condition. It cannot be suffered to continue. Unless it is stamped out with the courage and decision with which Mussolini uprooted the Mafia in Sicily, it will be grotesque to talk of American ideals and American freedom.

NEVER HAVE the decencies of American life been so insolently and contemptuously defied as by this loathsome invention of the underworld.

In lines of trade invaded by the racketeer the industrialist cannot buy except as the racketeer directs. He cannot move his goods except with the racketeer's permission. He cannot exercise the simple rights of a citizen except at the price of tribute paid to the racketeer.

If he resists, or even complains, he is brutally attacked and sometimes murdered. If he appeals to the law, he cannot bring his proofs into court because his witnesses have been assaulted or spirited away, or done to death.

In every walk of life we meet the racketeer. He can boast of friends among the politicians and sometimes the police.

Punishment for his crimes is so rare as to be negligible. Efforts to restrain his activities are usually without success.

The amount of tribute exacted by the established rackets in this country, which number many hundreds, is beyond calculation. It runs into great figures—many millions per annum.

EVERY DOLLAR of this tribute is a burden imposed upon the American people. It is an element in the price of every commodity they use. It adds to the merchant's overhead and is as real a factor in the cost of production as if it were a legitimate factor.

But the real toll of the racket is not to be measured in dollars and cents. Its true cost is what it costs the American people in self-respect, in the undermining of the foundations of their life, in the spread of insecurity and fear, in the intimidation of justice, in the corruption of our politics, in the tragic realization that the instrumentalities upon which society relies for protection against terrorism, robbery and violence are not only ineffectual, but are working at times in collusion with, and at other times in fear of this most repulsive form of crime.

We read from day to day of some murder here, some outrage there, which are the work of the racketeers. And yet, such is our absorption in the little cares which make up life, that we turn away from such incidents as if they were only the normal disorders which may be left to the proper authorities to deal with.

BUT SUCH is not the fact. These outrages are not isolated and sporadic cases of crime which in every large society must at times come to the surface.

They mark the existence on a nationwide scale of a condition of highly organized violence and crime—not an excrescence upon our national life, but a part of its very fabric.

These are appalling assertions to make. Yet they are literally true and unexaggerated.

America must rouse itself from its lethargy on this subject.

We cannot, if we love our country, ignore the extent and the deadly nature of this danger, which permeates the daily life of almost every community.

If we have not the energy and self-respect to rise against such a condition with righteous anger and determined resolve to end it, then society is lost.

And America is lost, too, and, hard as it is to say, it would deserve to go down.

HERE IS an issue which touches American life at its very core.

To rid the country of the infamy of the tolerated racket is an imperative duty. It should engage the national power in its fullest exertion.

The subject deserves the attention of all the forces of honest government.

It deserves the attention of the President and the leadership which only he can bring to a great cause.

HAWKS ENTERS DISPUTE OVER LINDY'S 'GAS'

Possibility that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh brought from his previous landing point in the East the "watered" gasoline which caused his forced landing here last Thursday, was cited today by Maj. Frank M. Hawks, famous speed flier and aeronautical advisor for the Texaco Company. Hawks is making an investigation for the company, which supplied the gasoline here.

He arrived in Pittsburgh last night, and met County Airport Manager Halsey R. Bazley and Huey Long, field manager for Transcontinental and Western Air, for whom Lindbergh flew to Pittsburgh on an inspection trip.

Today Hawks and other officials of the Texaco Company inspected the gas supply system at the airport with A. M. Marion, director of county parks.

Following last night's conference Hawks said he learned that Lindbergh flew into Pittsburgh with one empty and one full tank. His empty tank was filled at the County Airport. After his forced landing, Hawks said he learned, both tanks were open. He explained it was possible to fly with either one or both tanks open.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE

Hawks, looking none the worse for a crackup in New England more than a year ago except for a few scars, was exuberant over the future of aviation and summed up his opinion in one word:

"Speed."

Hawks, holder of numerous cross-country records, might be called the "apostle of speed." The ship in which he crashed was the fastest commercial type plane in the United States at the time.

SEEKS NEW RECORDS

His new ship, powered with a 14-cylinder motor, three-bladed propeller and fully stream-lined, is being made ready in New York for new assaults on existing speed records. After establishing new American records Hawks says he will take his ship to Europe for "new worlds to conquer."

He lounged in his room in the William Penn Hotel. His gaze wandered out into space as he talked of the future of aviation. He declared:

"Soon we will have ships that will climb into unknown altitudes and will encircle the globe with the dawn. Yes—500 miles an hour for man's travel is not very far away."

PRINCE TO WED DESPITE KAISER

BONN, Germany, April 25.—(AP.)—Prince Wilhelm, 26, son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, will be married in the middle of May to Dorothea von Salviati, member of an aristocratic Italian family which resides in Germany. The banns for the marriage were published yesterday.

Prince Wilhelm had been considered the most likely member of the Hohenzollern family to ascend the throne in event the monarchy was restored until his surprise engagement was announced. Now, it is said, he has renounced his claims.

A representative of his exiled grandfather, the former Kaiser, visited him recently. It was reported the former Kaiser was deeply disappointed by the engagement, but the prince said the talk with his representative was "harmonious."

NEW NAVY CHIEF APPOINTED

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—A veteran of two score years' service, more than half of it on the high seas, Vice Admiral William H. Standley, of California, will succeed Admiral William V. Pratt as chief of naval operations, the Navy's highest command.

Secretary Swanson announced his selection last night, but explained that Pratt, who reached retirement age the first of March, would be retained pending some definite action at the Geneva disarmament conference.

A new commander-in-chief of the fleet also was named, Vice Admiral David Foote Sellers, succeeding Admiral Richard H. Leigh, in the second highest ranking post.

Rear Admiral Frank B. Upham, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, was named commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet; Rear Admiral Joseph Mason Reeves, commander of battleships, battle force; Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby, commander of scouting force, and Rear Admiral Harris Laning, commander of cruisers, scouting force.

En Route to Funeral, 2 Hurt as Auto Skids

En route to attend a funeral, a Tarentum man and woman were injured when their automobile skidded off a slippery road at Mapleview, near Washington, last midnight. Both are in the Washington Hospital.

Mrs. Harry Warner, 58, of Freeport road, Tarentum, and Ralph Warner, the driver, both suffered lacerations. They were en route to Marianna to attend the funeral of a nephew.

RAIDED CHINESE HELD FOR U. S.

Sixteen Chinese arrested in two raids in Chinatown early today were ordered turned over to federal authorities by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court.

The raids were made by City Detectives Walter Monaghan and William and John Hooper in cooperation with federal narcotic agents. Eleven Chinese, six of whom were said to be smoking opium, were arrested at 538 Second avenue.

At 532 Second avenue five Chinese were arrested, three of whom were accused of smoking opium. All were charged with violating the federal narcotic act.

The Eberhardt & Ober Co. brewery, established 70 years ago at Vinial street and Troy Hill road, will be reopened by the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, Fred C. Klussmann, president, said yesterday. The plant has a capacity of 200,000 barrels a year and will employ 50 to 75 men.

Thief Takes Coat As Hutton Shows 'Way to Glory'

DETROIT, April 25.—(AP.)—While David L. Hutton, husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, was "out there showing 'em the way to glory," as he expressed it, someone stole his overcoat here last night. Hutton mourned:

"The devil seems to be on the job. Not only the coat but a $10 pair of gloves in the pockets are gone. If it isn't one thing it's another."

'SHOCK TROOPS' ON EVICTION JOB

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 25.—(AP.)—Seventy-five special deputies armed with tear gas, rifles and pistols reinforced Sheriff Haseltine Lever today in his fifth attempt to sell the farm property of John Lilko at Red Hill.

Determined to prevent repetition of the fiascos marking the previous attempts, where Lilko's neighbor halted the auctions and once drove the deputies off, Sheriff Lever was ready to swear in his "shock troops" today and had chartered buses to move them to the scene.

MOONEY IRKED BY TRIAL DELAY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—(AP.)—Tom Mooney, serving a life sentence for complicity in the Preparedness Day parade bombing here in 1916, was reported impatient and disappointed when informed he may not be brought here from San Quentin Prison today for his second trial, on an unused indictment more than 16 years old.

A delay in Mooney's trip wa indicated when Superior Judg Louis H. Ward ruled his presenc would not be necessary for "pre liminary arguments."

DELAY ORDERED

Judge Ward directed that panel of 40 veniremen, previous summoned for tomorrow, need n appear until Thursday.

Samuel Darcy, of the defen counsel, quoted the gray-hair convict as saying:

"I want to be present whe preliminary arguments ar made."

Unconfirmed reports were th indefiniteness regarding the trans fer of the prisoner to the count jail here was arranged as a safe guard against possible demonstra tions and that his short trip acro San Francisco Bay might be kep secret until after it was over.

DEMAND PROSECUTION

Frank P. Walsh, New York a torney and leader of the defen counsel, and his aides, John Finerty, of Washington, and L Gallagher, of Los Angeles, contin ue to demand a vigorous prosecu tion. Walsh said:

"We have come out here o the assurance that this will b a trial for murder—exactly a any other murder trial. We fee that the case should be tried without regard to anything tha has gone before."

Myrt Recovers, Returns to Air; Gracie Allen, Disguised As 'Freight,' Back in N.Y.

By AIRCASTER

Myrt Vail, Spear, to you, recovered from her auto accident and returned to the air last night. But—the Myrt and Marge shows fade Friday.

Burns and Allen arrive in New York from Hollywood today. Gracie, traveling in baggage car, tagged as freight, sends word to newspapers not to send camera men to greet her—unless they have cameras.

Bulletin—Don Bestor and his musical crew reach New York after sampling Virginia corn at Washington and Lee. Have resumed their hotel spot.

CBS studios, New York—David Ross, Harry von Zell and Jeannie Lang join the sick list.

Hopeful Leo

The birthday which Mr. Leo Reisman, band leader de luxe and correspondent extraordinary, celebrated Friday did not pass without an amusing yarn. Leo, so the boys tell it, wanted to throw a dignified party and invited some of his musician friends to his house. Three or four of them demurred, pleading previous engagements. Leo insisted:

"But, you can't fail me. It's my birthday. You must drop in."

Eventually the musicians agreed to call, and Mr. Reisman said:

"That's fine. When you get there, go to apartment C and kick on the door."

Surprised, they asked:

"Kick on it? Why can't we knock with our fists or buzz the bell?"

Leo replied:

"Now I ask you, how can you do that with your arms full of birthday presents?"

Ben Bernie Broadcasts From Here

Pittsburgh's third major network broadcast in a week goes on the air tonight at 9, when Ben Bernie 'n' all the lads present their weekly NBC-WCAE program from the studios of WCAE.

As a highlight, the Ol' Maestro features the new tune entitled, "Boom, I Fell in Love," and repeats, in response to popular request, "Me and That Old Gang of Mine" and "The Queen Was in the Parlor."

Bernie's late network program, to be aired at 12:30 a. m. over a western circuit, will be broadcast from Eddie Peyton's club, Steubenville pike, where Bernie plays a dance engagement tonight, through the facilities of WCAE.

Guy Lombardo and Amos 'n' Andy were the two previous major air attractions here.

* * *

From the musical comedy stage of two continents comes Irene Bordoni, who frequently has been featured on Rudy Vallee's NBC presentations, to inaugurate a new two-a-week series via NBC-KDKA tonight at 7:45. Supported by Emil Coleman's orchestra, rhythmic organization favored by New York's elite, she will be heard each Tuesday and Saturday at the same hour.

Also from the stage come Clark and Verdi, Italian dialect comedians whose radio prowess also has been spotlighted by Showman Vallee, to make a guest appearance with Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit on WCAE at 8.

* * *

All-Star Lineup

An all star lineup, headed by Eva Taylor and the Southernaires, the Song Fellows, the Sisters of the Skillet and the Morin Sisters is listed for the WOC-WHO (Des Moines and Davenport) dedicatory four-point broadcast on WCAE from 11:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. To originate in New York, Chicago, Washington and Des Moines, the program has Iowa's Gov. Clyde L. Herring, Senator L. J. Dickinson and Representative D. M. Jacobson as guest speakers.

* * *

Music lovers find much to delight their aesthetic ears in:

NBC-KDKA's 10:30 bill—selections from "Pagliacci," "Mignon," "La Traviata," "Lohengrin" and "Faust" by the chorus of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Dr. Walter Damrosch's "contrast program" on WCAE at 10:30 comparing as to form and harmonic construction the works of the Russian composers, Tchaikowsky and Stravinsky.

An all-Massenet program by Howard Barlow's Symphony Orchestra with Evan Evans, baritone, as soloist, at 11 on WJAS.

Musical Album, featuring compositions by Chopin, Debussy, Friml and Sir Edward Elgar, on the same station at 8.

* * *

Backstage Talk

Harry and Lou, of WWSW's "Behind the Kitchen Door," devote their regular 7:30 p. m. spot, and their attention, too, to a backstage interview at the Nixon Theater with members of the cast of "All to the Point," 1933 University of Pittsburgh Cap and Gown production.

Crime Clues—on KDKA at 8—introduces something novel in bringing Eddie Jackson, ace New York newspaper photographer, to the microphone to play his real life role in Stewart Sterling's radio drama, "Over the Deadline." It is Jackson's first "shot" at radio.

* * *

When Wilkinsburg's broadcasting Boy Scouts, the "Owl Patrol," go on the air via WWSW tonight at 6:15, Mac (Bill MacFarland) will be missing from the cast . . . He'll listen in, however, from the hospital where he's recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

'Seals' to Appear In Homestead

Harry Keck and his Trained Seals of WCAE will appear in the Leona Theater, Homestead, tomorrow night at 9 o'clock as guests of Lois Miller, "Singing Organist." Mr. Keck will introduce Chilly Doyle, Sun-Telegraph baseball writer, and several stars of the Pirates and Cubs. The program will be presented exactly as in the studio, even down to the barking of the seal (Julius Levin).

Jack Scarry and Lenore Kight, champion swimmer, will be special guests, along with other Homestead swimmers who have achieved fame in the last few months.

Globe-Trotting

With the Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Major Buerkle, the Army recruiting chief, let his mind wander for a moment from the problems of the Conservation Army to comment on a much radioed popular song, "Darkness on the Delta." Quoth the major:

"I can't see the romance in the delta. All they have is mosquitoes. Not the kind that merely sting you, but down there they carry spears and throw them at you."

* * *

J. Fred Lissfelt, the music critic, tells of a woman who expects to live a long, long time. He heard her ask the station agent when the last train left for Duluth.

* * *

There's a West Virginia Globe Trotter who unreels some startling stories of personal skill. This one, starting as all of them do, with, "When I was a boy down on Indian Crick," described his extraordinary markmanship:

"I seed a hummin' bird a flittin' around a pawpaw bush. I took a bead on him and put a hole in him, Mr. Man, that you could ram your fist through."

* * *

In contemplation of President's Day on Sunday, James Street, of New Waterford, O., reminds us that it is not only a day of prayer for Mr. Roosevelt's safety and guidance, but a day of praise and thanksgiving to the Almighty that the United States has such a man as President.

* * *

Mrs. M. J. Farrell, of Mt. Lebanon, treasures a ticket for the World's Columbian Exposition, which was held in Chicago in 1893. It might be good, accompanied by an argument, at the forthcoming Chicago World's Fair; but it's doubtful, very.

Seibel Discusses 'Plays, Players'

Making his weekly "Plays and Players" appearance on WCAE, George Seibel, Sun-Telegraph dramatic and literary critic, tells what's new in the thespian world tonight at 7 o'clock.

Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, flashes the news via WCAE and WJAS at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. daily.

CHURCH PLANS CENTENNIAL

Marking the centennial of St. John's Church, Lawrenceville, the Rev. Robert N. Meade will preach an historical sermon at the 11 o'clock Sunday service. Bishop Alexander Mann will preach the evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Meade's sermon will reveal the vicissitudes through which the church has triumphantly passed since its final services in the old United States Arsenal at Butler and Fortieth streets.

The present church in Main street, is the last of four buildings, the first of which was sold through financial stress, the second of which incomplete records shroud in mystery, the third of which was for a time abandoned. Meeting in hired rooms marked the intervals.

The present church was built in 1892 when the Rev. T. Jefferson Danner, known as the "Father" of the parish, took charge. Since then a new parish house has been built and a rectory established in the Morningside district.

With members throughout the greater Pittsburgh district, and constantly increasing its community service, St. John's proudly counts itself one of the "Mother Parishes" of the diocese.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS JOINT MEET

Two sessions of the East End, Homewood, Oakland and Squirrel Hill W. C. T. U. are being held today in the Sixth Presbyterian Church.

In the morning session the topic of Mrs. Martha Steel Lytell was "Highlighs from the National W. C. T. U. Convention," and that of Mrs. W. T. Larimer, the "Round Table."

In the afternoon Dr. Curtis Springer speaks on "Narcotics." The Y. M. C. A. Glee Club gives a musical program.

Shakespeare Play Exhibit at School

Photographs and sketches of scenes from Shakespeare's plays, as well as of famous artists who have acted them, are being displayed at Perry High School.

The exhibit is given through the courtesy of Dr. Herrick, University of Pittsburgh, and J. C. Hull, English and dramatic teacher at the high school.

PRESIDENT'S DAY PRAYERS HERE TO BE BROADCAST

POLITICS

Pinchot, King May Battle in Court.

By MARK SHIELDS

Mr. Shields

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Gov. Pinchot, whose demand that the nomination of Dr. Clyde L. King as chairman of the Public Service Commission be returned to him is to be ignored by the Senate, probably will throw the issue between himself and his former friend into the courts if the Senate does not confirm King.

It is known that the Governor has been advised by some lawyers on whom he leans, to assume, after the adjournment of the Legislature, that the recess appointments he made expired with the end of the Senate session. He then will reappoint Commissioners George W. Woodruff, C. Jay Goodnough, P. S. Stahlnecker and Frederick P. Gruenberg.

He will not reappoint King and will proceed on the assumption that the chairman's post is vacated.

King will fight that. He will rely on a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the late Commissioner Stewart, as well as dictum included in the decision of the Benn and Shelby cases, when the Governor tried unavailingly to remove those two commissioners without the consent of the Senate.

Jobs on Commission Have Definite Terms

The court then held that appointment as Public Service Commissioner was not like other appointments.

The average run of appointments are only until the end of the succeeding Senate session unless there is confirmation. Then the term ends and the Governor may reappoint or not as he wishes.

Public Service Commission appointments, however, are for definite terms, and the opinion of the court was that once an appointment was made the Governor lost all control of it until the Senate acted.

There is an illustration of this in the cases of former Commissioner Richard J. Beamish and Chris Golden, for example. They were named by Mr. Pinchot in 1926, but were not confirmed. When John S. Fisher became governor in 1927 he appeared to feel that he had no right to act on the appointments until the Senate had done something. Whereupon the Senate brought the appointments to the floor, rejected the nominees, and Mr. Fisher named their successors.

Dr. King has had lawyers examining the situation, it is known from a source other than the Public Service Commission chairman. He has been advised that he retains tenure of office until rejected by the Senate. And it is known that there are some lawyers not particularly friendly to him who have the same opinion.

Mr. Pinchot, however, will point to precedents which he says favor his contention. After the special session of 1932 failed to act on the nominations of Gruenberg and Woodruff, he appointed them again the day after adjournment. He was advised to do so by the Department of Justice. Many lawyers hold that this action was unnecessary.

Sequel in Torrid Political Fight Seen

In view of the bitter feeling between Pinchot and King, formerly fast friends, the probable court battle is looked to as potential of political explosions of a startling nature. Dr. King has never participated much in the active play of politics, but he has been close in the Pinchot councils, both in the first administration and until the break a few weeks ago, which resulted in an acrimonious estrangement.

Dr. King is reported to have been dissatisfied with many things which went on in the second administration, but contrary to former practice, he was outvoted. Ultimately he was edged out of the picture, according to report, by associates of the Governor who resented his presence.

When he engages in a battle Dr. King pulls no punches. He is reported to be armed with some material which, while not bearing directly on his right to hold office, does have a collateral bearing on the break which occurred between himself and Mr. Pinchot.

No one in Harrisburg believes that the incident which precipitated the break, the failure of Dr. King to interpret officially some testimony he gave before the Senate Utilities Investigating Committee in a manner satisfactory to Mr. Pinchot, was sufficient to warrant the withering fire the Governor directed against his old friend. Dr. King unofficially did exactly what the Governor wished and subsequently the Governor said he and the commission chairman were in accord.

Circumstances Under Surface Suspected

But there was a quick veering, with the Governor shortly thereafter declaring that King had outlived his public usefulness.

It is generally accepted that there had been a cooling between the administration and King for some months, and that the incident before the Senate committee offered the long sought pretext for attempting to blast Dr. King clear out of Harrisburg.

Dr. King, however, refused to be blasted, and accused the Governor of attempting to play politics with the Public Service Commission.

Thus far he has not amplified that charge, though it has been reiterated. It is what lies back of that charge that it is interesting politicians of the state. They are desirous to know what form of politics the Governor was attempting to play and where, and whether Dr. King had any experience with the brand before he became a Public Service Commissioner.

The surest place for the story to become public would be in a court fight, with all the testimony taken under oath.

OFFICIALS WAR ON WITNESS FEE RACKET

Hint Prosecutions as Park Promises Plan To Halt Abuses

A new system to prevent the abuse of the witness fee privilege in Allegheny County was devised by officials here today.

Meanwhile, officials considered prosecution of fee racketeers.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park, Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley and Controller Robert G. Woodside told County Commissioners Charles C. McGovern and C. M. Barr that the new plan is "near perfect."

The new scheme, with a report from Main & Co., auditors, dealing with the phantom cases of Justices of the Pease and the witness fee racket, which have cost the county thousands of dollars yearly, will be presented to the Commissioners at a meeting at 3 p. m. Thursday.

Meeting with McGovern and Barr to report the agreement, Park told of the near perfect plan. McGovern said:

"If you can do that and if you don't do anything else during your whole term of office, you'll do more than any district attorney has ever done. But it should be an act of Assembly.

"You ought to take all fees away from policemen."

Park said:

"If you do, convictions will drop."

Of that, McGovern thought:

"It's a hell of a situation if you have to pay police officers money so they can raise their hands and swear.

"We've eliminated fees in all other police offices. The only ones getting fees today are political policemen and harness bulls"

COUNCIL TO GET WHARF PLAN

A wharf improvement plan for Water street and Duquesne way, with an estimated total cost of $2,348,000, has been approved by a special committee appointed by City Council.

The committee will meet Friday to put their proposition in final shape to submit to Council.

It is planned to improve the wharves from Smithfield street on the Monongahela River around the Point to Tenth street on the Allegheny. Two wide one-way boulevards would be constructed, the outer one resting on columns and connected with ramps to the sloping wharf below.

A plan to widen Water street 25 feet and connect it to the wharf with ramps has been rejected by the committee. The plan includes an eventual connection with the Liberty Bridge by way of a ramp from Water street and a two-level traffic circle at the Point.

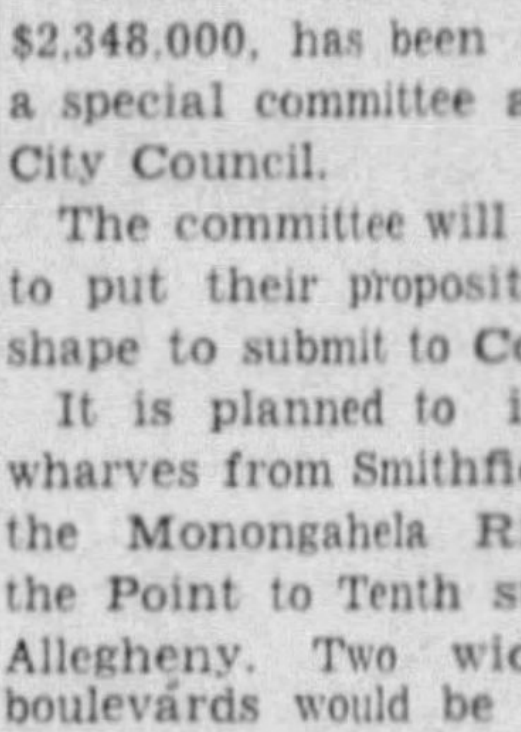
WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 25.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:



Will Rogers

I don't know whether this going off the gold is official or not. The French have vetoed it. They claim we have no right to go off the gold, and leave them high and dry on it. It seems like if you are on the gold, every nation in the world is out to get you. They all say, "What's the idea of that big bum having gold. Say, we will figure out a way to bump him off." But this is a time when you got to be ready for anything. I have got some old Cherokee Indian beads (or wampum). Suppose we go off the silver. Suppose we go off the paper. Well, look where I will be sitting with my wampum.

Yours,
WILL.

BODY OF BRIDGE LEAP VICTIM RECOVERED

Holdup Witness' Fear Of Reprisal Thought Cause of Suicide

Police today recovered the body of Clyde Hunter, 30, collector for the American Oil Company, who leaped to his death from the Thirty-first Street Bridge yesterday. It was taken from the Allegheny River at the foot of Twenty-second street by River Patrolman Charles Snyder. Hunter's leap was made a few hours before he was to have been the principal witness against a bandit in Criminal Court.

Fear of reprisals by bandits as a motive for the young collector's leap was strengthened today when James Liggett, of 803 Anaheim street, an uncle identified the body. Liggett said Hunter had told him he had frequently been followed after identifying Hubert King, 30, of Forty-second street. Yesterday Hunter was to have appeared against King at the latter's trial. King is accused of robbing Hunter of $1,300 last Christmas day at the service station at Ross street and Second avenue.

King was convicted April 13 as one of the bandits who held up and robbed the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton of $230 in the study of the Second Presbyterian Church.

Hunter lived at 7629 Bennett street. Besides his widow, he leaves a son, Billy, 1½ years old.

Hunter, in a farewell note to his wife, directed her to ask the detective what he told Hunter on the morning of the standup.

City Detective Walter Monaghan today answered that question. He said:

"I told Hunter this looked like an inside job, pulled by somebody familiar with the movements of the collectors."

FATHER, SON SENTENCED

Frank Mallinger, 55, was sentenced to six months in jail and a son, Saul, placed on probation two years by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today. The two were among more than two-score involved in the liquor conspiracy case in which Roxie Long was the chief government witness.

Twenty who had pleaded guilty, and 21 who had been convicted, had been sentenced April 10, but the Mallingers were withheld, due to the illness of the son. So far 12 have been granted permission to appeal. Counsel for the Mallingers said an appeal would be asked for them.

Collecting Defense Fund for Sandy

MRS. ETHEL CANNON AND HER DAUGHTER, MARILYN, MAKING SANDY'S ACQUAINTANCE

Mrs. Cannon, 627 Junilla street, with Sandy, the East Pittsburgh dog doomed to die for biting a 3-year-old child, as she started to raise a defense fund to appeal the sentence of Judge S. L. Reed to Superior Court. It will cost about $250. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Woman Raising Fund To Save Doomed Dog

Mrs. Ethel Cannon and her little daughter, Marilyn, of 627 Junilla street, have started a fund for the defense of Sandy, whose life, the law decreed, must be forfeited for biting a 3-year-old child.

The fund, Mrs. Cannon explained, is to be used to defray the expense of appealing the sentence of Judge S. L. Reed to Superior Court. The cost of the appeal will be approximately $250, Mrs. Cannon said she was informed.

Judge Reed will return to Pittsburgh from Cambria County May 15 to sentence Sandy's owner, Frank Sechan, of Elder street, North Versailles Township, for his failure to dispose of the dog. The execution of Sandy was a condition of the six-month parole of Sechan, who pleaded guilty of keeping a ferocious dog.

ONE LEGAL AVENUE OPEN

All legal avenues to save the dog's life, except a Superior Court appeal, have been exhausted, Attorney Charles D. Coll, who led the fight to have the death verdict rescinded, said.

Mrs. Mary Zawaski, of 111 Elder street, Sechan's neighbor, whose child was bitten by Sandy, yesterday appeared before Judge Samuel H. Gardner and demanded that the dog be shot.

She declared she was tired receiving letters from women wishing her sickness and death because she wouldn't agree to intercede for the dog's life. Judge Reed had indicated he would spare the dog provided Mrs. Zawaski was satisfied. Mrs. Zawaski wasn't.

AWAIT JUDGE'S RETURN

Judge Gardner told her he could do nothing until Judge Reed returned.

To show that Sandy was not a vicious dog, Mrs. Cannon entered him in a dog show Saturday in Gimbels and 1,800 men, women and children petted him and signed a petition to the effect that he was not a ferocious dog, Mrs. Cannon said.

Mrs. Cannon said she has corresponded with others interested in Sandy, and the fund which she announced today is already approaching the $50 mark, she said. Mrs. Cannon invites other lovers of dogs to contribute to the cause.

BRANDON FLAYS COYNE RULE

An attack on the politics of State Senator James J. Coyne was made last night by A. D. Brandon, former Morals Court Magistrate, in an address before the Adult Bible Class of the Lorenz Avenue Evangelical Church, West End.

He charged the city was run by and for the racketeers, and blamed "Jimmy Coyne's corrupt political machine." The "experts," whom he said estimated Pittsburgh's speakeasies at 1,300, "didn't know the half of it."

Asked what he thought about Franklin T. McQuaide, the new police superintendent, Brandon replied:

"He's all right—but I add that all politics are dominated by Coyne, and Coyne knows who he is placing, and he is not placing anybody there he cannot dominate."

Brandon charged police were aware of vice in the city, but were permitting it to exist. He said:

"If you think you can start a speakeasy without police protection, just try and start one."

Young Evangelist Speaks Tomorrow

The Lehman evangelistic party, of Wheeling, headed by Junior Lehman, 18-year-old evangelist, will conduct special services in the Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, tomorrow night. The group will be introduced by the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, pastor of the church.

The evangelistic party broadcasts religious services 12 hours each week over Station WWVA, Wheeling.

Trolley Jacked Up To Release Man, 85

Leon Prevost, 85, of the Jewish Home for Aged, was taken to the Homestead Hospital in a serious condition today after being hit by a street car at Brown's crossing on Brown's Hill.

It was necessary to jack up the car in order to release him. The hospital reported he has a broken leg and several body injuries.

TWO STATIONS TAKE PART IN CEREMONIES

Speakers of Three Creeds to Join In Worship

Two Pittsburgh radio stations will broadcast special President's Day programs next Sunday—WCAE and WJAS.

The WJAS program will be from 3 p. m. to 3:30, and the WCAE programs runs from 7:30 p. m. to 8.

Walter A. Jones, associate of M. L. Benedum, leading Roosevelt supporter, will be one of the speakers on the WCAE program.

CHORUS TO SING

On the WJAS list, arranged by Program Director James Hughes, the Neville Concert and Opera Chorus of 40 voices will provide the musical program, while the Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church; the Rev. A. J. Holl, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church, and Rabbi Herman Hailperin, of the Tree of Life Congregation, will each give five-minute prayers of gratitude and hope for spiritual guidance for the nation's chief executive.

J. Rogers Flannery, industrialist and prominent Catholic layman, today added his commendation of President's Day to those of other faiths and fields.

GREAT EFFORT NEEDED

Declaring the program for the revival of trade and the help of American unemployed requires a great purpose and untiring effort, he said:

"The more the adversities of the day face me, the more religious-minded I become. I feel that prayer for the President—and a day set aside for that especially—is a fine thing.

"There is no man so big or great, it seems to me, who doesn't need it. Man goes up and down. God always stays up."

GRAHAM, REID TO CONFER

United States Attorney Louis E. Graham today planned to confer with Attorney Earl F. Reed, named by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings as special assistant to Graham to conduct the federal grand jury probe of alleged vote frauds in the Muldowney-Felix and Erk-Brooks congressional elections last fall.

Reed's appointment came as a surprise.

The federal grand jury will convene Monday, but the contemplated election probe is not expected to get under way before the middle of the week in order to allow Attorney Graham to dispose of other investigations.

Attorney Reed was the special prosecutor in the grand jury investigation and prosecution of former Mayor Charles H. Kline, and former Supplies Director Bertram L. Succop, in the Butler County Court.

Guessing Game In Washington Is Open to All

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

New political game in Washington. It's guess-what's-going-to-happen.

All the diplomatic soothsayers, second-guessers and gypsy fortune tellers went out with the old administration and will not be reappointed by Jim Farley.

So we are all in complete darkness up until the moment we get a fierce sunburn.

There are no telephone leaks, there is no grapevine nor White House spokesman. Nobody knows a thing until it is in the newspapers.

Curiosity killed the cat. Information brought it to life again.

If MacDonald and Herriot visit the White House today we will guarantee they will wait up for the morning papers to find out what happened.

Wading Sister Rescues 'Sonny'—And Slaps Him

Near-tragedy turned to comedy in Bridgeville yesterday. Sonny Durbin, 4, and his sister Elvira, 6, of Fryer avenue, went for a stroll before dinner along the banks of Chartiers Creek with six playmates. Tragedy stepped in when Sonny tripped and fell headlong into the creek, striking his head on a rock.

The water is shallow, but Sonny is not tall. The other children screamed and cried and Sonny continued to gurgle and splash in the muddy water. His sister Elvira decided Sonny should come out.

Elvira cannot swim, but she has done some wading in her time, and wade she did. When she reached Sonny the water was up to her waist. She seized him and scrambled back to shore.

Sonny, having a sore head and being half full of water, expected some consolation. Instead he was scolded and slapped by his savior and yanked home to his mother, Mrs. William Durbin.

FEDERAL QUIZ INTO U. S. DAM WAGE SCALE

The War Department is investigating reports of low wages and favoritism to alien workers on the new Aspinwall lock and dam in the Allegheny River.

The work is being done by the Vang Construction Company. Complaints have been made by officials of the American Legion and the State Department of Labor.

An investigation has also been asked by Representatice-elect Henry Ellenbogen, who has been in touch with the Secretary of War.

An affidavit has been submitted to show that Edward Dill, an ex-service man, was compelled to pay $2 to the Budd Davis Employment Agency, 505 Second avenue, to get a job and that after working at the dam for a month and paying commissary charges had nothing to show for his labor but a pair of shoes.

Dill said foreigners were favored for work on the project.

Maj. W. D. Styer, chief of United States Engineers in the Pittsburgh district, has made his report to Washington on conditions at the dam. At Washington, it is said the investigation was progressing satisfactorily.

According to several affidavits, laborers were paid 30 cents an hour and and employed five hours a day. Ellenbogen said:

"Even if these laborers are working the maximum of six days a week, they are making only $9 a week, which is less than a decent wage. This does not seem to me to be carrying out the new deal promised by President Roosevelt."

Ellenbogen has declared that if the War Department investigation does not prove satisfactory, he will appeal to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and to Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labor.

JOBLESS BUILD 'MODEL' HOME

Without even the proverbial shoestring and using borrowed land and building material, four unemployed Pittsburgh architects have completed a modern six-room "Hillside Home" in Valley road, Aspinwall.

Charles Scott, Ulric Schoenberger, Paul Schell and John Barr, graduates of Carnegie Institute of Technology, confronted by the slump in construction projects, promoted their own building and land company eight months ago.

They borrowed material, got the land from Frederick Sauer, Sharpsburg architect and builder, and set to work on their house.

Now the architect-builders have become salesmen and have launched a campaign to sell their house, which they describe as the last word in fireproof construction, concrete throughout, and having three porches.

Catholic League Plans Study Club

Plans for the organization of a study club were made last night at a meeting of the St. Lawrence Catholic Action League. The meeting was in St. Lawrence Church Hall, Penn and Atlantic avenues. The Rev. Philip A. Callery and Miss Margaret Shanley were the principal speakers.

Day-Time Meteor Seen in Oklahoma

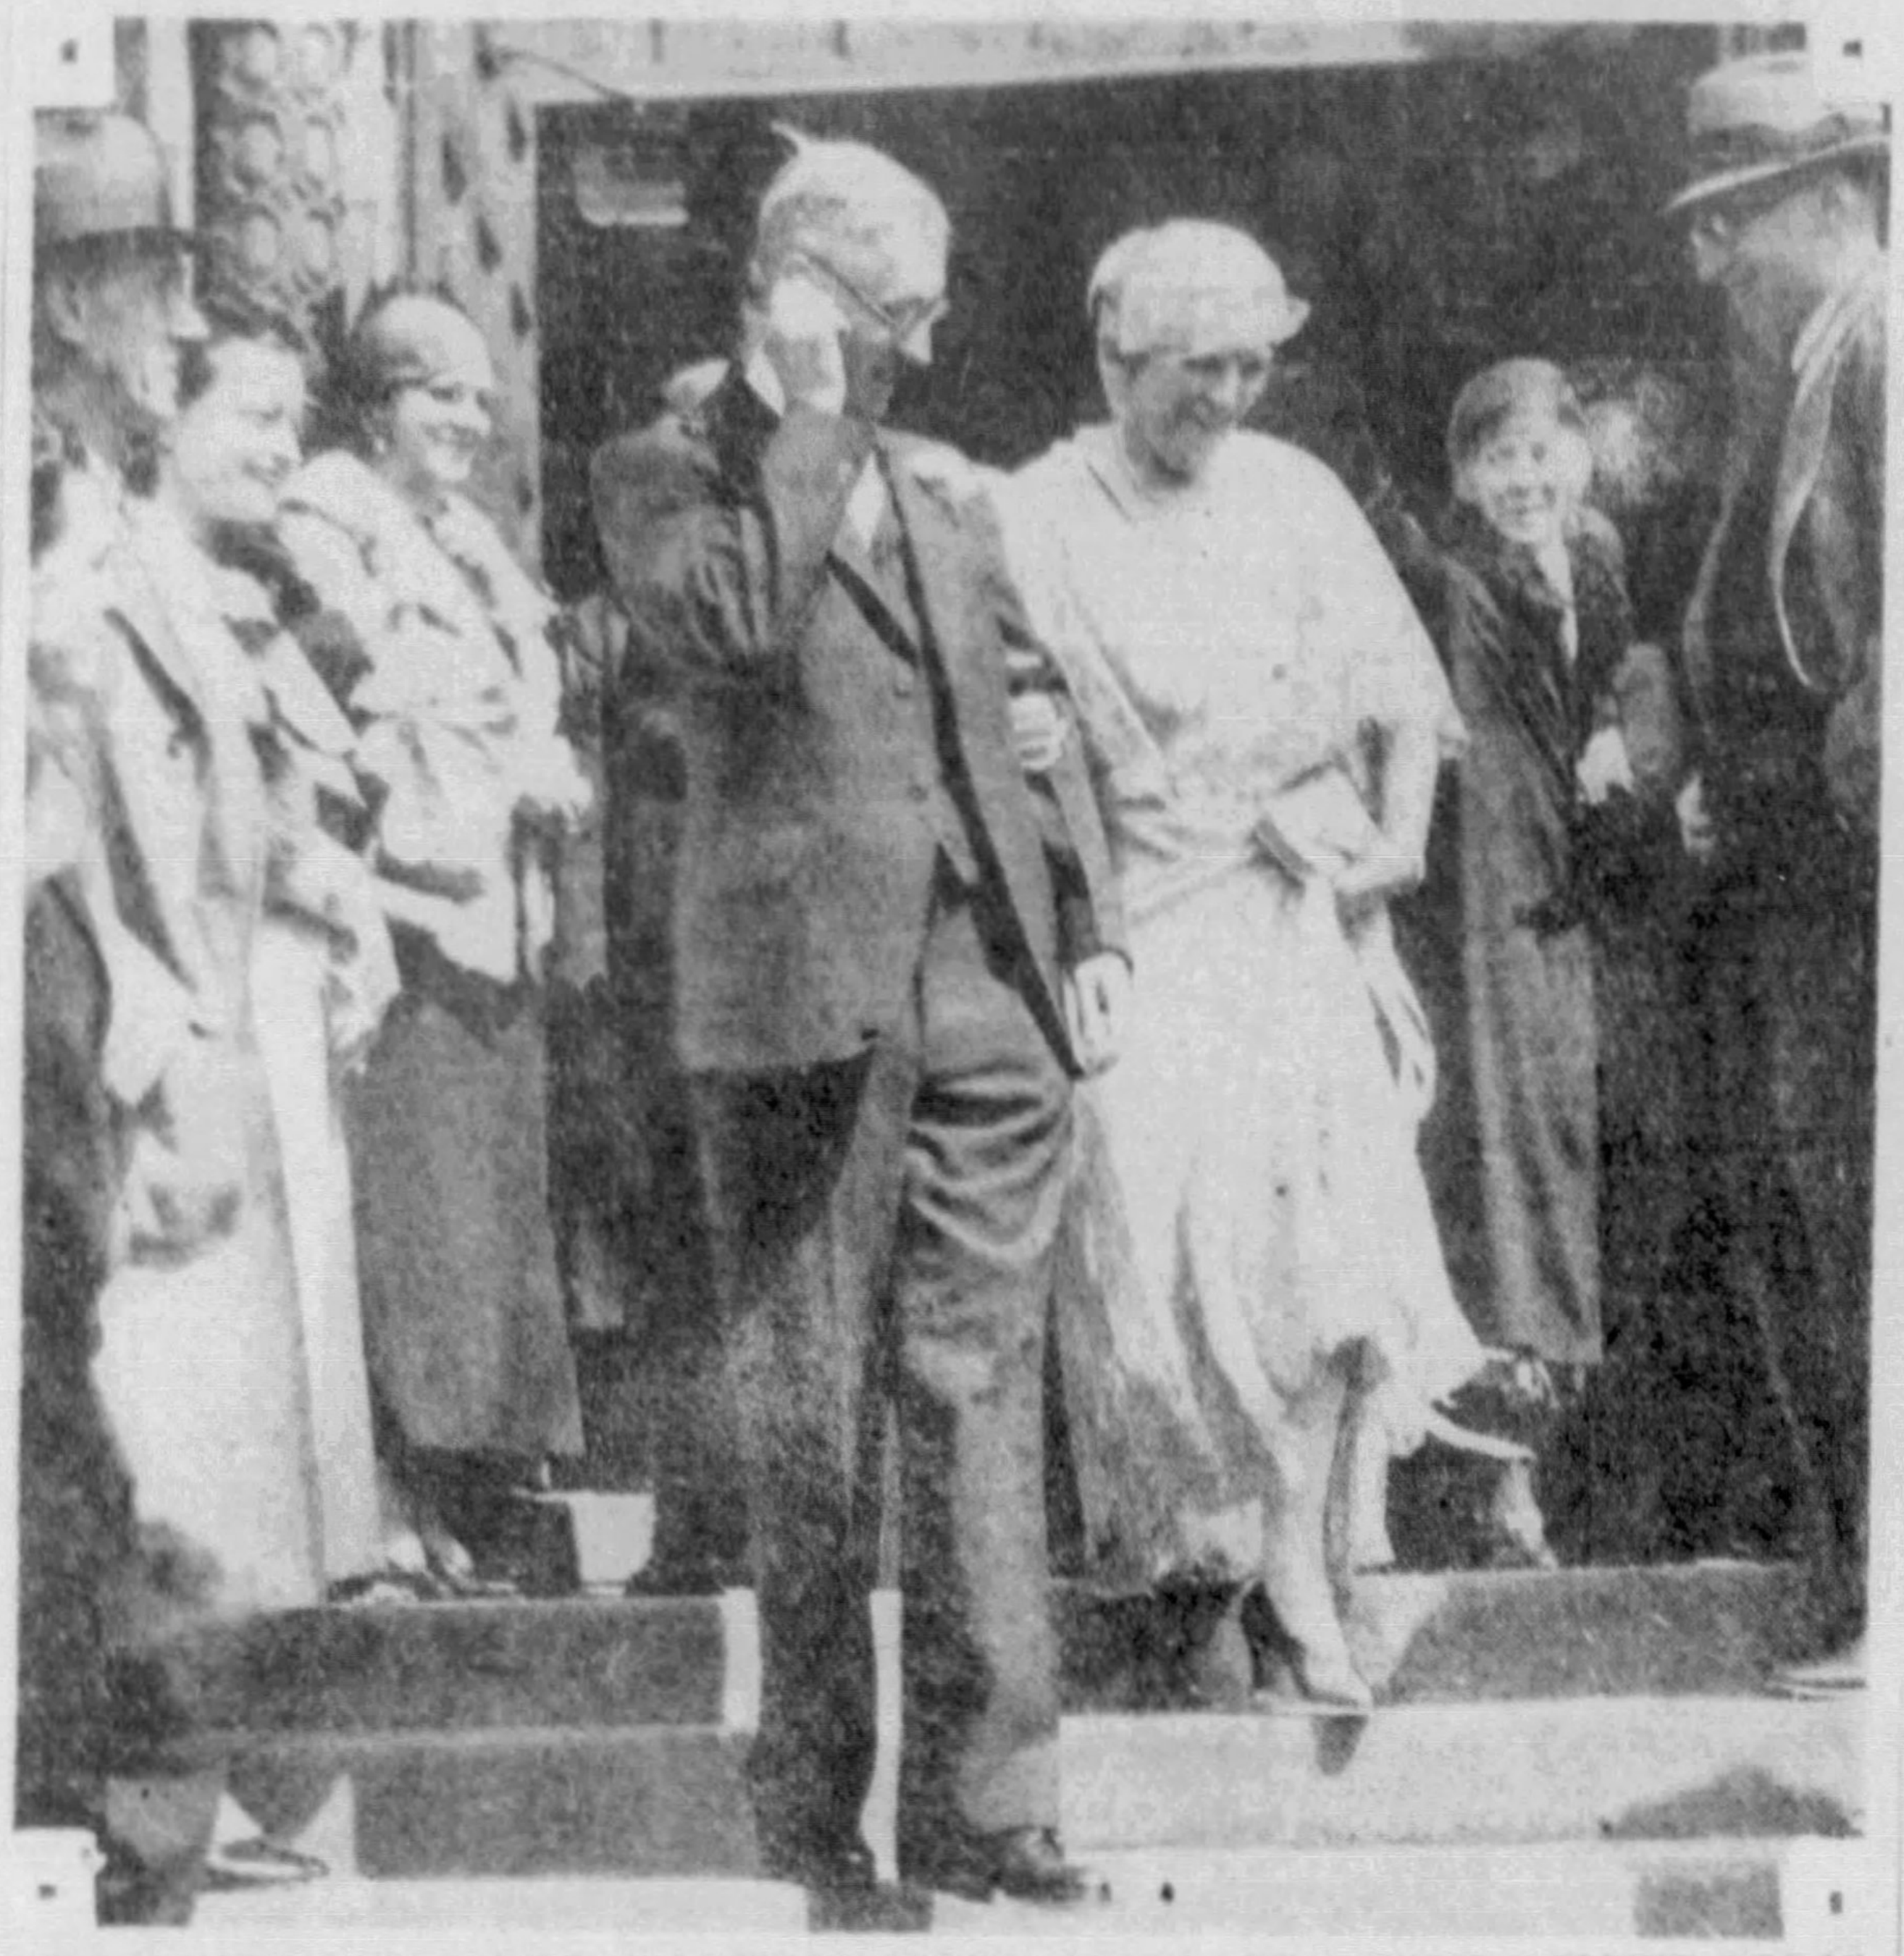
SENATOR COYNE'S COUSIN AND HIS BRIDE



MR. AND MRS. LUKE COYNE LEAVING ST. AGNES CHURCH AFTER THEIR WEDDING TODAY

Mr. Coyne, 3325 Ward street, and his bride, the former Miss Mary M. Fahey, 3323 Ward street, leaving St. Agnes, Oakland, after their wedding today. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

COYNE'S COUSIN WEDS NEIGHBOR

A neighborly romance in Oakland culminated today in a wedding at St. Agnes Catholic Church, Fifth avenue and Robinson street.

The principals were Luke Coyne, of 3325 Ward street, a cousin of State Senator James J. Coyne, and his next door neighbor, Miss Mary N. Fahey, at No. 3323.

The two had been friends for years. Coyne, middle aged, is employed in the postoffice department. His bride is the daughter of the late Patrick J. Fahey, formerly a well known business man. Five hundred attended the wedding. Senator Coyne was unable to be present because of pressure of work at Harrisburg.

Two Horse Thieves Get 5-Year Terms

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 25.—The first horse thieves sentenced in Greene County in 25 years drew five-year penitentiary sentences. George Dillow, 24, and John Sapic, 2, of Fayette County, pleaded guilty to stealing a team from Steve Babrick near Mapletown and swapping the horses for a cow, a calf and a watch.

Beaten by Three, Injured Man Says

Found dazed at South Eighteenth and Sarah streets early today, Stanley Rycknek, 23, of 159 South Eighteenth street, told police he had been beaten by three men. Rycknek was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was said he had suffered a probable fracture of the skull.

Jersey Senate Votes New Narcotics Law

TRENTON, N. J., April 25.—(Universal.)—President Emerson Richards, of the New Jersey State Senate, last night signed the uniform state narcotic act. This act was passed at the last session of the State Senate. It now goes to the Assembly, where prospects of its passage next week are assured. Gov. A. Harry Moore has stated that he heartily approves the act and will sign it.

Pirates to Attend Opera at Mosque

After taking on the St. Louis Cardinals at Forbes Field Saturday, the Pirates will change into tuxedos to hear "Carmen" as guests of the International Grand Opera Company in Syria Mosque.

President William E. Benswanger, Vice President Sam Watters, Manager George Gibson and the team, will find a baseball enthusiast singing the leading role of the opera. Carmela Ponselle, mezzo-soprano, describes herself as an "ardent fan."

FOREST 'ARMY' DETRAINS AT KANE

KANE, Pa., April 25.—Pittsburgh's vanguard of the Civilian Conservation Corps, numbering 800 tan-faced youths, moved into the heart of Allegheny National Forest today.

A combination of quiet efficiency and exuberant horseplay marked the detrainment of the contingents at their various encampment points near here.

One group of 215 men was taken to Heart's Content by motor truck, as was another detachment to Dunkle's Corners, because of the rough woodland trails.

The Pebble Dell unit of 219 was unloaded almost at the camp site by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and marched in open order to their shelters.

Each outfit carried five-day rations and was well tented as members, for the first time, were confronted by the actual magnitude of their job. The entire reforestation project will be in their hands, with only grading work and water supply furnished by Allegheny national supervisory officials.

CONGRESS QUIZ LISTS MACON

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS.)—A thorough-going investigation of not only the Akron disaster itself, but of her new sistership, the Macon, and the whole question of the advisability of continuing lighter-than-air construction, was determined upon today at the first session of the joint congressional committee named to conduct an inquiry.

The Macon is to be brought to Lakehurst, N. J., for committee purposes soon as her trials are completed and she has been accepted by the Navy. The Macon is now at Akron.

DRIVE TO STOP CRIME GAIN OPENS HERE

Crime, bred by unemployment, will cost the nation more than relief, if prevention is neglected, in the opinion of Attorney Cornelius D. Scully.

Scully is a member of the National Probation Association, of which Charles Evans Hughes Jr., is president, and is sponsoring a drive for funds for the organization in this district. He said:

"A few years from now, the depression, we hope, will have been forgotten, but the criminal population will be larger or smaller by what we do now to prevent crime. Unemployment breeds recruits for the ranks of crime, mostly from among the young. But if our youthful offenders can be given wise counsel and firm, friendly help by a well-organized juvenile court with understanding probation officers, a great majority of them can be saved and the cost of crime diminished."

Checks payable to the National Probation Association may be mailed to Mr. Scully, Frick Building.

'TORTURE TRIAL' ROMANCE

TALLAHASSE, Fla., April 25.—(Universal.)—Although rumors of a romance between Mrs. Julia Maillefert, of Westfield, N. J., whose son died in a Florida prison camp "sweatbox," and one of the prisoners who testified to cruelty inflicted on the youth before his death, persist, both principals deny that anything more than friendship exist between them.

Mrs. Maillefert, it was disclosed today, appeared recently before the prison board and pleaded for the release of Jim Travis, a long termer, and other prisoners who testified at the trial which resulted in the conviction of a prison warden.

According to Judge Andrews, chief clerk of the Prison Board, the woman said she would marry Travis if he is released.

Men on Relief Jobs Demand Short Week

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(INS.)—One-third of the 90 men put to work on idle relief projects in Dane County were on strike today, demanding a five-hour day and a five-hour week.

BARTER GROUP PLANS MORE INDUSTRIES

Planned to create new and diversified industries for the Pittsburgh district, while aiding the unemployed, a sponsoring committee today was being organized for the Barter, Service and Food Exchange with representation from all social, welfare and civic groups.

A seven-story building at 110 Wood street already has been donated to the exchange by Edgar J. Kaufmann, who will serve on the committee, according to Congressman-elect Henry Ellenbogen, who has headed the exchange since its inception several months ago. Two adjoining buildings also will be donated as needed, he said.

PLAN OUTLINED

The tentative plan, to be studied by the sponsoring committee, calls for the establishing of laundries, shoe repair departments and clothing alteration plants which will be expanded to include shoes, clothing, shirt and other factories calling for production no a barter system. A wage board will be established.

Many groups were represented at a committee organization meeting yesterday in Hotel William Penn. Among groups represented were Community Councils, City Welfare Department, Federation of Social Agencies, Central Labor Council, Retail Merchants' Association, Sharpsburg Bartercraft, League for Social Justice, Allegheny County Medical Association, Chamber of Commerce and Allied Boards of Trade. Mrs. Frances Tyson, assistant secretary in the State Welfare Department, attended.

Besides permanent representation by these groups on the sponsoring committee, Ellenbogen declared the success of the plan will demand members from the Allegheny County Emergency Association and Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh.

NEEDS LARGE PROGRAM

To succeed, the plan needs a large program, Dr. Boris Stern, who has completed a two-month survey for the United States Department of Labor, told the group. Production by manufacturing, rather than employment on odd jobs, is necessary to assure a permanent benefit, he said.

The plan suggested had been worked out by Dr. Stern, Ellenbogen and Clyde Fellows. The committee being formed will build a permanent structure from this plan.

Small production activities will be centered in the Wood street building. Necessary working capital will be sought through private and public subscriptions, according to the present suggestions.

SCARF CHOKES THRIFTY WIDOW

OMAHA, April 25.—(AP.)—All her life, Mrs. Carrie Stevens, 73, a widow, toiled and saved her pennies.

To conserve expenses she lived in a remodeled barn, where she was strangled to death yesterday when a scarf she was wearing caught in the wringer of a washing machine.

They found a sack in her clothing. In it was $1,800.

Purse Thief Robs Woman Near Home

Bertha Todd, of 1411 West North avenue, reported to North Side police today that a man had snatched her purse as she neared her home last night. The purse, she said, contained $1.

Theft of $200 in jewelry was reported to East End police today by Miss M. McCloskey, a school teacher of 1125 South Negley avenue. The thief entered her home by forcing a front door, Miss McCloskey said.

DETROIT BANKS PAY DIVIDENDS

DETROIT, April 25.—(AP.)—This was "D and E" day at offices of the closed First National Bank of Detroit as that institution and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce continued paying 30 per cent to depositors whose funds have been tied up since the beginning of the Michigan bank holiday in February.

All day yesterday — banking hours were extended until 8 p. m.—customers lined up at the old banks and their branches to receive their checks, and many of them went at once to the new National Bank of Detroit to cash them and then to stores to spend the money.

The First National yesterday had money for those whose names begin with A. B. and C. and the alphabetical payment will continue for 10 days or so. "First come, first served" is the rule at the Guardian.

Boy Found Hanged Declared Suicide

SALLISAW, Okla., April 25.—(AP.)—Suicide was the formal conclusion today of Sequoyah County officers who investigated the hanging of 11-year-old Buck Brannam in the Brushy Mountains northeast of here Friday.

County Attorney Fred Green and others said they were convinced the child climbed to a limb in a tree near his home, tied a rope around his neck, fastened it to the limb and jumped.

Police Hold Man In Party Shooting

Andre Di Steffano, 48, of 204 Camden street, was held over following a hearing in Mt. Washington Police Court, pending the outcome of a gunshot wound suffered by Carl Belletti, 36, of 717 Independence street, last week.

Belletti was shot during a party at the Camden street address, and is in South Side Hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen. Di Steffano walked into the South Side Police Station early today and told police he had "heard he was wanted" for the shooting.

REDUCE NOW WITHOUT THYROID WITHOUT SALTS WITHOUT DIET

Science finds absolutely safe way to lose ugly fat.

Here's wonderful news for women who want to make their figures slim and lovely. A great physician, who has specialized in research with the Pasteur Institute of Paris and famous clinics of America, has discovered an absolutely harmless tablet that will take off 8 or 10 pounds a month.

Now it is absurd for anyone to take dangerous drugs, or a daily dose of laxative salts that rushes food through the system half digested, and leads to chronic constipation. The new treatment contains no Thyroid Extract, no laxative drugs at all. It is a safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies.

You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three ample meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it. We will donate $500 to charity if anyone can prove that Vannay contains Thyroid, Iodine or any harmful drugs.

Start the treatment at once and all your fondest dreams of health and slim loveliness should come true. Ask your druggist for Vannay and be sure to see that name on the package. If he doesn't have Vannay, insist that he orders it for you.

STEEL MEN HIT SALES AT LOSS

The practice of selling below cost must be abolished before an upturn in industry can be realized, O. W. Irwin, of Youngstown, O., retiring president of the Concrete Reinforcing Steel Institute declared at the annual meeting of the institute today in the William Penn Hotel.

He stressed the value of organized effort along this line by using the "Buy American" campaign as an illustration. As a result, he said, imported reinforcing steel dropped 93 per cent when such products revealed they were foreign-made.

W. H. Fouch, of New York, was elected the new president of the institute.

EVEREST FLIERS REACH DELHI

DELHI, India, April 25.—(By wireless) — The Marquess of Clydesdale, E. C. Shepherd, correspondent, and three mechanics of the Houston Mt. Everest flight expedition have arrived in Delhi in the two planes used in the flights over Everest. The machines are due to spend the night at Jodhpur and will arrive in Karachi Wednesday to be put in crates and shipped home.

Air Commodore P. F. M. Fellowes, Col. L. V. Stewart Blacker and Col. P. T. Etherton have left Purnea for Darjeeling to help make a section of the expedition's film.

Lord Clydesdale is sailing from Bombay on the 29th, while Col. Blacker is flying home, planning to leave May 1. From Karachi, one of the Puss Moth planes is being flown home by Commodore Fellowes, with Mrs. Fellowes as passenger. Flight Lieut. D. F. McIntyre and Flying Officer R. C. W. Ellison are flying another Moth back to England.

Prison Sentence Question Brings Different Ideas

Should bad boys be saved from consequences?

And if they are, will they square around and get to be regular citizens?

Or will it make bums of them?

Not long ago a distracted mother, Mrs. Albright, asked us that question. Her boy had been passing bad checks. It wasn't the first time. Always, before, she had sacrificed her own bit of money to make them good, and always he's promised to ''do better.'' This time, too, she could get him off, if she sacrificed her savings.

But where would it all lead? And would she be helping or harming the boy if she did?

We printed her S. O. S. Back came the answer. Close your eyes and, before you read further, decide what your answer would be. Then go on with the story.

"Don't give him up to the law," says Mrs. H. "Help him again. He's been thrown with the wrong kind of company. I don't believe that any boy is viciously bad. At his age, pride and conceit play a large part in his life; he wants to "keep up with the crowd" and spend with the freedom of others who spend. That's part of his modern upbringing.

"Probably the girl he stole to impress thinks he has plenty of financial backing. If I were that mother, I'd appeal to her, and see if she couldn't influence the boy.

"But I say he should not be allowed to go to prison. I have known of a far, far worse case, where a mother came to her son's rescue time and time again, until she ceased to hope. Then one day the right girl came along and actually changed him altogether—which was the mother's compensation for her anguish and despair.

"So this poor, distraught mother should hang on, help him, and try to make him see things in a better light."

Is that the way you see it?

A SIMILAR CASE

M. R. R. paints another side of the picture.

"My dear Mrs. Albright," she writes, "I'm not going to advise you one way or another, but I would like to tell you a story that may help you make your decision.

"Eight years ago I married one of the most attractive men I ever met. He was charming and suave and had every opportunity. He had two brothers, but he was unquestionably the 'social asset' of the family.

"But the truth was that all his life he had gotten into one scrape after another—most of them I didn't find out about until years later—but after each one his family always came to the rescue and either 'paid him out' or 'got him out' of his difficulties; first, because they thought they were helping him, and, second, because the family was prominent and didn't want his scrapes known.

"His personality was such that you couldn't 'hold it against him,' and each time he 'was going to do better.' He never did, though. He got away with too much and thought he always could.

UNHAPPY CONSEQUENCES

"So today I am left with two beautiful little girls to support, and it is a hard battle, for I never had any training for business. He is in prison for embezzlement. Our home, our possessions, all were swept away almost overnight. Our personal feelings were not spared, for his disgrace was broadcast on the radio; and to top it off, his dissipations made him ill and his face is paralyzed for life.

"After this experience I'd say, if your son were mine, 'Let him take whatever his medicine may be.' I believe taking the conquences will help him mend his ways before he drags anyone else into the picture, and perhaps has children to suffer from his disgrace. It may make a man of him. It is a chance, horrible though it may be—but it's no worse than the misery it may bring if he doesn't learn now."

That's a true picture of how too much coddling brought wreckage!

Would "a prison rap" have prevented this tragedy, or would it have made this man a still more vicious criminal?

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Defensive Strategy

When the partner of the Opening leader holds three cards of the suit opened, including the Ace-Queen, and the King does not show up in Dummy, the usual play for Third Hand is the Ace, followed by the return of the Queen. Often, however, this is very bad defensive strategy, as it permits the Declarer, who is probably marked with the King of the suit, to retain that card until Third Hand is void, and thus, perhaps, assure the making of a contract that would otherwise be defeated. Whether the Ace or the Queen should be played often depends upon other considerations in connection with the hand—the question of entries, the likelihood of Declarer making game at once and the possibility of blocking partner's suit. Of course, with Ace-Queen alone, if partner is marked with a re-entry, the Ace should be played and then the Queen, as otherwise the suit is almost certain to be blocked. There are many situations, holding three cards of the suit, when the Queen should be chosen as the play to the first trick, one of which is illustrated on the hand below, which was played in a recent Duplicate game in Cleveland, O.:

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North:
♠ 9 5 4
♡ K 7 3
◇ K Q 9
♣ A J 8 2

♠ A Q 3
♡ A Q 4
◇ 10 7 5 2

East:
♠ 7 6 2
♡ J 8 5 2
◇ 8 6 3
♣ 10 4 3

South:
♠ K J 10 8
♡ 10 9 6
◇ A J 4
♣ K Q 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 N T (1)	Pass
3 N T (2)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—There are 2½ honor-tricks in the hand, and one notrump would be an adequate bid.

2—South has additional values, and, of course, over this nearly-Forcing bid naturally bids for game.

East's Opening lead was the heart 2, and at most tables West won with the Ace and returned the Queen. Where this was done, North, of course, appreciating the advantages of the hold-up, declined to play the King until the third round of the suit, and thus made game, losing only two hearts and two spades.

At one table Mr. Philip E. Leon was the West player, and instead of playing the Ace to the first lead, he put on the Queen. This North felt compelled to win, being uncertain from the lead as to the location of the Ace of the suit and fearing that if he failed to take the heart trick West would continue the suit and all the tricks in it would be made against him. This, in addition to the spade Ace, which must be lost, would insure the defeat of the contract.

Of course, had the Declarer known the distribution of the heart suit, he still could have safely refused to win the first round, but, fearing the worst, his task was made much more difficult and, in consequence, a little thought in the way of defense brought about the defeat of a contract which would have been made against less thoughtful defense.

TODAY'S QUESTION

When a call has been made out of turn, under certain conditions, the rule states that the offender's partner is barred from bidding "when next it is his turn," etc., etc.

Is it the intent of this rule to prohibit the offender's partner from all participation in the bidding on that hand, or is it the intent to prohibit only his bidding on the first round and permit him to enter the bidding on the second round if the bidding goes that far?

Answer: Partner of the offender is barred from that round of the contracting only and not from further participation in the contracting as under the old laws.

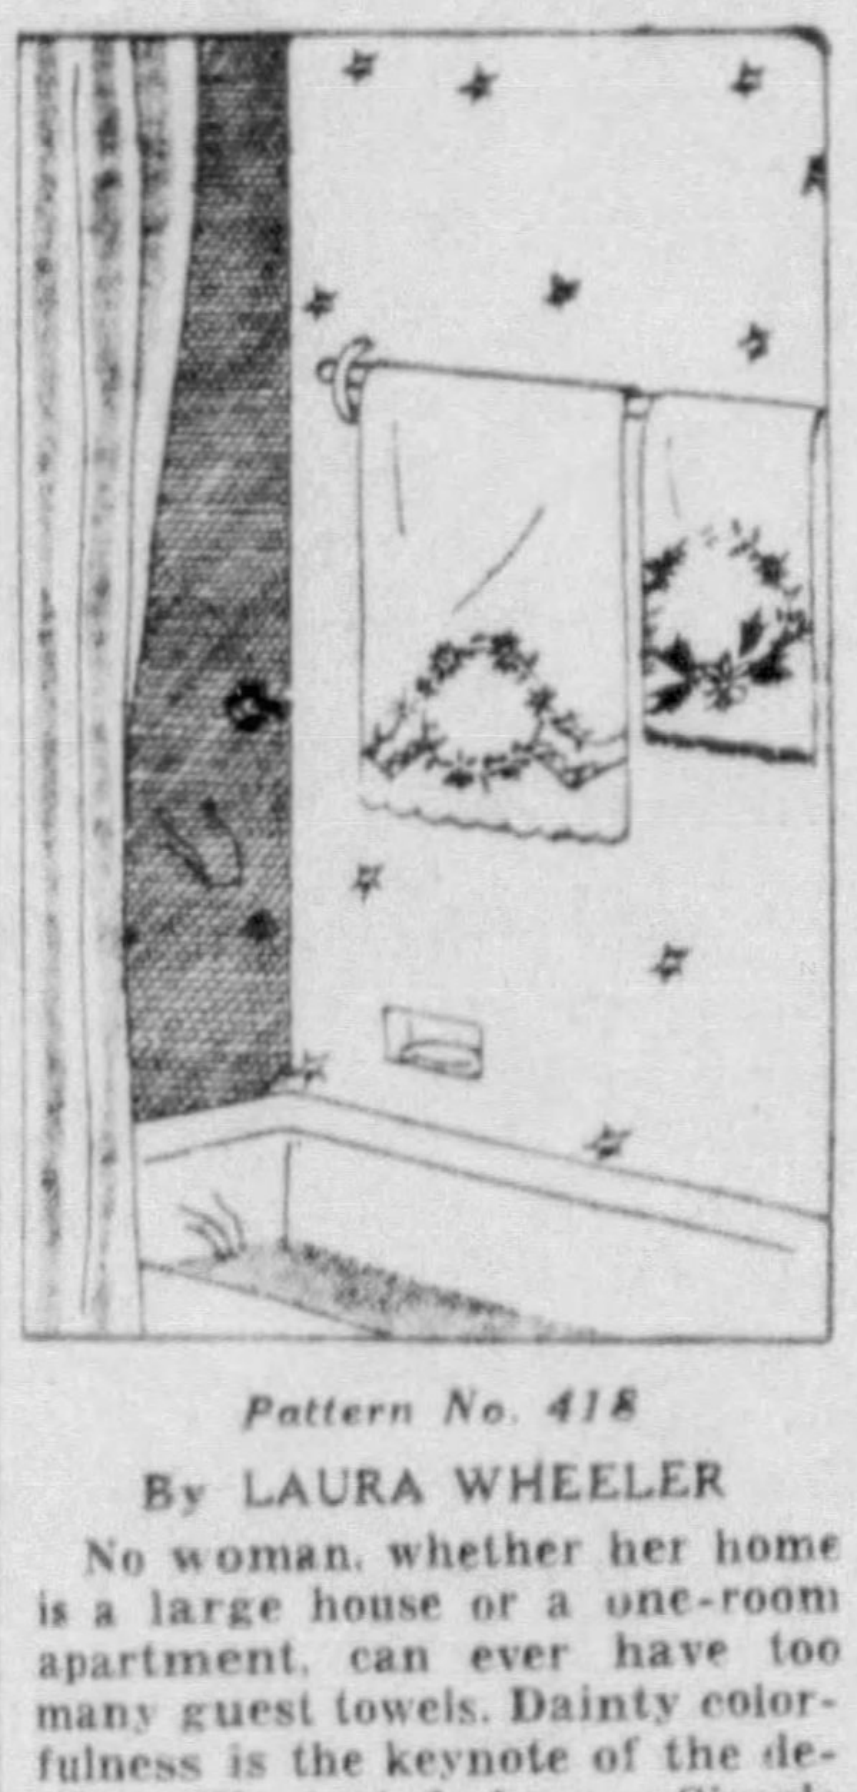
Dainty Colorfulness In Guest Towels



Pattern No. 418

By LAURA WHEELER

No woman, whether her home is a large house or a one-room apartment, can ever have too many guest towels. Dainty colorfulness is the keynote of the designs illustrated here. Simple embroidery stitches are used to make them. Either motif permits the addition of an initial in the center of the design, a feature that appeals especially to the young bride.

These are only two of the five motifs that comprise the pattern. They may be used on scarves, card table covers, curtains and frilly boudoir pillows. Detailed embroidery and color suggestions are included with each pattern.

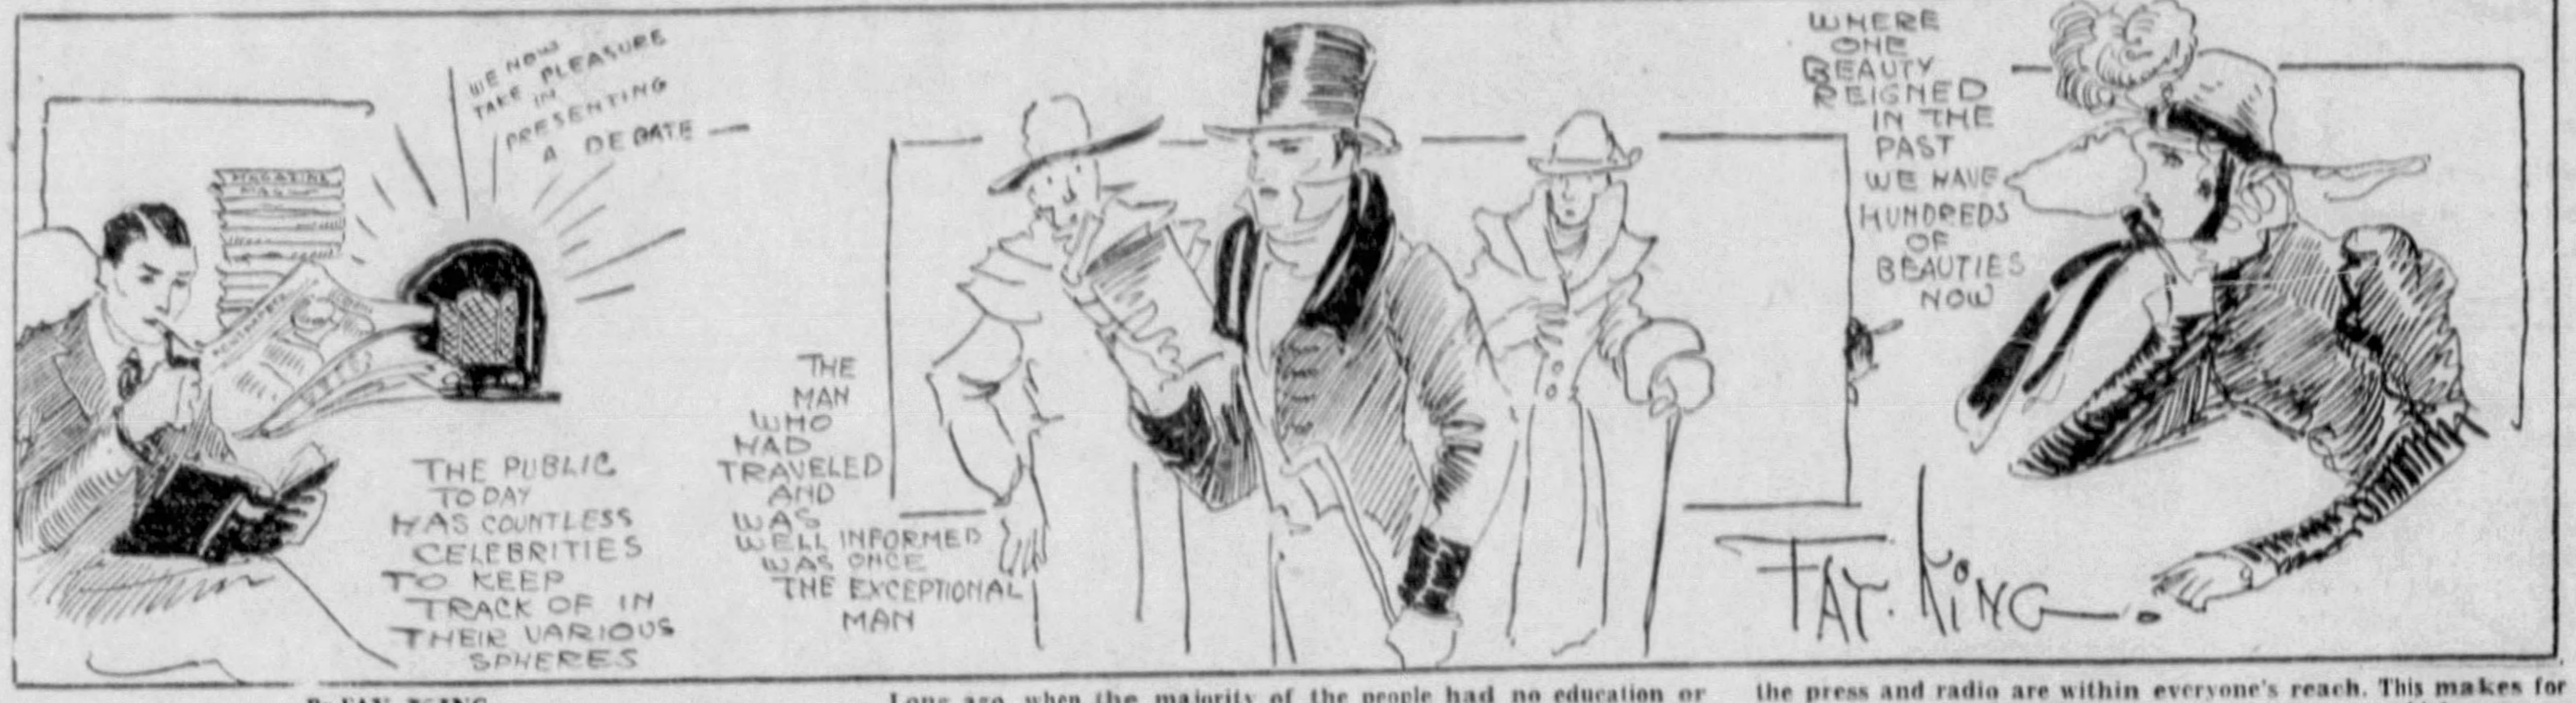
Present Produces More Noteworthy Personalities Than the Past---Fay King



WE NOW TAKE PLEASURE IN PRESENTING A DEBATE —
THE PUBLIC TODAY HAS COUNTLESS CELEBRITIES TO KEEP TRACK OF IN THEIR VARIOUS SPHERES
THE MAN WHO HAD TRAVELED AND WAS WELL INFORMED WAS ONCE THE EXCEPTIONAL MAN
WHERE ONE BEAUTY REIGNED IN THE PAST WE HAVE HUNDREDS OF BEAUTIES NOW
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Some say that present times have not produced outstanding personalities like the past.

On the contrary, notables are so numerous now none predominates much.

Long ago, when the majority of the people had no education or opportunity, they stood in mighty awe of the fortunate few who excelled. This contrast and concentrated admiration made the few seem so great.

Today every person is far advanced. Education and opportunity are common. The facilities for keeping abreast of world affairs via the press and radio are within everyone's reach. This makes for an equality of mind which diminishes that difference which once made enlightenment so exceptional and remarkable and respected.

Everybody can be somebody now, considered great in his own orbit. Opportunity beckons to all.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Overhears Plan of Owen's Gang

Behind our screen of bushes Ronald and I crouched motionless, fearing to move or speak, almost to breathe, lest the two men following Charles Owen should hear us.

With a sudden flash of memory, I put my lips close to his ear.

"Neither of those men is Brown," I whispered. "Not big enough. And all the rest of our men were engaged in the attack on the house. These must be members of Owen's own gang, don't you think?"

Ronald nodded, and as the footfalls of the men could no longer be heard, ventured a murmured query of his own.

"But why aren't they with him, then, instead of trailing him?"

"Careful! They're coming back!" I warned him quickly, as I heard the sound of footfalls coming toward us from the direction in which Owen and the men had disappeared. We crouched down again, and I knew Ronald's heart must be echoing the terror that was in mine, lest this delay would lose Owen's trail for us.

The footsteps were slower this time, and to our consternation, stopped directly in front of our hiding place. Was it possible that they had detected our presence, and had come back to—

"What d'ye think of the big stiff's sending us back?" one man asked of the other, and we were eased of one fear. They had not stopped because of us.

LISTEN TO MEN

"Think! There's only one thing to think, and that is that the ——— ——— has double-crossed us."

The epithets with which he consigned Owen to an eternity of woe were unprintable.

"That's about right," the other man said. "He thinks he can do without us now, and that nobody'll be able to find out what he's done with the girl, or even who he is. He always made me sick, anyway, with that mask stuff, and doing everything through Smitty. But he slipped a cog tonight, all right. You saw his face, didn't you, when the girl tore his mask off?"

"Yep. I'd know him again anywhere."

"And she named him, too; Charles—Charles Owen—that's it. Well; that ought to be nuts for us. We'll get a few more details out of Smitty without his getting wise, and then we'll take us a little trip and hunt this bird. He's a sort of a swell, Smitty says, and we ought to be able to smoke him out, sooner or later."

"Suppose he takes the girl out of the country?"

"He's got to come back sometime, hasn't he? Smitty says he's going to marry the girl, with a pistol held to her head, I guess, so that he can get hold of some property she has. He told Smitty the girl was strong for him; that she was only holding back on account of her folks."

TO LEAVE SECTION

Ronald's head went up, and I clapped my hand over his lips. He nodded, and I released it, confident that he would not dash out and challenge the man's scurrilous falsehood.

"That makes it all the better. There'll be a tidy bit of coin to be picked up when we find this bird, and we'll find him in time. Well, let's get along. I want to get away from this section as soon as I can.

"Did you hear those axes? There must have been somebody with brains in that outfit! Smitty thought he had 'em bluffed, but he slipped on a banana peel that time. If we get out of here without being nabbed we'll be lucky."

"They don't want us," the second man said. "Don't you remember Smitty said there weren't any police angles in this; that the girls' folks didn't want any publicity."

"But they want the girls," retorted the first man, "and they've only got one. If the men behind those axes are hunting the one that this bird Owen is toting down the mountain, I don't want to get in their way."

"Me, neither. Let's cut down the other side to Bill's, and lie low there for a day or two. Smitty said we were to meet him in a week, and divide the coin—whatever there is. Not so much, now that they didn't get ransom money."

"There won't be enough to hold a dead cat's eye down," the first man said pessimistically. And then they started on their way again.

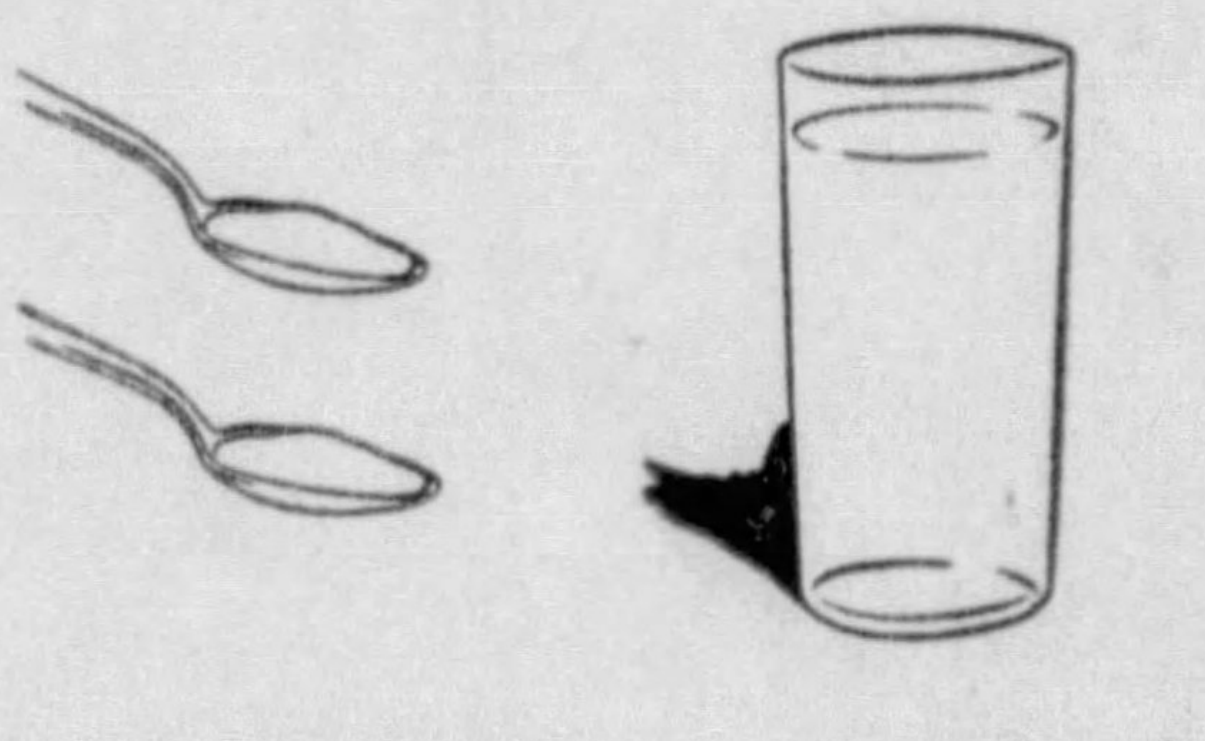
SIMPLE TO GET RID OF ACID STOMACH NOW

Almost Instant Relief This Way



TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly, EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress.

This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Correct Manners

Engagement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—I am about to become engaged and I am not having a party or gathering and wonder if it is proper to send out announcements to my friends?

2—Is it necessary for the parents of both the boy and the girl to meet at the time of their engagement?

3—I am going on a moonlight sail and wonder whether a pink and blue party frock is appropriate, or whether a sport dress would be better?

4—Should the ring be presented to me in front of my parents, or when we are alone on the boat ride?

F.

1—Don't please, send out the engraved or printed engagement announcements that some girls so yearn to send. These are not in good form.

It isn't a bit necessary for you to have an engagement-announcement that some girls so yearn to send. These are not in good form.

It isn't a bit necessary for you to have an engagement-announcement party. When you determine on when you will make the announcement, tell your relatives and the close friends who live near enough to be told, and then write notes telling the happy news to close friends who live too far away to be told by word of mouth. These notes are written so that they will arrive a day or two before you make the announcement.

Then, if you and your parents wish, they may insert in the newspapers a formal notice of your engagement.

2—The young man talks it over with your parents, and then he tells his parents. His parents come to see you and your parents as soon as they can after their son has told them the news . . . this call, according to strict formality, should be made within 24 hours after their son has told them.

Then any other social gathering of the "clans" that either family wishes, may be planned for.

3—I believe that, for this party, the sport dress would probably be more appropriate.

4—The man usually gives the girl the engagement ring when they are alone.

PATENTED* EQUALIZER

A RADICAL innovation! . . . Not a mere improvement in sanitary protection . . . but something new, different.

Kotex, with the New Patented Equalizer, gives 20 to 30% greater protection. The center equalizer not only increases protection but makes it more adequate, more comfortable—because edges stay dry, removing all danger of irritation through chafing.

Ends must be "phantomized"

Mere rounded ends are not enough. They must be flattened, embossed. Kotex—and Kotex only—offers this special shaping. Remember, too, that it can be worn on either side with equal protection.

UHLE FIGURED ALMOST DONE ON MOUND

MOST BASEBALL MEN will be surprised if George Uhle does anything better than commonplace pitching for the Giants, following his transfer to that club from the Tigers via the waiver channel. At his best, Uhle ranked with the foremost right-handers in the game, though he never had any minor league experience and was one of the few men to jump right into the majors from the sandlots and make good. His peak was 27 victories for the Indians in 1926. But in only one of the last six seasons did he do better than break even, and, as he is almost 35, he probably is well over the hill.

George Uhle

At any rate, that appears to be the opinion of the other clubs in the American League, as all waived on Uhle rather than pay the inter-league waiver price of $7,500 to acquire his services. Cincinnati, by reason of having finished behind the Giants last year, and the present season being not yet 30 days old, held prior claiming rights, but passed up the veteran. And Manager Donie Bush knows all about American League material. A change of leagues and environment may help Uhle, but the general opinion seems to be that he hasn't much farther to go.

THE DEATH OF Tim Keefe marked the passing of one of the most famous pitchers of all time and left Smiling Mickey Welch and George Gore as the only surviving members of the mighty original New York Giants. That nick-name, which still endures as a trade-mark of major league baseball, originated in 1885 from the fact that all members of the club except Welch stood 6 feet or taller.

Keefe and his mates won New York's first National League pennants in 1888 and 1889. Sharing the pitching duties with Keefe during his Giant years were Welch, Cannonball Crane, Bill George, Titcomb and Hank O'Day. Buck Ewing was the catcher, with Roger Connor, Joe Gerhardt, Dude Esterbrook, Danny Richardson, Arthur Whitney and John Ward as infielders, and Jim O'Rourke, George Gore, Mike Slattery and Mike Tiernan as outfielders.

A NATIONAL LEAGUE record that still stands was set by Keefe from June 23 to August 10, 1888, when he won 19 games in succession. It has been equaled only by Rube Marquard in 1912. When Keefe performed the feat the pitching distance was only 50 feet.

Two of the victories in Keefe's string of 19, including the final one, were scored over the Pittsburgh club, then playing its second season in the National League. Keefe beat the locals, 6 to 4, on July 7, and 2 to 1 for his nineteenth straight win on August 10.

THINGS DON'T LOOK so good for the little that is left of the old spitball brigade. Urban Faber, though not working much, may be carried by the White Sox for sentimental reasons, but Burleigh Grimes has shown so little this spring that he may be near the end of his rope, and that Jack Quinn will linger with the Dodgers after May 15 is open to question. Three newcomers in Walter Beck, Ray Benge and Owen Carroll have forced older members of the Brooklyn staff to fight for their jobs. Manager Carey has 11 flingers at present, but plans to carry only eight, and it is said that Quinn and Fred Heimach may be included in the trio to be dropped.

Duster Mails

WALTER (DUSTER) MAILS, former major league pitcher and one of baseball's most colorful characters, who has been shifted around so often that he says all the railroad conductors know him and think he is a spy, is in line for another transfer, with the season hardly begun.

Chattanooga turned Mails over to Kansas City this year, but the left-hander wants to play on the Coast, where he coaches the Santa Clara University nine. The Hollywood club put in a bid for him, and Joe E. Brown, film comedian, who is part owner of the Kansas City club, has promised to let the Stars have Duster if the Blues do not keep him. If Mails goes to Hollywood he will have the distinction of having pitched for every club in the Coast League during his long career.

NOT SAYING THAT John McGraw made at least one deal that was a mistake—and he might add the swap in which Burleigh Grimes was given to Pittsburgh in exchange for Vic Aldridge—but a New York scribe calls attention to something that may be more than a coincidence.

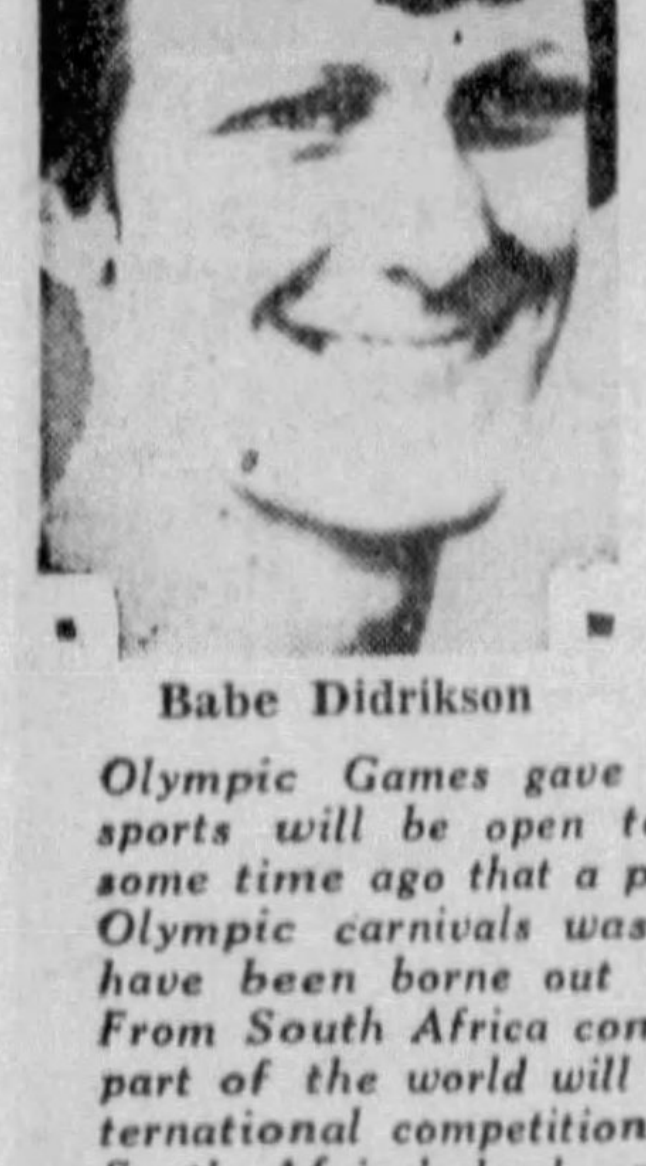
The trade referred to is the one in which Frankie Frisch went to the Cardinals for Rogers Hornsby after the season of 1926. While Frisch was with the Giants they won four pennants in a row. Since Frisch was traded, the Giants have not won a pennant. And since Frisch joined the Cardinals, that club has won three pennants.

SPEAKING OF SUPERSTITION in sports, and the most prominent figures in every game have some strange beliefs about things which they imagine will help or hurt their chances for success, Harry Salsinger recalls that among the old-timers Martin Sheridan never shook the dust of Athens from his shoes, a literal truth. Sheridan won the discus throw in the Olympic Games of 1906 at Athens, and refused, ever afterward, to have his athletic shoes cleaned. He considered the dust of Athens lucky to him. And the powerful John Flanagan, hammer throw champion through three sets of Olympic Games, always wore the same unwashed shirt in competition after winning the event at Paris in 1900.

ONE EFFECT OF the curtailment of the horseracing season at Eastern tracks has been the cancellation of an event that ranked among the most famous turf fixtures in America. It is the Dwyer Stakes, for 3-year-olds, which was scheduled for July at Aqueduct. A cheaper race may be put on under the same name, but the Dwyer event proper is off. With the exception of an interruption in 1911-12, this is the first break since the race was started as the Brooklyn Derby in 1887, with Hanover winning the inaugural. Its name was changed in 1918 in honor of Phil Dwyer.

THE HIGH SPOT in the history of the Dwyer Stakes was the famous struggle it produced in 1920 between Man o' War and John P. Grier, rated by many oldtime turf followers as the greatest horse race ever run in the United States. Certainly it was the hardest race the great Man o' War ever had.

For more than a mile, the two mighty colts raced head and head. Then John P. Grier, under the whip, stuck his head in front, but Man o' War, though not thoroughly fit at the time, struggled on, caught his rival inside the 70-yard pole, rushed to the front and won by almost two lengths. The distance then was a mile and a half.



Babe Didrikson

NO SPORTS FEATURE ever did a fadeout more quickly after a lot of ballyhooing than did the tour of Babe Didrikson, champion girl athlete, following her decision to turn professional. And Babe probably will be the last of her sex to try anything of the sort, at least as a track star, for it is unlikely that the opportunity which the last Olympic Games gave her to gain world prominence in track sports will be open to any later female performers. Reports some time ago that a proposal to bar women athletes from future Olympic carnivals was under consideration in various countries have been borne out by one definite decision in that direction. From South Africa comes the announcement that henceforth that part of the world will not send girl athletes to participate in international competition. Other countries are expected to follow South Africa's lead, and indications in general are that as far as the track division of the Olympics are concerned the ladies are all through. There has been a growing opposition to permitting them to take part in the more violent types of competitive athletics. There is no objection to their participating in golf, tennis, fencing, swimming, diving and the like, but the consensus of opinion is that track is too vigorous for them.

THREE BEATEN IN NATIONAL TITLE MEET

BOSTON, April 25.—(AP.)—The Metropolitan Association's well balanced boxing team dominated the opening battling in the National A. A. U. championship tournament by qualifying 11 boxers for the quarter-final round. Seven of the New Yorkers blasted their ways over the victory route last night and the other four were fortunate in the draw, passing into the second night's warfare on byes.

The Northeastern Ohio team, recruited mostly from Cleveland, kept everyone of its seven members in the tourney, five of them as a result of victories. Detroit kept six of its men in the competition and the New England team of eight lost half of its man power.

FOUR PITTSBURGHERS WIN

The Pittsburgh team, made up of seven senior Allegheny Mountain Association champions and one runner-up, qualified five men for quarter-final milling, four scoring victories and one drawing a bye. Three Pittsburghers were eliminated.

William Eley, hard-hitting Negro lightweight from the Pleasant Valley A. C., of New Salem, Pa., won his first round bout by whipping Johnny Studley, of Brockton, Mass., in three rounds. Richard Ambrose, of Pittsburgh, advanced in the 147-pound class, defeating Nathan Goldberg, of Indianapolis. Leo Sweeney, another Pittsburgher, defeated Bobby Lee, of Cincinnati, in the 126-pound division, and Sammy Angott, hard-hitting Washington (Pa.) 118-pounder, scored the only knockout credited the Steel City contingent by stopping Joe Wigfall, of Indianapolis, in the second round.

AL QUAILL DEFEATED

Al Quaill, crack middleweight of the Y. M. H. A. of Pittsburgh, was defeated in the first round by William Treest, of Chicago. Snooky Brill, the A. M. A. 112-pound champ, hailing from Erie, Pa., lost to Charley Greene, of Brooklyn, in the initial round and Johnny Ochs, the Pittsburgh heavyweight representative, lost to Moss Brawner, of Chicago.

George Bittner, of the Pleasant Valley A. C., the 175-pound champion, drew a bye.

The tourney's only defending champion, Homer Brandies, of San Francisco, the 1932 light-heavyweight titlist and the only Californian battler to come East this year, was not called upon to make his start.

Another national titleholder, Sedgwick Harvey, the New York Negro who holds the junior featherweight crown, got under way in impressive fashion. He struck only three blows, two to the body and a right to the jaw, to register a 30-second knockout over Gene Connolly, of Minneapolis.

HOCKING IMPRESSIVE

Ralph Hocking, 135-pounder, from Butte, Mont., was almost as decisive. It took him 45 seconds to flatten Johnny McDonald, soldier-battler, from Baltimore. The other outstanding first-night sluggers were Bob Cook, Ponca City (Okla.) heavyweight, who dropped Norman Spence, of Providence, early in the second round; Frank Wilson, Boston light-heavyweight and standard bearer of the New England team, who scored a one-round knockout over Al Leveque, of New York, and Homer Pope, Negro welterweight, from Newark, who needed only a round to stop Frank Mineo, of Buffalo.

In all, 43 bouts were disposed of last night, and 44 representatives of 20 cities remain in the running.

Gastanaga Matched With Ruggirello

CHICAGO, April 25.—(AP.)—Isidoro Gastanaga, 24-year-old Spanish heavyweight, was matched today to trade punches with Salvator Ruggirello, Italian giant, in an eight-round bout supporting the King Levinsky-Charley Retzlaff match at the Chicago Stadium May 3.

Tiger Jack Fox, Terre Haute, Ind., Negro, who defeated Lou Scozza here last week, was matched for an eight-rounder with Art Laskey, Minneapolis heavyweight.

Long Shot Victor At Tanforan Track

SAN BRUNO, Cal., April 25.—(AP.)—Paying $252.50 on $2 preferred option tickets, or more than 125 to 1, Voyage, a comparatively unknown horse, won the second race at Tanforan yesterday, a $400-purse event over the A. B. Spreckels course.

Voyage finished by a nose ahead of Demoiselle and Orkin was a close third. Voyage, owned by E. M. Markham, a nephew of Edward Markham, the poet, paid $69.40 on place tickets and $19.80 for show.

Mohler Sensation Of Coast League

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—(INS.)—Orville Mohler, former star quarterback at the University of Southern California, was burning up the Pacific Coast League today.

Playing shortstop for Los Angeles, Mohler has hit safely 12 times in 21 trips to the plate, for an average of .480, one point behind league-leading Earl McNeely, of Sacramento.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: A UNITED STATES' KING—J. J. Strang (1813-1856) became a convert to Mormonism, but was expelled, and, in 1847, chose Beaver Island in Lake Michigan as his "residence." Recusant Mormons began to arrive there in large numbers and, on July 8, 1850, Strang crowned himself "King of Zion" and assumed royal powers over his island kingdom. President Fillmore interrupted this royal idyl by ordering an armed steamer to seize King James. He was tried in Detroit, but was acquitted as a result of his great eloquence before the court. He died from a bullet fired at him by an assassin and lies buried in an unmarked grave at Spring Prairie.

PIN TOURNEY LEADERS SHIFT

New leaders held sway in the Iroquois sweepstakes singles and doubles bowling tournament today following an orgy of pin scattering last night.

In the singles, J. Sundahl, of Bradford, took the lead away from Butch Snyder, of Erie, when he rolled a score of 633. Snyder's mark was 618.

J. Weber, a local entry, took the all-events lead, which also had been in the possession of Snyder, with a figure of 1244. Snyder's mark was 1221.

The L. Marrone and J. Thomas combination, of Pittsburgh, rolled into sixth place in the doubles with a score of 1150. The lead is held by V. Verdi and J. Weber, who totaled 1214. The scores:

DUKES ARRANGE SPORT CLINICS

By JESS CARVER

Coach Elmer Layden will complete the administering of the annual dose of spring football to his Duquesne University gridders Saturday, winding up the long tour of gridiron duty with a clinic and a regulation game between picked teams of varsity players.

The clinic will be an affair of the afternoon, and in the morning, Chick Davies, the Dukes' floor mentor, will hold a like affair in the gymnasium. Both clinics will be for high school coaches and players only.

With the Dukes putting on both floor and gridiron shows, Pittsburgh will be in for no fewer than three clinics all in one day, as Coach Pat Corr, of Pitt's swimming team, is offering an aquatic show the same day.

At the Dukes football party, Line Coach Joe Bach will talk on and explain line play; William H. Friesell, of the West Penn Officials' Association, will discuss the rules and Coach Layden will go into the intracies of backfield play.

Coach Carl Olsen, of the Pitt track team, is undecided about the Panther entry in the Penn relays, but may have three teams in action. He is certain to enter a mile quartet, but is marking time before making a final decision as to whether or not to enter a sprint medley four and a four-mile team.

Allen Reisdorf, swimming coach at Tech, and Jack Scarry, of the Carnegie Library Club, of Homestead, who developed the sensational Lenore Kight, may assist Corr with the Pitt swim clinic.

A handicap track and field meet for university students will be held at Pitt tomorrow.

Layden Is Speaker In Farrell Tonight

Elmer Layden, athletic director and football coach at Duquesne University, will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be given the members of the Farrell High School athletic teams by the Farrell Boosters' Association in Farrell tonight.

GIANTS CUT PRICES

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—The New York Giants have cut the price of 4,300 seats in the upper right field stand to 50 cents. With 5,400 in the open bleachers, the Polo Grounds now has 9,700 50-cent seats. Most of them were filled yesterday while vacancies were numerous in the higher-priced sections.

BANAS' FATHER DIES

GARY, Ind., April 25.—(AP.)—Stephen Banas, father of the Notre Dame football star, died last night at his home in East Chicago. He is survived by his widow, five sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning, with burial in the Hessville Cemetery.

CHESNEY STARS IN MEET

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., April 25.—Adam Chesney, Burgettstown High sophomore, was the outstanding star in the inter-class meet staged here yesterday, when he scored 11 points. He won the mile, the 880 and was second in the 440.

FEUDS FLARE IN MAJORS

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS.)—Scrappy days are here again in the big leagues.

In line with the plea of Presidents Heydler and Harridge for more aggressiveness on the diamond, feuds are flaring in both circuits. Spikes were flying high, wide and handsome when the Yankees and Senators clashed at Washington yesterday. Heinie Manush threw cold steel at Frank Crosetti, Babe Ruth went into Joe Cronin like a runaway freight train, Ben Chapman bowled over Buddy Myer, and Manush took a flying leap at Lou Gehrig when there was no necessity for a slide.

In the National League, Rogers Hornsby, of the Cardinals, is threatening to whip half the Chicago team, and Dick Bartell, of the Phillies, spiked Joe Judge, of the Dodgers; roughed up Lefty O'Doul, of the same club, and bowled over Bill Terry, of the Giants, for a short count.

If hostilities continue, they'll have the boys wearing a fielder's glove on one hand and a boxing glove on the other.

HORNSBY READY FOR FIGHT

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—If Charley Grimm and Gabby Hartnett want to fight it out with Rogers Hornsby, it's all right with the Rajah.

That was Hornsby's reply today as he scoffed at stories that Bill Veeck, president of the Cubs, prevented Grimm and Hartnett from "ganging" Rogers here last Saturday because of some criticism of them by Hornsby in the newspapers. Hornsby said:

"I'll be in Chicago next Sunday playing second base for the Cards against the Cubs. If any of the Cubs want to fight it out, that's as good a place as any. But I think it's all bluff on their part, an alibi for their poor showing this year."

JIMMY RING STARS

THREE LEFTIES DEFEATED BY CORSAIRS

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—A threatened new deal for enemy left-handers is one of the most important developments in the Pirate camp. The Buccaneers today point to three triumphs over southpaws who last year were extremely hard to solve. Twice in the new campaign have they taken the measure of Eppa Rixey, who last year made the Pittsburghers jump through, and Bill Walker also has been added to this year's list.

The new deal indicated on the early season performances is partly attributed to Fred Lindstrom, who came to the Pirates from the Giants in the winter months. Another contributing factor is Manager Gibson's decision to keep at least five right-hand batters in the Pirate attack whenever the rival southpaw bob up on the mound.

"BREAK" FOR FINNEY

The marked success of left-handers over the Pirates of last season was believed to be the result of the preponderance of left-hand swingers in the Pittsburgh batting order. The acquisition of Lindstrom gave Gibson a pivot batter who is especially effective against the southpaws, and Gibby already has installed Catcher Hal Finney in the eighth batting notch in place of Earl Grace to add punch against the "lefties."

Grace is one of the left-hand batters who are handicapped against the same style of pitching. Finney has not yet begun to hit, but Hal's batting was one of the features of the spring training games, and Gibby feels he will soon snap out of it.

But the Pirates are not saying they will waylay every southpaw in the league. The Hallahans, Hubbells, Walkers, Brandts' Elliotts, Clarks, Heimachs et al., are a tough lot, by and large, yet the Pittsburghers think they will show an improvement over their efforts against the left-handers of last season. The start made against Rixey surely is convincing.

BUCS EAGER FOR TEST

The rather strange part of the Rixey situation lies in the fact that Eppa is said by Reds and Pirates to possess more natural stuff than he had one year ago when he gave the Buccos the jitters. The fine veteran is in better shape now than he has been for many seasons at the corresponding date of the campaign.

Walker was a bugaboo for the Pittsburgh batters for several years, but Bill does not hold the spell any more. Jumbo Jim Elliott had many a laugh over the Pirate efforts to solve him, but the shoe may be on the other foot this season. In any event, the Pirates are eager to greet some of their "Jonahs."

Yesterday's Stars In Major Leagues

Associated Press.

Jimmy Foxx, Athletics—Hit home run, three doubles and single, driving in seven runs, against Redsox.

Al Todd, Phillies—His pinch single with bases loaded in twelfth beat Braves.

Joe Kuhel, Senators—Drove in four runs against Yankees with home run, triple and single.

Carl Hubbel, Giants—Pitched four-hit ball to shut out Dodgers.

Elon Hogsett, Tigers—Came in as relief pitcher and halted Browns' rally.

Mule Haas, White Sox—Collected double and single against Indians, drove in one run and scored three.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Some afternoon when I am loafing I must step over to the National League and find how President Heydler's new rule is working out. You know, in the National loop, players on opposing teams are not supposed to speak to each other. If a Brooklyn Dodgers, for instance, should say, "Hello, Charley," to a Boston Brave, he is liable to a $5 fine for being too familiar.

Nick Altrock

On the other hand, the Boston Brave who is addressed as Charley must tilt up his nose and snub the Brooklyn Dodger. Of course, this high hat stuff comes easy to any player from Boston, where the Cabots only speak to the Lowells and the Lowells only speak to the Altrocks and Plymouth Rock.

Well, anyway, it would be interesting to see this rule operating on the ball field. A lot of the boys have tried it out at home and not spoken to the little woman for weeks, but Mr. Heydler sure has sprung a novelty incorporating matrimonial tactics on the diamond. I must come over and see how it works.

CHISOX SURPRISE AMERICAN LEAGUE RIVALS

HURLERS COME THROUGH FOR CHICAGOANS

Associated Press.

On the basis of the early returns, the Chicago White Sox threaten to become a source of considerable embarrassment to the rest of the American League.

Thanks principally to the addition of such batsmen as Al Simmons and Mule Haas, the Pale Hose had won eight games out of 11 from the St. Louis Browns, Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers today, were in a virtual first-place tie with the New York Yankees and generally were getting much better pitching than any one had reason to anticipate.

PITCHING ADEQUATE

Lack of pitching, the experts said, would ruin Chicago's hopes of pushing into the first division. It still may, but so far Lou Fonseca's moundsmen have been more than adequate. They've allowed only 34 runs and 73 hits in 11 games while the Sox were scoring 52 runs on 101 hits.

They made it three in a row over the Indians yesterday, winning a 5-4 decision as Vic Frasier and Joe Heving outpitched Wes Ferrell. Frasier gave up only seven hits in the first eight innings, but weakened in the ninth, and Heving came in to stop an Indian rally one run short of a tie.

Meanwhile, the Yankees were suffering their second successive defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators, 11-10. Successive doubles by Goslin, Cronin and Schulte in the eighth gave the Senators the two runs they needed to win for Al Crowder.

FOXX HITS NO. 3

Jimmy Foxx went on a batting spree, clouted his third home run, three doubles and a single and led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 16-10 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Detroit made it three in succession over the Browns, 4-3, although St. Louis drove Carl Fischer to cover with two out in the ninth and had the tying and winning runs on base when Elon Hogsett retired the side.

The National League program was restricted to two games, the New York Giants beating Brooklyn, 4-0, and the Phillies nosing out Boston's Braves, 6-5, in 12 innings.

HUBBELL STARS AGAIN

Carl Hubbell gave Brooklyn only four hits in winning his second successive shutout, while the Giants made good use of the eight hits they made off Joe Shaute. Hubbell has pitched 30 innings this season and allowed only one run.

Al Todd's pinch single in the twelfth with the bases filled was the blow that gave the Phillies a thrilling victory over the Braves. Chuck Klein hit his first home run of the season in the fifth and also contributed a double and single.

PREXY EXPLAINS FINE HURLING

CHICAGO, April 25.—(AP.)—There's no deep, dark mystery of a drugged or deadened baseball behind the current epidemic of pitching masterpieces in the American League, President Will Harridge said as he chuckled over reports of suspicious baseball fans. He said:

"The ball is just as lively as ever. It's just a case of exceptionally well conditioned pitchers and frost bitten batters. The pitchers are hot; the batters are cold. Here and there a rain soaked playing field gives the pitchers another break as the batted balls don't take those sharp bounces that turn a poorly hit ball into a single."

President Harridge exhibited samples of baseballs used last year and this season. The stitching and weight were the same.

There isn't any wonder that some of the batsmen and many fans are suspicious of a little mysterious "drugging" of the spheroid this season. Ever since the campaign opened, pitchers have been doing almost unheard of tricks with it for spring pitching in this era of long-distance clouting. In the American League alone, 12 games have been pitched in which the batsmen cracked out four hits or less. A one-hit game was pitched by Tommy Bridges, of Detroit against St. Louis, two-hit performances have been turned in by Ted Lyons, of the White Sox and Irving Hadley.

Soho Sport Champs Fete Guests Tonight

Members of all championship teams at the Soho Community House will be honored at a banquet tonight.

Among the speakers will be Clarence E. (Buddy) Overend and Max Hannum, of Carnegie Tech; William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Faber Stevenson, of the Welfare Fund. Following is a list of the games:

Basketball — Patties, Senior League; Wood, Hot Stuff League; Willows, Monday Afternoon League; Cardinals, Midget League.

Ping Pong—John Dougherty, Junior League; Stanley Paulonis, Senior League.

Mushball—Red Aces, Midget League; Monarchs, Junior League.

Marble—Hymie Abraham.

Half Interest Sold In Jersey City Club

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS.)—Jack Corbett, wealthy real estate operator of New York, has confirmed the report that he had purchased 50 per cent of the stock of the Jersey City International League club from Sam Colacurcio, who retains an equal share.

Corbett was named president when the transaction was competed, replacing Colacurcio who was elected as vice president.

Bernard (Mike) Kelly, recently appointed manager will retain his post, Corbett said.

Homestead Girl Swimmers Honored

LENORE KIGHT JOHANNA GORMAN LOUISE CLARK ANNA MAE GORMAN

LENORE KIGHT COACH JACK SCARRY SUSAN LAIRD

Homestead folks, proud of the achievements of their Carnegie Library swimming team in the National championships at Buffalo, turned out to honor them at a parade and public reception last night. The team appears above with gifts of flowers, while, below, Miss Kight, winner of three National championships, is greeted by Miss Laird, star of the Homestead team in the Olympic year of 1928, as Coach Scarry looks on. These are Sun-Telegraph pictures.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Honus Wagner and the Pirates will participate in the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the Phillies, on May 1, when a team of former Phillies will meet the present aggregation in a special five-inning added attraction . . . Gov. Pinchot, Congressmen, Legislators, old-time baseball players and other notables have been invited to attend . . . Included among the players invited are Chief Bender, Harry Coveleskie, Otto Knabe, Hans Lobert, Jerry Donovan, John Andrews, Dick Harley, Barney Slaughter, Frank Bruggy, Bill Fish, Dick Spaulding, Charley Dooin, Gavvy Cravath, Hugh Duffy, Art Fletcher and Grover Alexander . . . Andrews now is 70 years old and resides in Miami. . . . He played with the Phillies in their earliest days.

The International League, one of the three class AA minor leagues of the nation, also celebrates its fiftieth anniversary this season . . . With the exception of Baltimore and Jersey City, which still have wooden stands, all of the parks now boast modern stadia . . . Connie Mack is another Golden Anniversary celebrant this year . . . This is the fiftieth season in baseball for the lank leader of Philadelphia Athletics.

The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission holds its meeting to determine the status of Jim Londos tomorrow . . . Upon the outcome of this confab, in Philadelphia, will depend the designation of Jimmy when he enters a bout with Ernie Dusek in Philadelphia two nights later . . . He either will be the recognized champion or he will be just another wrestler in this state . . . The chances are the commission will go along with the Illinois board, which recognized Joe Savoldi as the champion following his recent defeat of Londos there . . . Londos protested this verdict, and asked the Pennsylvania body for a ruling, since it was in this state that he won the title in a bout with Dick Shikat three years ago . . . Incidentally, the Shikat match automatically kills the main argument of Ed White, Londos' manager, that all championship matches must be decided on a basis of the best out of three falls and not on a single fall, as was the case in the Savoldi match . . . The Shikat bout was a one-fall affair.

No less than eight members of the American Olympic track and field team will compete in the Penn Relays, at Philadelphia, Friday and Saturday, in which more than 3,000 college and high school athletes will participate . . . They are Jack Keller, Karl Warner, Frank Crowley, Pete Zaremba, of Aliquippa, George Spitz, Grant McDougal, Joe McCluskey and Tom Ottey.

America's Grand National Steeplechase, the Maryland Hunt Cup, will be run over a four-mile course at Baltimore next Saturday . . . The distance is only a half-mile shorter than England's Grand National course and almost as difficult, including 22 fences or jumps . . . The prize is a cup with a value of not more than $100, but rich in sentimental value.

Frank (Dundee) Rodgers, McKees Rocks outfielder, will play this season with Richmond, Va., in the Piedmont League, along with the owner of the club, who plays shortstop, a most unique situation . . . Rodgers refused to sign a contract with Baltimore in the International League and was sold to Richmond, which is giving him a contract similar to that tendered by the Orioles, although it is in only a Class B league. . . Richmond hopes to be rewarded by being able to sell Dundee to the majors for a good price during or at the end of the season. . . . Jack Onslow is the manager of the Richmond club, which opens its season early next month. —HARRY KECK.

FRIENDS HONOR MISS KIGHT

By JAMES MILLER

A reception that would justify the return of prosperity or the completion of another Lindbergh flight to Paris, was accorded winsome Miss Lenore Kight, national swimming queen, and her teammates, Johanna Gorman, Anna Mae Gorman and Louise Clarke last night by the Homestead Civic League.

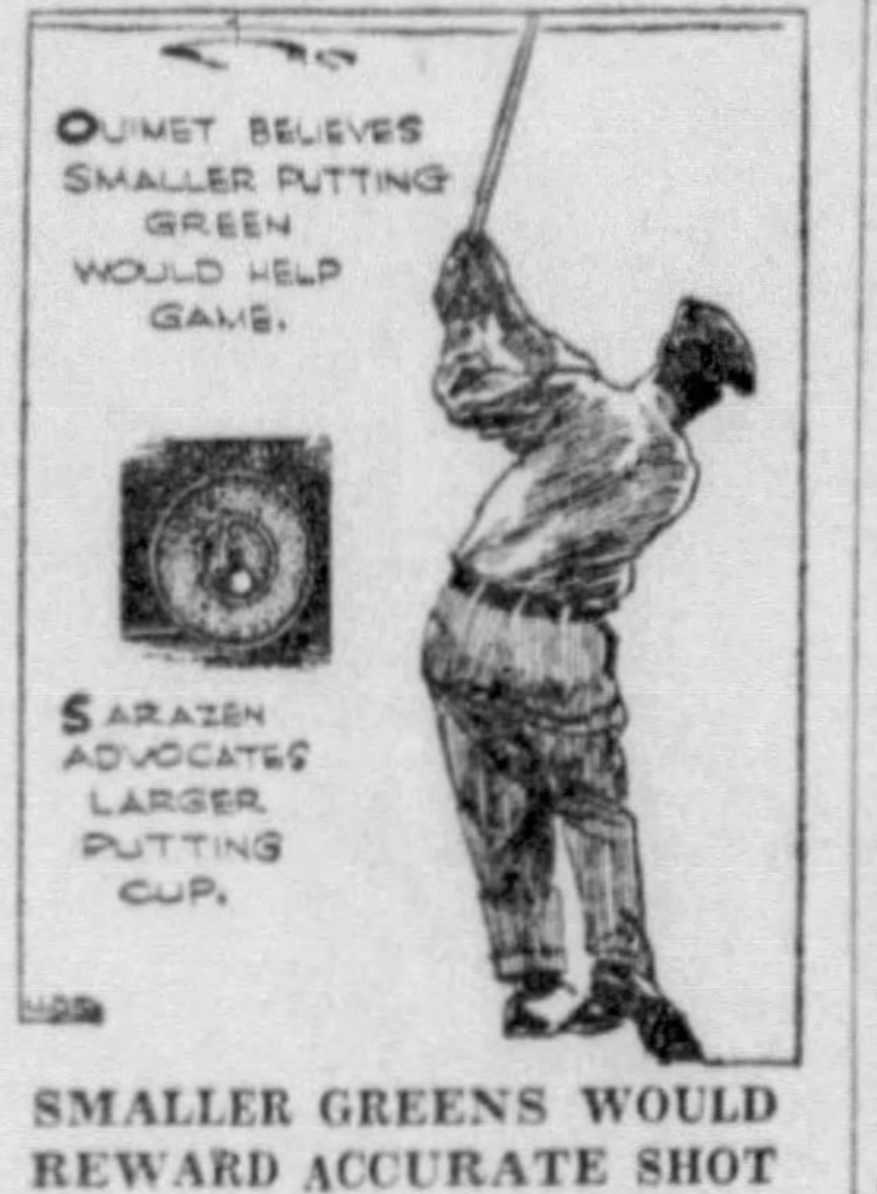
A parade, that started at the police station and wound up at the Carnegie Library, was cheered by thousands along the line of march.

Miss Kight, who won three national A. A. U. titles, the 100, 220 and 500-yard free-style championships, and set the world marks for the 200-yard and 300-yard distances in the national championships in Buffalo last week, was tendered a rousing ovation by more than 2,000 loyal friends and home-town acquaintances who jammed the Homestead Library auditorium where flowers were presented the girl stars.

Burgess John J. Cavanaugh, Attorney Harry McWhinney, James E. Lose, Jack Scarry and Miss Kight, Johanna Gorman, Anne Mae Gorman and Louise Clarke made brief talks. John A. Sullivan, a newspaperman, presented flowers to members of the team.

Miss Suzan Laird, member of the 1928 Olympic team, was the first to congratulate Miss Kight on her wonderful showing in the national meet.

GRAPHIC GOLF



OUIMET BELIEVES SMALLER PUTTING GREEN WOULD HELP GAME.
SARAZEN ADVOCATES LARGER PUTTING CUP.

SMALLER GREENS WOULD REWARD ACCURATE SHOT

In the above illustration the comparative sizes of the eight-inch cup, recently advocated by Gene Sarazen and the present four and one-quarter-inch regulation size are portrayed. Sarazen's idea to save the golfer who has made a fine shot to the green from the quite upsetting embarrassment of missing two or three putts is certainly commendable, but tests with the larger cups have not, on the whole, been so successful. A missed putt is a missed putt, no matter what the size of the cup, and a large cup missed from 12 feet is quite as aggravating as a miss of six feet with the regulation size.

Lately Francis Ouimet presented the idea that a smaller putting green instead of a larger size hole would prove of benefit. Like Sarazen's intentions, Ouimet's purpose was to eliminate in some measure the uncertainty of the long approach putt finishing near the hole. This shot seemingly requires more luck and less skill than the long irons and the short approaches and the former amateur titleholder thinks a reward should be paid on the latter shots when accurate.

With the smaller green it would be sheerly a matter of skill in placing the long irons and short approaches so that once on the green the many flubbed putts from a long ways off would be eliminated. The chances of a merely lucky long putt also would in a measure be reduced. Ouimet's idea is a laudable one and no doubt will have a tendency to reduce the size of the putting greens in the future.

W.P.I.A.L. NINES FACE FULL CARD TODAY

By JULIUS LEVIN

Seven games are listed in three sections of the W. P. I. A. L. baseball competition today. City League nines will continue drills in preparation for the opening of the league campaign Friday.

Today, in Section I, Canonsburg takes on Hickory, and Trinity, of Washington, meets Cecil. In Section II, Carnegie, the defending champion, meets Findley, and Dormont travels to South Fayette.

In Section III, Elizabeth battles Turtle Creek, McKeesport tackles Edgewood, and East McKeesport engages Wilkinsburg.

The champion Mt. Lebanon tennis team, which last year won the Interscholastic Tennis Conference crown in brilliant fashion, started off on the right foot yesterday in defense of its laurels, defeating Crafton, 5 to 0, in a match at Mt. Lebanon. All the Mount victories were straight-set affairs.

Shady Side Academy's net troupe duplicated Mt. Lebanon's feat, blanking Arnold School, 5 to 0. The summary:

Mt. Lebanon, 5; Crafton, 0.

SINGLES

Ackerman, Mt. Lebanon, defeated Jones, Crafton, 6-1, 6-4.

Bald, Mt. Lebanon, defeated Weiss, Crafton, 6-1, 6-3.

Greer, Mt. Lebanon, defeated Thompson, Crafton, 6-3, 6-1.

DOUBLES

Bald and Green, Mt. Lebanon, defeated Jones and Weiss, Crafton, 6-3, 6-0.

Ackerman and DeJohn, Mt. Lebanon, defeated Thompson and Davis, Crafton, 6-4, 6-2.

Shadyside, 5; Arnold, 0.

SINGLES

Arensberg, Shadyside, defeated K. Pollock, Arnold, 6-1, 8-6.

Lynch, Shadyside, defeated A. Pollock, Arnold, 6-2, 6-3.

Aaron, Shadyside, defeated Wilder, Arnold, 12-10, 3-6, 6-3.

DOUBLES

Arensberg and Sunstein, Shadyside, defeated A. Pollock and Thomas, Arnold, 6-3, 6-1.

Kerr and Lynch, Shadyside, defeated K. Pollock and Thomas, Arnold, 6-3, 3-0, 6-3.

FIVE AMATEURS K.O. VICTORS

The amateur boxers exploded knockout punches in abundance last night at the amateur boxing show staged by the A. J. Klinker Post, V. of F. W., at Moose Hall, Carnegie. Five knockouts were recorded during the evening.

Billy George, of the Krah A. C., registered his sixth kayo in a row by stopping Buddy Reiners, of Millvale, in the first round. George (Kid) Liggins, of Cecil, knocked out Battling Dujy in the first round. Jimmy Clark, of the Superior A. C., put Maj. Linden, of the Krah A. C., away in the second round.

Jack Paldick, of McDonald, knocked Johnny Funny, of the Superior A. C., through the ropes in the second round, where he was counted out by Referee Fred Mastream, and Kid Kropko, of Carnegie, won by a technical knockout over Butch Krovchshyn in the second round.

In the feature battle of the show, Johnny Tirpak, star of the Ukranian A. C., of McKees Rocks, defeated Joe Clark, of the Superior A. C., in a slugging match.

RING FAN DIES AFTER BOUT

OIL CITY, April 25.—(AP.)—Roy A. Bartholomew, 55, superintendent of telegraph for the National Transit Company, died suddenly last night while watching a series of amateur fights at the K. of C. auditorium.

Bartholomew was well known in the district, having worked up from an office boy in the 40 years he was employed by the company. He was appointed superintendent last December.

Arden Hefren, of Oil City, defeated Jack Shricker, captain-elect of the University of Pittsburgh boxing team, in the feature bout of the night.

The pair met recently in Pittsburgh, in the semi-finals of the senior A. M. A. championship tournament, with Shricker giving Hefern a sound beating. Shricker won the Intercollegiate Boxing Conference middleweight titles in 1932 and 1933.

Bartholomew fell dead as the crowd stood up after this bout.

Davies and Freund To Address Diners

Chick Davies, basketball coach at Duquesne University, and John J. Freund, Jr., pioneer floor manager and promoter in this district, will be the principal speakers at a testimonial banquet to the first and B teams of St. Pius' Lyceum tomorrow evening in the auditorium of St. Pius' Parochial School, Boyd and Tremont streets, McKeesport.

In addition to giving individual talks, the two veterans will present a side feature of questions and answers, in which intricate plays will be explained and various points of the court sport made clear.

Smith Meets Lytton In Cue Duel Tonight

Smith engages Lytton in the annual city three-cushion championship billiard tournament at Tobin's, Smithfield street, tonight.

Last night John Lohr defeated Harry Schoeller.

Fight Results

At Cincinnati—Pee Wee Jarrell defeated Simon Nebolsky, 10 rounds; Joe Muchdorowski knocked out Herman Beck, 2 rounds.

At Dallas—Jack Pollock defeated Racehorse Rogers, 15 rounds.

At San Francisco—Mickey Walker defeated George Manley, 10 rounds.

Tony Scarpati won by technical knockout over Georgie Goldberg, 2 rounds.

LOSS OF TERRY BLOW TO GIANT FLAG HOPES

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—A broken right wrist will keep Manager Bill Terry out of the New York Giants' lineup for the next three or four weeks.

Terry was struck on the wrist by one of Joe Shaute's pitches in the fifth inning of yesterday's game with Brooklyn and was forced to retire. An X-ray examination revealed a fracture of the ulna bone.

The first baseman's injury strikes a severe blow at the Giants' hopes of putting up a fight for the pennant. Terry's playing chores will be taken over by Sam Leslie, his understudy for several years. Leslie is a good hitter and a fair fielder, but Terry's big bat and all-around skill will be badly missed.

GIB MARSH TO SPEAK

BUTLER, Pa., April 25—Gib Marsh, outdoors writer of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be among the speakers at the first annual roundup and stag of the Butler County sportsmen, sponsored by the Butler County Hunting and Fishing Club, here Thursday night. Proceeds go to the Salvation Army. A turnout of approximately 800 is expected. F. Clair Ross, attorney, will be toastmaster.

GOODYEAR
ALL-WEATHER

"I think I'll be smart and trade in this old rubber now"

THERE'S no doubt about it—old tires and hot weather just don't go together.

The first real hot spell will prove this fact. The roadsides will be lined with cars that tried to squeeze the last nickel's worth of mileage out of thin, weak tires.

That's one reason why it will pay you to get rid of old tires now—trade them in for brand-new Goodyear All-Weathers.

But here's the other reason—

You can buy Goodyear All-Weathers—better now in quality than ever before—the world's best-known and best-liked tires—at prices which have never been as low as they are today!

● The only tire that gives you the extra mileage and the extra safety of the All-Weather Tread—and the extra durability of Supertwist cord.

BOXING CLOSED TO JEWS BY GERMANY

BERLIN, April 25.—(AP.)—A new climax in the complete ostracism of Jewish athletes from organized German sports life has been reached by the Verband Deutscher Faustkaempfer, the union of German professional boxers.

The organization issued 10 regulations designed to eliminate Jews from the fistic industry, thereby joining the movement that resulted in the dropping of Daniel Prenn from the Davis Cup tennis team, forced the resignation of Theodor Lewald, chairman of the German Athletic Federation, and to a lesser degree has resulted in bans on all foreign competitors.

PRESS IN SYMPATHY

With full sympathy of the Nazi press, which commented that the boxers did all the work anyway, while managers, trainers and doctors or lawyers "got all the gravy," the master minds of the boxers' union issued the following decrees:

All Jews, including those baptized, are ruled off the lists of members; all honorary members of Jewish blood are asked to hand in their cards; every German boxer is ordered to tear up any contract with a Jewish manager; Jews are barred from the club rooms; Jewish capital is barred from participation in the financing of boxing shows; union members are forbidden to engage Jewish doctors, dentists or lawyers, and all foreigners are hereby suspended until further notice.

DEFEATS NOT BLAMED

These regulations, coming at a time when Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion and the greatest warrior Germany has produced, is campaigning in the United States under the management of Joe Jacobs, an American Jew, are said not to have been influenced by recent reverses suffered by Teuton ringmen abroad at the hands of Jewish boxers. Adolph Heuser, German light-heavyweight champion, was beaten recently in New York by Maxie Rosenbloom, an American Jew.

FRITZIE ZIVIC ON ARENA CARD

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Burns A. C. amateur bouts, Moose Hall, New Kensington, Pa.

National A. A. U. senior championships preliminaries continued, Boston.

Max Schmeling in exhibition, Bangor, Me.

Eddie Cool vs. Joey Costa, 8 rounds, and Tootsie Bashara vs. Bobby Dechter, Bill Hendrie vs. Marty Little, Joe Terry vs. Joey Hayes and Frankie Caris vs. Bob Firth, 6 rounds, each, Philadelphia.

Juan Cruz vs. Sam McCauley and Carl Adams vs. Ollie Netrow, 6 rounds each, Detroit.

Matchmaker Lew Raymond, of the Arena, on the North Side, has completed his card for his show Friday night, featured by a 10-round battle between Tony Herrera and Tracey Cox.

There will be four six-rounders. Fritzie Zivic meets Patsy Hennigan in the semi-final, Harry Lennox, of Cumberland, and Scotty Scottan are in the third bout, Harry Weekly and Hebee Thomas in the second bout and Sammy Paris and Johnny Warner in the opener.

Thomas is a protege of Johnny Ray, former leading local lightweight boxer. Scottan hails from Indianapolis and comes here with Cox.

Between Rounds

Bill Dummer, former professional matchmaker, has been engaged by the North Siders Baseball Club to help it put over its benefit amateur boxing show at the Arena next Tuesday night.

Dr. L. R. Herrington, sponsor of the New Salem Pleasant Valley A. C., has entered his entire team in the state amateur boxing championships to be held in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of next week and the following Monday. It includes two Allegheny Mountain Association senior champions, William Eley, lightweight, and George Bittner, light-heavyweight, both members of Pittsburgh's team in the National A. A. U. tournament in Boston this week.

From James (the Red) Mason in Chicago comes word that the local promoters need look no further than his two battlers, Jack King and Frankie O'Brien, if they want opponents for Ted Yarosz and Frankie Goosby. Might not be a bad arrangement, at that.

Jack Tracey, local Negro middleweight, wants to box any of the 160-pounders. He has had a long lay-off, but now is back in training again. He's a good puncher and has put up some thrilling fights here.

Maxie Rosenbloom will meet Charley Belanger in a 12-round non-title bout at Jeffersonville, Ind., May 5, the eve of the Kentucky Derby at Louisville, across the river.

Johnny Pepe boxes Guido Conte, formerly of Sharon, in the semi-final to a Lew Massey-Frankie Carlton bout in Philadelphia, Thursday night.

Billy Ketchel and Johnny Pile meet for the third time in Philadelphia, Friday night of next week.

TRAINED SEALS TURN 'ACTORS'

The Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will put on a double act tomorrow night, when they offer their weekly sports program over WCAE at 7 o'clock and then hasten to Homestead to team up in a special program in the Leona Theater at 9:15 with Miss Lois Miller, the singing organist.

Harry Keck, sports editor; Charles J. Doyle, baseball expert, and others on the studio program will participate in the Homestead event, along with Capt. Pie Traynor, of the Pirates.

With the aid of a microphone, the Seals will give the fans an idea of how they put on their weekly studio programs, which have been a popular feature of WCAE for more than a year.

GOLDSTEIN RELEASED

1 policy

To make a pure motor fuel giving premium performance, in both old and new cars, and selling at the same price as ordinary gasolines . . . that is the Sun Oil Company's one all-important policy.

1 grade

Our one and only motor fuel, Blue Sunoco, is uniform in high knockless power and in high test, quick acting performance. It gives plus value . . . summer and winter . . . at regular gas price.

1 price

Since the Sun Oil Company makes Only One motor fuel . . . not two or three . . . great savings are effected in the refineries and warehouses, and in the number of delivery trucks and gas pumps, etc. That is why premium performing Blue Sunoco can be sold . . . at regular gas price.

"OLD FAITHFUL"

Old Faithful, most famous of all geysers, is the Only One whose performance can be relied upon. It regularly goes into eruption every hour. Several minutes before it begins play, its pent-up waters roar beneath the Earth's crust. Then—with a muffled explosion it throws a stream of boiling water over 150 ft. high for about four minutes. This hourly show is one of the major attractions of Yellowstone National Park.

STOCK MARKET FINAL TONE HEAVY

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—Speculative enthusiasm ebbed in the stock and staple markets today, and prices quietly receded.

In shares, many issues lost 1 to more than 2 points, although final prices were somewhat above the lowest, and some of the industrial specialties registered small gains. The final tone was heavy.

A steadier tone in the dollar in foreign exchange dealings, and steadiness of bonds, made traders wonder if prospective inflation had not already been in large measure discounted in the markets, and anxious to take profits pending further developments.

Commission houses were hardly surprised by the stock market's tendency to stop for breath after the tumult of the past week. Brokers reported, however, that public interest had increased, although there seemed to be little desire to reach for stocks on advances.

The latest cut in East Texas crude oil prices, instituted by the Texas Corporation, was interpreted by some quarters as reflecting a desire to combat "bootlegging," which has long been a source of difficulties for the larger producers. Some of the industry's spokesmen have recently expressed confidence that effective legislation to curb such practices was on the way in both state and national legislatures.

At the stockholders' meeting, President Holmes, of the Texas Corporation, bitterly denounced "racketeering activities" in the oil industry, and asserted that his company was losing more money than it ever lost in its history because of them. This naturally tended to put a damper on the move in the oil shares which started yesterday. At the annual meeting of United Aircraft, Chairman Deeds told stockholders he was not disturbed by Airmal payment reductions, as long as payments were not reduced faster than passenger traffic grew.

Directors of Norfolk and Western ordered the regular quarterly dividend of $2. Wall street was keenly interested in United States Steel directors' meeting after the close, and was inclined to anticipate another 50-cent payment on the preferred. A substantial deficit for the first quarter was taken for granted.

STERLING OFF, FRANC GAINS

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS.)—The dollar continued to rule easy against the European gold currencies today, but advanced against sterling in the local foreign exchange market. The upturn, however, lacked the vigor which characterized previous assaults on the dollar and the gains were comparatively small.

TOKIO, April 25.—(AP.)—Prospects for the inflation of the yen continued strong against the dollar today.

The Yokohama Specie Bank raised the official rate ¾ of a point today to $0.235, while other banks quoted $0.23⅝ to $0.23⅞.

CLOSING RALLY AIDS COTTON

NEW YORK, April 25. — An opening decline in cotton today was followed by recoveries on trade and commission house buying, but prices eased again later. July after selling up from 7.50 to 7.65 declined to 7.57. The mid-afternoon market was moderately active and rather unsettled at net declines of 6 to 8 points.

The market rallied late in the day on spot houses absorbing May liquidation, futures closing very steady, 1-5 lower. May, 7.46; July, 7.64@7.65; October, 7.84@7.85; December, 7.99@8.00; January, 8.07@8.08; March, 8.20@8.21. Spot quiet; middling 7.60.

Ford of Canada Passes Dividend

WINDSOR, Ont., April 25.—(AP.)—The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., today passed the annual dividend. The financial statement presented at the annual meeting showed a loss of more than $5,000,000 for the year ended December 31, last. Edsel B. Ford was re-elected chairman of the board.

Bill Dealers Cut Acceptance Rates

NEW YORK, April 25.—Dealers have now reduced bankers acceptance rates ⅛ of 1 per cent. The new levels are as follows; 30, 60 and 90 days ⅝@½ per cent; 120 days ⅞ to ¾ per cent, and 150 and 180 days 1⅛@1 per cent.

Anaconda April Sales Highest In 2 Years

NEW YORK, April 25.—The Anaconda Copper Mining Company announced that it had sold 42,000,000 pounds of metal since April 1, at the market prices ruling during that period. This is the largest business done by Anaconda for any like period in more than two years.

Cigaret Production Lower Last Month

WASHINGTON, April 25. — Cigaret production in March amounted to 7,974,030,063 compared with 8,446,577,237 in March, 1932, the Bureau of Internal Revenue reports. Large cigar output totaled 290,111,072 against 355,382,300 a year ago. Manufactured tobacco output was 24,938,566 pounds against 27,988,941.

Reichsbank Gold Holdings Decline

BERLIN, April 25.—Bank of Germany statement as of April 22 shows gold of 407,000,000 marks against 421,400,000 marks on April 15; circulation of 3,278,200,000 marks compared with 3,422,500,000, and reserve ratio unchanged at 15.5 per cent.

LOCAL MARKET FALLS BACK SLIGHTLY

A slightly reactionary tone was in evidence on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, reflecting the let-down on the "big board" where the upward movement apparently had lost some of its recent strength. Commodities were lower. Declines here were of narrow scope and were spread pretty generally throughout the list. A rather wide advance in Harbison Walker was explained by the fact that the stock had not appeared in the market for about three weeks and therefore had not adjusted its position to the changed situation arising out of the gold embargo.

Lone Star Gas and the usually active industrial issues were down fractionally from last night's close, but there was no noticeable pressure of stock for sale. Traders were standing aside awaiting the next news from Washington. The New York market looked forward to the Steel Corporation meeting after the close when the board will act on the preferred dividend. There seemed to be a feeling that the payment would be continued at the 50-cent quarterly rate recently established.

The Corporation announced the 50-cent payment this afternoon.

WHEAT CLOSES WEAK, DOWN

CHICAGO, April 25.—Subsiding of inflation fever was apparent in the grain markets today, and prices averaged lower, wheat at no time going above yesterday's finish.

A majority of traders were inclined to look for what they called a natural reaction from the recent sharp advance and near the close wheat was down almost 2½ cents. Crop comments from the domestic winter belt were more favorable as a result of beneficial rains, but doubt was expressed that there would be any crop recovery of consequence where drought had prevailed.

Wheat closed weak, 1⅞-2½ under yesterday's finish, corn 1-1½ down, oats ⅞-1 off, and provisions unchanged to 17 cents decline.

STEEL FIRMS SHOW LOSS

No definite trend in earnings was shown by the leading steel companies which reported for the initial quarter of the year today.

Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation reports for the quarter ended March 31, 1933, net loss of $2,060,645 after deducting depreciation, depletion and interest. This compared with net losses of $1,717,290 in the fourth quarter of 1932 and of $2,399,089 in the first quarter of 1932.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company reports for the first quarter net loss of $3,473,370 after deducting taxes, interest, depreciation and depletion. This compared with net losses of $3,684,742 in the fourth quarter of 1932 and of $3,057,736 in the first quarter of 1932.

Jones & Laughlin declared a dividend of 25 cents on the preferred stock, payable July 1 to record of June 15. The same amount was paid three months ago.

How Inflation Should Benefit Wage Earners

By B. C. FORBES

"HOW CAN inflation, how can rising prices, help us when we already have a terrible struggle to make ends meet?"

Mr. Forbes

That query comes from many wage-earners and small-salaried men and women.

What's the answer?

WHY ARE so many millions of people idle? Why are so many businesses being run at a loss? Why have wages and salaries been so drastically cut?

Briefly, because of deflation.

WHAT IS meant by "deflation?"

During 1928-29 almost everything, securities, commodities, real estate, salaries, wages soared to heights unprecedented in peace times.

Since the boom burst, the whole trend has been drastically downward. Securities, commodities, real estate, salaries, wages have all fallen to emphatically lower levels. That's deflation.

ALWAYS, WHEN a definite down-trend sets in, buyers restrict purchases. Restriction of purchases causes prices to fall still farther. Shrivelling prices mean shrivelling profits, shrivelling wages, shrivelling market values, shrivelling wealth, shrivelling expenditures, shrivelling employment.

AFTER 1929 our so-called "national wealth" diminished many, many billions of dollars. Millionaires became penniless and in debt. Corporation profits were turned into losses. Bankruptcies galore occurred.

Salaried and wage employes were laid off by the million, and those retained suffered painfully sharp reductions in remuneration. Neither farmers nor manufacturers could market their products at a reasonable profit.

BY MARCH 4 of this year the down-trend, the deflation, had gone so far that the national situation had become truly alarming.

If an upheaval were to be averted, something drastic, something abnormal, something savoring of the revolutionary had to be done.

THE ANTIDOTE to deflation is, of course, reflation—or, to use the more popular term, inflation.

That is what President Roosevelt is attempting, by unprecedentedly daring measures, to bring about.

BY SPENDING vast sums on public works, by pumping billions into the banking system through Federal Reserve Bank purchases of government bonds from banks, by placing an embargo on gold exports and ceasing to redeem our paper currency in gold, by increasing our stock of silver currency, by arranging to lend billions to farmers, railroads, mortgagors and mortgagees, by passing legislation to increase enormously the prices of basic agricultural commodities, by demanding from Congress the right—should such action be deemed advisable—to issue additional billions of currency and even to cut the "gold content" of the dollar in half, etc., etc., President Roosevelt and his administration have set reflationary, or inflationary, processes in motion.

ALREADY SECURITIES have recovered spectacularly in quotations, commodity prices have bounded upwards, the demand for raw materials has expanded, and in other ways owners of cash have exhibited their anxiety to exchange it for tangible things, their reasoning being that the multiplication of dollars in circulation and the consequent lowering of their purchasing power abroad and at home, will make things worth more.

FRANKLY, FOR a period this rise in prices will hurt rather than help wage-earners, salaried employes, those dependent upon interest on their capital.

But we have already seen that rising prices have increased demand—steel production, to cite one classic instance, has already jumped up 35 per cent or more.

Increasing demands means, of course, increasing employment.

Increasing employment will mean still further increase in buying power and buying, more demand for commodities, and, as a corollary, more and more jobs, with an upward trend in wages.

THAT IS the program. If inflation be kept within bounds, if the clamor to work printing presses overtime in flooding the country with fiat money be resisted, the outcome should be happier than would have been the outcome had deflation and ruination continued to go from bad to worse.

New Railroad Move In Lake Cargo Case

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS.)—The so-called lake cargo coal case, which has plagued the Interstate Commerce Commission for more than 25 years, bobbed up again today in a new form.

It was an application of a group of railroads for withdrawal of the Commission's order of March 9, 1927, in order to permit them to increase rates on lake cargo coal 30 cents a net ton when destined to points between Brockville, Ont., on the East, and Sault Ste. Marie on the West.

Hearings were begun by the Commission on the application and another long-drawn out fight is anticipated.

Texas Oil Cut Believed To Be Temporary Trade Move

Coming on the heels of recent comment of R. C. Holmes, head of the company, with regard to illegal oil production, the action of the Texas Corporation in cutting its price for East Texas crude from 50 to 10 cents a barrel yesterday is interesting. The low price presumably will hold through the interim before the signing of the new control legislation passed on Saturday and now on the Texas Governor's desk for approval. The allowable in the area affected by the price cut was raised from 400,000 barrels to 800,000 barrels yesterday and under the new law it would go back to the lower figure. Meanwhile, however, Texas Corporation is apparently determined to discourage excessive output in the interval.

Those familiar with the oil situation are satisfied that the new price will prove temporary, although Standard of Indiana followed the move today. The drastic slash fulfills expectations in the trade that prices would be cut to clean up the situation, and in that respect it is regarded as really bullish in its longer-term potentialities. In well-informed circles opinion is that prices will likely be restored around the 75-cent level once output is again in good control.

At the annual meeting of the United Engineering and Foundry Company, George T. Ladd, president, said there has been some improvement in business since the first of the year and the recent marked pickup in steel plant operations has been reflected in numerous orders for small equipment, rolls, etc. There are also indications that some of the large machinery projects will be revived. The retiring directors were re-elected.

Some bankers aren't particularly disturbed by the inflation bill. They say that if business picks up in the next three or four months the amount of inflation that will develop won't do any harm. They are rather cheerful, declaring that business has been showing real signs for the first time since 1929. With the Chicago and North-Western ordering freight cars due to the upturn in its traffic, the equipment companies may see daylight before long. This may explain the formation of a pool in American Steel Foundries.

Unless there is a change in schedule the fate of the present $4 dividend on Consolidated Gas will be settled on Thursday when the board is slated to meet for action on the payment. For some weeks the street has been disposed to anticipate a reduction in the rate, though unofficial estimates indicate the company covered its first quarter requirements by a sizeable margin. Forecasts of a reduction to as low as a $3.20 annual basis have been in circulation, though concensus is that the adjustment, if decided upon, will not be quite so sharp. Net for the March quarter is estimated around $1.40 a share against $1.71 reported in the initial three months of 1932.

Stockholders at the annual meeting of the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation were unsuccessful in an attempt to obtain details of the company's security holdings or learn the size of salaries paid officials. Led by former Ambassador James W. Gerard, shareholders wanted to know just how much the company had invested in government bonds and how much in "other marketable securities;" whether bonuses were paid to officials and just what their salaries were. F. J. Emmerich, vice president and chairman of the meeting, explained that no bonuses were paid; that investments included, besides United States government bonds, securities connected with the company's business, and that information on salaries could not be supplied.

FEDERAL BONDS IN DEMAND

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS.)—The bond market continued to give a good account of itself through the late trading today, with further demand for United States governments and high grade corporation loans, and selective strength in domestic loans, tending to offset irregularity in the speculative rails and second grade corporation issues.

The majority of United States governments finished higher, lead by the Treasury 3s.

Investment buying continued in the better grade utility liens, with many of the American Telephone and Consolidated Gas Company issues closing from fractions to a point higher.

Moderate rallying power was displayed by the active speculative carrier issues, with a number closing higher.

Foreign governments were mixed, with United Kingdom 5½s active and higher.

Western Union bonds continued to boom in the domestic list.

Rock Island to Pay May Bond Interest

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—Dow, Jones & Co., said today that interest due May 1 on Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway 4½ per cent bonds of 1960 would be paid. To take care of obligations falling due July 1 the road has applied for a loan from the Railroad Credit Corporation.

CITES BENEFITS OF NEW GOLD POLICIES

(Editor's Note—Following is the second of two interviews with John Hays Hammond, world-famous mining engineer and economist, on the causes and effects of going off the gold standard.)

By TED SMITS

International News Service.

PASADENA, Cal., April 25.—"The advantages of 'going off gold,' inflating the currency moderately, and remonetizing silver so far outweigh the disadvantages that it becomes the only sane and logical step."

With this statement John Hays Hammond, veteran mining engineer and noted authority on gold and silver, and their relation to economics, today sought to dispel fears that have arisen since the United States cut itself loose from gold. He continued:

"The first advantage is that it will provide employment through the expansion of industry, including farming.

"Secondly, it will enhance the value of securities through increased confidence—prevented in the past by the constantly depressing value of commodities which led people to hold back their spending in the hope that prices will drift always lower.

TARIFF DEFENSE

"Thirdly, we have provided a new and effective tariff wall against the 'dumping' of commodities on our great market—and the United States constitutes half of the world market—by nations with depreciated currencies.

"The disadvantages, on the other hand, may be more immediately apparent, but I am confident that in time they will disappear with restored prosperity.

"Those dependent on fixed incomes, the salaried class, may be temporarily embarrassed, as they will find that the cost of living will rise faster than their incomes.

"However, in the end, even this class will profit both directly and indirectly by increased general prosperity.

SILVER KEY TO ORIENT

"Another class to 'suffer' will be those living and touring abroad. I am afraid that I do not have a great deal of sympathy for such people, believing as I do in 'seeing America first.'

"The remonetization of silver, along with readjustment of the gold standard, will open great, new markets to the United States — particularly in the Orient.

"I feel sure that the future will bring silver to a place where it will complement gold as currency, not replace it. We may return to the gold standard, but nevertheless silver will have a respected and important place, and credit will thereby be expanded.

"I do not believe any real danger exists of over-inflation of commodity prices, because the competition for profitable business would remove that danger."

March Automobile Sales Exceed February

CHICAGO, April 25.—(AP.)—With reports from 37 states, R. L. Polk & Co., today estimated March passenger car sales were about 75,000 units compared with 69,464 units the preceding month. Trucks sales also increased slightly.

SILVER PRICE FALLS BACK

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—Spot silver was quoted today at 36 cents an ounce, off 1¼ cents from yesterday's level, which was the highest in the last three years.

Silver futures in the national metal also were reactionary with losses running to about a cent an ounce.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Bids in the domestic copper market was the metal at 6⅜ cents a pound. There were a few small offers of metal at 6½ cents a pound. This compares with 6¼ cents yesterday.

NEW YORK, April 25.—(AP.)—The price of copper was advanced to 6½ cents a pound today to the accompaniment of the most active buying in some time. This is a uniform price among producers and it was also understood to be general asking price of custom smelters.

Demand was less active in the foreign market, it was reported, with European levels at 6.10@6.12½ cents, a slight recession from yesterday.

PITTSBURGH IN THE WAR OF 1812 • • • • THE OLDEST MANUFACTURING COMPANY IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

The declaration of war with England in 1812 came as a shock to the people of Pittsburgh, inasmuch as the meagre news reports had left them poorly informed as to its causes. The townspeople were not long in mobilizing patriotic sentiment, however, and soon the little shops and factories were humming with activity in the manufacture of war supplies.

McClurg's foundry was casting cannon and shot for Perry's fleet on Lake Erie and Jackson's army at New Orleans. A factory founded by Jeffery Scaife in 1802, at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Market Street, was making sponge buckets for the artillery. This company still exists as Wm. B. Scaife & Sons and is owned and operated by the direct descendants of the founder. It is said to be the oldest manufacturing company in the entire country west of Harrisburg. The plant is now located at Oakmont.

As the British were seeking to ally their old friends, the Indians, in their cause, the borough authorities called a town meeting to consider measures for the defense of the town. A company of volunteers, popularly known as the "Pittsburgh Blues," was organized and sent to join the army of General Harrison in the northwest.

It was during the latter part of the war of 1812 that Allegheny Arsenal was built by the Government.

RAW MATERIAL EXPORTS OFF

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP.)—An increase in the percentage of finished manufactures sent abroad and a decrease in crude materials was reported today by the Commerce Department in its comparison of March exports with those of the corresponding month of last year.

Finished manufactures totaled $47,047,000, or 44.3 per cent of the month's exports, compared with $61,348,000, or 40.4 per cent in March of last year, while crude materials totaled $29,359,000, or 27.6 per cent as compared with $50,409,000, or 33.2 per cent.

For the three months ending with March, exports of finished manufactures totaled $132,868,000, or 41 per cent, against $173,373,000, or 38.6 per cent in the same three months of 1932. Crude materials were $103,453,000, or 31.9 cent, against $152,777,000, or 34 per cent.

Total monthly figures, as previously announced by the department, showed exports falling to $106,310,000 from $151,776,000, and imports declining to $94,864,000 from $131,189,000.

BUSINESS

Inflation Still Spurs Plants to Higher Production

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

INFLATION PLANS continue to spur industry on to higher rates of activity. Under the stimulus of advancing prices for stocks and most commodities, production appears to be taking a marked upturn.

Of particular interest to Pittsburgh has been the expansion of the rate of steel ingot production. The increase in production in this industry during the past two weeks has been the sharpest in more than a year.

Authorities on the steel industry show some variation in their estimates of current production. Their figures range from 22 to 25 per cent of capacity. There is no doubt about the fact, however, that the upturn has been exceptionally sharp.

Automobile production has been a major factor in stimulating steel output but other industries have contributed a share.

* * *

Market Action Is Confusing

IN SOME RESPECTS the action of the markets for securities has been confusing during the past few days. Stocks of industrial organizations have moved in direct contrast to the foreign exchange market for the dollar. This was to be expected since stocks represent a share in the ownership of physical assets which should increase in value under inflation conditions.

Along with this, however, the market prices of United States Government securities have been strong. One would naturally expect weakness to appear in fixed income securities if the dollar's value is to be diluted.

There have been other paradoxes. The doubtful position of the public utilities, which may be squeezed between rising costs for materials and stable rates, was discussed in this column yesterday. But the prices of utility stocks have been strong. This strength might be attributed to the fact that deflation in their prices may have proceeded to an extent which over discounts even the adverse possibilities of inflation.

Rails Also Show Market Strength

THE RAILS have followed the general procession and their shares have advanced in price. It is difficult to appraise the future of these stocks. If business continues to gain under the influences of inflation, rail traffic will improve. On the other hand, the costs of the materials needed to operate railroads will gain. It is improbable that increases in freight rates will be permitted to compensate for the advances in costs, although expanded traffic volume may go a long ways towards compensating for this disadvantage.

In considering the rails it must be remembered that the administration has made it clear that there will be no attempt to support top-heavy railroad capital structures. It still seems probable that a large share of the railroad systems will have to be put through the ringer of capital reorganization and that the stockholders will get the short end of the deal.

Wagner to Receive Silver Baseball

Honus Wagner will be presented a silver ball Friday before the Pirates and Cubs stage their Forbes Field battle. The gift will be a present from Joe Brown, motion picture comedian, and will be tendered by Dick Powell, formerly of Pittsburgh, who is now engaged in motion picture work.

William E. Benswanger, president of the Pirates, today was in receipt of a letter from Wilbur F. Maxwell, executive secretary of the Welfare Fund, which commended the Pittsburgh club in continuing its free tickets for a stated number of the unemployed at each Forbes Field game.

President Benswanger will leave Sunday night for Philadelphia where on Monday the golden anniversary of the Phillies' entrance into the National League will be observed.

ADDITIONAL SPORTING NEWS

SCHOOL LINKS TEAMS RESUME PLAY TODAY

By TOM BIRKS

Seven Interscholastic Golf Conference matches and the first tournament of the season of the Hotel, Club and Restaurant Men's Association provided the competitive golf action for today. Pitt and Tech originally were slated to meet at the Field Club, but this match was postponed until May 15. The restaurant men will compete at Stanton Heights.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, President Walter Meinecke, of the association, will hit the first ball and the tournament season for that organization will be on. At the conclusion of the tourney the members will adjourn to Kleman's Inn for the first monthly dinner.

SCHOOL MATCHES CARDED

In the scholastic matches in Section I, University School meets Connelley; Oliver takes on Allderdice, and Kiski, defending section and Conference champion, engages Peabody.

In Section II, Turtle Creek tackles Springdale; McKeesport meets Wilkinsburg and Shady Side challenges Brentwood.

Paul (Toots) Erath, of Edgewood, hangs out his professional shingle today. He was admitted to membership in the National and Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association yesterday afternoon.

The committee, composed of Vincent Eldred, Jock Kennedy and Perry Del Vecchio, reported favorably on Toots' application for admission to the association.

Erath is one of the most likable fellows in the district, a good teacher and a good golfer. His 12 years of experience will stand him in good stead now.

CLINIC A SUCCESS

Sam Parks, chairman of the greens committee at the Highland Country Club, reports that the clinic held at the club yesterday afternoon was a huge success. Many of the outstanding greenskeepers and greens chairmen attended the affair sponsored by the popular Wellington Heights club.

County parks golfers have been advised by John E. Heywang, president of their organization, the Allegheny County Parks Golfers' Association, not to take out their season cards pending a meeting this week between the association and the County Commissioners, at which statistics pertaining to costs in other cities will be presented for consideration in the fight to have the fee lowered from $20 to the original $10. The permits went on sale yesterday at the city office of the county parks.

According to Heywang, this meeting was agreed upon last week, when the Commissioners said they would lower the fee price later if conditions warranted such a move.

SCHENLEY OPENING SET

The oft-postponed opening of the Schenley Park public links has been set definitely for Saturday by Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang. The course will be thrown open to the public at 9:30 a. m.

Ralph Waner Opens Baseball School Here

Ralph Waner, brother of Paul and Lloyd, yesterday opened his baseball school for youngsters at the West Penn playgrounds, Lawrenceville, with a turnout of more than 50 players. The best of the group will be retained to play an independent schedule and any players who develop will be tried out by the Pirates or farmed to other league teams, it was said.

BRADLEY DERBY ENTRIES SET

DERBY WORKOUTS

Associated Press.

War Stripes (Samuel Riddle)—Won mile and 70-yard race at Havre de Grace.

Dark Winter (W. S. Kilmer)—Ran second to War Stripes, a half length behind.

Swinhaven (P. A. Markey)—Finished third, two and one-half lengths back of War Stripes. Also ran—Pomposo, Parity, Enthusiast.

Dark Amber (William Woodward)—Also ran in mile and one-sixteenth claiming race won by non-derby horse at Havre de Grace.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 25.—(AP.)—Col. E. R. Bradley is not disappointed at the showing of Broker's Tip and Boilermaker, second and third to Warren Jr. in a race at Lexington Saturday and will start them in the Kentucky Derby May 6.

This announcement was made by H. J. Thompson, trainer for Bradley's Idlehour Farm, who said that with a little better racing luck Broker's Tip probably would have defeated the Calumet Farm colt.

Only injury or illness will keep them from going to the post in the $50,000-added classic, Thompson said, in an attempt to bring Col. Bradley his fourth Derby victory. Thompson trained all three of Bradley's winners, Behave Yourself, Bubbling Over and Burgoo King.

Though workouts of Derby eligibles training at the Downs hold the center of attention here, there is wide speculation concerning what horses will be shipped here from the East for the blue ribbon event.

W. R. Coe's Ladysman, winter book favorite, and other leading contenders are expected to start leaving Maryland and other eastern training quarters Sunday.

Meanwhile, stables are arriving daily from Lexington, where the race meeting closed last week, and handlers are fitting them for preliminary racing tests during the first week of the Downs meeting, which begins Saturday. The Derby will be raced the following Saturday.

PROBE OF BOUT UNDER WAY

CLEVELAND, April 25.—(INS.)—Investigation into the "no contest" bout of Gorilla Jones, Akron middleweight, and Ben Jeby, of New York City, was to be launched today at a session of the Cleveland Boxing Commission.

Among the charges to be probed include the assertion that Jones was intimidated by New York gangsters; that Jones and his manager, Suey Welch, allegedly made an agreement for Jones not to try to knock out Jeby, and that Jones would have had to put lead weights in his shoes if he had been forced to weigh in.

Both fighters and their managers already have been suspended for a year by the National Boxing Association. It was indicated that the Cleveland Commission may bar the boxers for a longer period.

The fighters, both claimants to the world middleweight title, were accused of "stalling" in the bout, which was halted at the end of six rounds.

Greensburg High To Have Track Team

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 25.—Greensburg High School will have a track team this year, it was announced today after it was first believed the sport would be abandoned for lack of funds. Sufficient money was raised through receipts from Greensburg's football game with Derry Township last Saturday to defray expense of a team.

The local track squad has been practicing for two weeks and is trying to arrange a meet for Saturday. It will participate in the Pitt meet next month in addition to a triangular meet in Latrobe May 13 and the annual county meet.

Higgins Predicts Improvement at State

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(AP.)—Robert A. Higgins, head football coach at Pennsylvania State College, predicts the Nittany Lion will come out of the slump this autumn.

Higgins, in Harrisburg to address Penn State alumni yesterday, said the tough sledding the college's elevens have undergone since 1930 was due largely to a lack of material resulting from abolition of the scholarship system at the school.

He also blamed Penn State's heavy schedule for a portion of its set-backs on the gridiron in the past few seasons.

Higgins explained that the schedule is more balanced this season and that, while he does not expect to produce a national championship team, he does hope to win several major contests.

Local Sandlot Stars Sign New Contracts

Jack Cummings, North Side catcher, and Boots Shoop, hard-hitting outfielder, have been signed by the Parmelee Baseball Club.

Charles Dunn, formerly of Books and Homewood, has been signed as a pitcher by the Brentwood Club, of the City League.

HOPPE EQUALS WORLD CAROM RECORD

CHICAGO, April 25.—(AP.)—The second block of the six-block 1,500-point cushion carom billiard match for the world title will be played this evening between Willie Hoppe, of New York, and Jake Schaefer, Jr., of San Francisco.

In last night's block, won by Hoppe by the score of 250 to 197 in 43 innings, Hoppe tied the world high run mark of 38, which was set 50 years ago by the veteran George F. Slosson in the last cushion carom title event held in New York in 1883.

Hoppe took an early lead and was out in front, 75 to 19, at the end of the first 10 innings. At the end of the twentieth, Schaefer, aided with a high run of 32, tied the score at 98, and from then on the lead changed hands six times until the thirty-second frame, when the 18.1 balkline champion scored his high run of 38, one point of which was lost in a foul.

EDDIE JACOBS SCORES WIN

HOT SPRINGS, Va., April 25.—(AP.)—Seeded players experienced little difficulty advancing to the second round of the annual Homestead tennis tournament here.

Seeded players entered are: No. 1, Francis X. Shields, New York; No. 2, Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles; No. 3, Marcel Rainville, Canadian cup player; No. 4, Samuel E. Gilpin II, Philadelphia; No. 5, Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore; No. 6, Alex Keiles, Baltimore; No. 7, Charles Lockett, Pittsburgh; No. 8, Paul Pollard, Lynchburg.

Shields did not have to extend himself yesterday to defeat Carl B. Brown, of Detroit. Keiles eliminated Dr. Maurice M. Flies, of Clifton Forge, and Eddie Jacobs downed Edward Reeves, of New York. Lester Stoefen and Marcel Rainville drew first round byes.

Gerald F. Warburg, of New York, sprained his ankle in a practice match, and Van Lear received their scheduled match by default.

In the women's matches Miss Alison R. Harrison defeated Miss Beatrice Coughlin, of Fairfield, Conn.; Miss Jean Schweppe eliminated Mrs. Marcel Rainville; Miss Hilleary and Mrs. Lamme, seeded players, drew first round byes. Mrs. Barger Wallack, of New York, 1908 women's national singles champion, defeated Miss Abrigail I. Sard, of Washington.

Miller Increases Lead Over Stewart

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 25.—(AP.)—Joe Miller, of Buffalo, widened his lead in the national match game bowling championship last night to 573, taking the fourth 10-game block in the series by 146 pins from Stewart Watson, of Chicago.

MILLERS RELEASE PAIR

MINNEAPOLIS, April 25.—(AP.)—The Minneapolis American Association baseball club has released Outfielder Ab Wright on option to Elmira of the New York-Pennsylvania circuit. Pitcher Bobby Poser was given an outright release.

THRILLING NOVEL OF THE CHILDREN OF DANCING MOTHERS

CHAPTER XXX.

Toward 10 o'clock that morning it began to rain very hard. The office windows fairly streamed with water, and at noon the salesmen came in smelling of wet rubber coats and wet felt hats—a most depressing smell.

It seemed to Sharlie, when she went down to the cafeteria on the first floor for her lunch, that everyone in the building was trying to crowd into it at once.

"Well, I'd rather go without anything to eat than go out of the building for my lunch," one girl said to her as she stood waiting outside the door. "I never saw such a storm, did you? It's a regular cloudburst."

"And I'm wearing my new spring hat today," Sharlie answered her. She looked down at the paper-thin soles of her bronze slippers, and thought of the $10 bill with which she had paid for the little almond-green straw hat. If it didn't stop raining before 5 o'clock she would have to go home in a taxicab, she decided. It would be cheaper to pay cab fare than to spoil a pair of slippers and a perfectly good new hat.

At 5 o'clock it was almost dark and it was raining harder than ever. She put on her coat and the almond-green hat and went into Edna's office to suggest to her that they both go home in a cab and split the fare.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" she apologized quickly as she opened the door. Then she began to back out of the room, for Mr. Collins was standing beside Edna's desk, dictating something to her from a paper he held in his hand.

EDNA STILL BUSY

He turned at the sound of her voice.

"Come in—come in. I was just finishing," he said, and she came back into the room.

"I just wondered if you were ready to start home, Edna," she said to Edna, standing just inside the door and looking at Mr. Collins as she spoke. "I'll wait outside for you."

She saw that Mr. Collins was looking at her, his eyes going from her high-heeled bronze slippers to the flimsy little hat.

"How do you girls get home in a storm like this?" he asked suddenly, turning toward Edna.

"Oh, we're used to rain, Sharlie and I, Mr. Collins," she said, lightly, standing up and reaching for some carbon paper at the back of her desk. "Don't you worry about us . . . I'll be with you in 10 minutes, Sharlie. Just go outside and sit down."

"Sharlie doesn't look as if she were dressed for bad weather," Mr. Collins persisted.

Sharlie saw Edna frown and flush a little, and she knew that Edna was displeased because she was not properly dressed for either work or weather. Edna would probably scold her all the way home in the cab.

"We're going to get a cab," she was beginning when Mr. Collins spoke again.

GET USE OF CAR

"My car's down in the lot behind the building," he said to Edna. "You girls can go home in it if you like, and send the car back here for me. I'm going to be busy for another half hour or so, anyway . . . Ask Mr. Goode to come in to my office now, will you please? And tell him to bring last week's sales sheet with him."

He disappeared into his own office before either one of the girls had time to say "Thank you."

"In all the years I've worked for him he's never done a thing like this before," Edna observed when they were in the elevator on their way down to the first floor of the building. She sounded as if she were excited and there was a little smile in the corners of her lips. "I don't know what to make of it."

"There's nothing so mysterious about it, is there?" Sharlie asked drily. "If he were driving the car himself and taking just you and you alone home in it, you might think it was because he was interested in you. But sending the pair of us home with his chauffeur doesn't mean a thing, so far as I can see."

But it did mean something as she saw it. She knew that it was not Edna whom Mr. Collins was sending home through the storm. She knew that it was because he saw her as a pretty girl in thin bronze slippers. And if he never had done such a thing for Edna before it was because he never thought of Edna as a pretty girl who needed looking after, but simply as a capable office worker who wore raincoats and stout shoes and who was perfectly able to look after herself!

The car, standing in one corner of the muddy parking space behind the building, was a long low black car. At the wheel sat a Japanese chauffeur in dark gray livery. He sprang out onto the ground when he saw Edna and touched his cap and grinned.

"Mr. Collins coming?" he asked as he took from her Mr. Collins' leather brief case she had carried downstairs with her.

SHARLIE DELIGHTED

"Not just now, Ino," Edna answered him. "Mr. Collins wants you to take Miss Dunn and me home and then come back here for him in half an hour . . . Let's see, Ino, is that case fastened tightly?"

> Synopsis
>
> Pretty Sharlie Dunn's husband is killed on their wedding day and she returns to live with her mother, Dodie. After a brief estrangement, Sharlie's parents are reconciled. Jim Barnum, neighbor, is in love with Sharlie and reprimands her for her flirtations. Edna Ballinger, a cousin, gets Sharlie a position where she works. Edna has secretly loved her employer, Mr. Collins, for years. Sharlie finds office work dull.
>
> Now Go On

She got into the car and Sharlie got in after her and sank down on the wide seat. Sharlie never had been in a really good car before except for her short drive with Norman MacKinnon on the night

"All the comforts of home!" she said delightedly to Edna as the car swung around the parking space and emerged into the rain-swept, wind-swept street. "Ah, if I could have a car it would be just like this one, Edna . . . except that I'd have a vanity case under the windows and a mirror instead of a cigar lighter!"

She leaned back and watched the crowd, fighting their way against the wind and rain, running for street cars with their heads down and their arms hugged close to their sides. Three or four taxicabs passed, all of them filled with passengers.

"We'd probably have to wait an hour for a taxi," she sighed comfortably. "I'll bet you that every one in town is taken right now."

Jim Barnum was just getting out of his little car when they drove up before their own door. He stopped and stared for a few seconds, holding the door open for them.

"Nice car," he said as they came running up the wet stone steps.

"It's Mr. Collins' car," Sharlie told him, hanging back a little and letting Edna go upstairs ahead of her and Jim. "He sent us home from the office in it. . . . It would never occur to you to wonder how I am supposed to get home from downtown on a rainy night, would it?"

FEELS VICTORIOUS

She gave him a tight-lipped little smile as they started up the stairs to the second floor.

"I thought about you tonight, as a matter of fact, Sharlie," Jim said. "But I was 'way out on Berkshire Heights at that Weston house that our firm planned. 'Way out at the other end of town—five miles from your office—"

"Oh, don't apologize," Sharlie interrupted him. "It didn't make any difference. I can always find somebody or other to help me out of my troubles. It happened to be Mr. Collins this time."

Jim knew that Mr. Collins was the man that she and Edna worked for.

"Sure. He probably has a crush on you," he said gloomily. "I don't remember that he ever sent Edna home in his car."

Sharlie laughed. They were at the top of the stairs now, facing each other under the opal-glass lamp that hung above the landing.

"He never did send her home in it before," she said slowly. "And he probably wouldn't have sent her home in it tonight if she hadn't happened to be around when he asked me how I was going to get home . . . It was I that he sent home, Jimmie."

And leaving him to think that over she pushed open the door of her father's apartment and stepped inside. Later that night, lying in bed, she wondered why she had said that to Jim.

It wasn't because she wanted to hurt him or make him jealous. She knew that he was jealous of every man who came her way, anyhow . . . No, that hadn't been the reason. The real reason had been her desire to tell some one that Mr. Collins had begun to notice her as he never had noticed Edna—as a woman and not as a mere cog in the office wheel.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK

It extends 1,139 square miles on the west slope of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, Eastern California. The rivers that water it originate in everlasting snow, resting by the way in snow bordered lakes, romping through luxuriant valleys, rushing turbulently over rocky heights. The noblest forest, the loftiest granite domes, the deepest ice-sculptured canyons are included.

ALFONSO VIII WITH HIS TROOPS AFTER THE BATTLE OF NAVAS de TOLOSA (1212)

This battle is memorable for the checking of the Moorish (Mohammedan) power in Spain; as important for Christianity as the battle of Tour (732) which prevented the advance of Moslems into Western Europe. The final defeat of the Moors in Spain could not be accomplished before the close of the Fifteenth Century. (World's History.)

TEMPERATURE SCALES

Marking the temperature of melting ice as 32° and that of boiling water as 212°, we obtain the Fahrenheit scale; by marking these two points as 0° and 100° respectively, we have the Celsius or Centigrade scale. In the Fahrenheit scale (F.°) the distance between the freezing and boiling points of water is divided into 180 equal parts and point (0°C.) in the Celsius scale (C.°) into 100 parts. For lower temperatures the scale is extended below the melting point of ice. The absolute temperature scale (A.°) shows 273° at the ice melting point (0°C.) Conversions: F.°=9/5 (C.°) +32 and C.°=5/9 (F.°—32) also A°=C°+273.

STEPHENSON'S "ROCKET" 1829

Stephenson's "Rocket" won a £500 prize in a contest against 4 other engines, by hauling 30 persons at a speed up to 30 miles an hour. Locomotives still are built, although improved, along the same principles Stephenson set up. (Dale: Landmarks of British History).

COMPOSITION OF VEGETABLES (Science)

Generally: Seeds are high in protein; roots, bulbs and tubers rich in starch or some form of sugar, low in protein and fat; rinds, leaves, stems contain chiefly minerals. Combined with concentrated foods, especially those which contain protein (eggs, cheese, meat, etc.), vegetables contribute to a well balanced diet. The exclusive use of vegetables as food (vegetarianism) is not so beneficial to the normal man as a mixed diet (containing meat). (Kinne & Cooley: Foods).

COMPOSITION OF SUGARS (Science)

Sugars are common in plants. In grape juice, sweet corn, onions: Glucose. In sugar-cane: Sucrose. In honey: Fructose. In milk: Lactose. In germinating seeds: Maltose. Molasses is the boiled down juice of sugar cane. Maple sugar is made by evaporating the sap of the maple tree. They all belong to the group of carbohydrates characterized by the general formula (C6n+H2p Op). Carbohydrates are the chief source of energy in our body; its metabolism is a most important physiological process during which they are transformed into dextrose and taken up in the blood for distribution to the cells. (Kinne & Cooley: Foods).

Bugs Baer

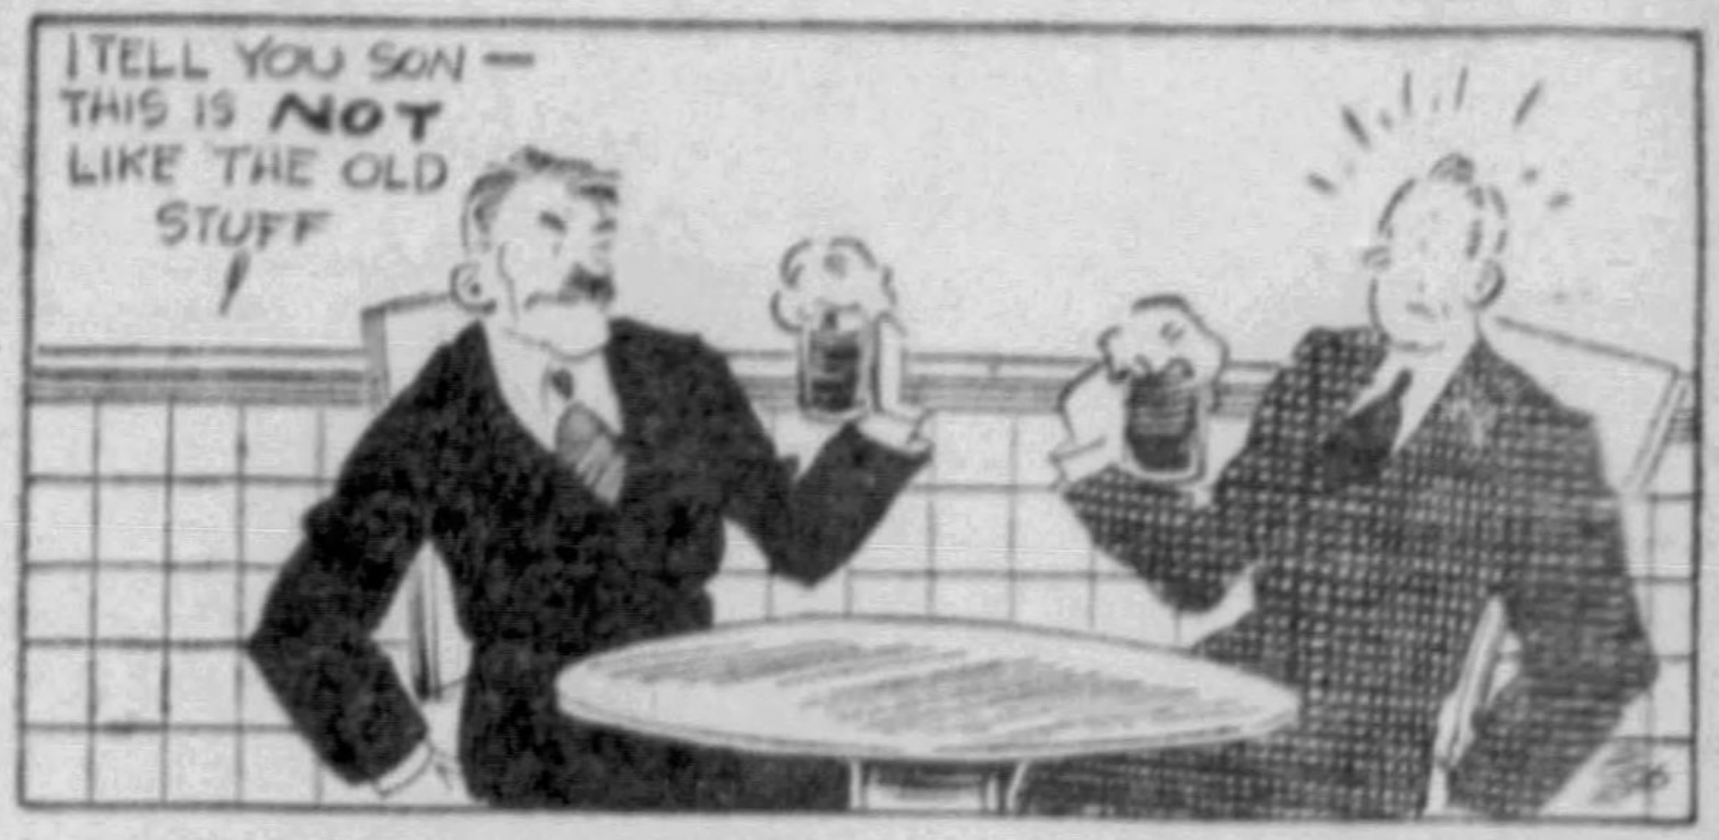
The Boys Are Not Satisfied

The beer inhalers got what they hollered for. But they proved our prophetic postscript about wanting more than they got.

We watched an oldtimer swizzle his first real beer in 13 years. His nose went into the foam like a mallard into a rice swamp.

First thing he said was, "Too much collar." Wonder he didn't accuse it of having a necktie and a vest also.

Then he tilted the mug, sipped a mouthful and swallowed it in a series of gulps. When he saw the ceiling through the bottom of the glass he set it down. He wiped his chin on the back of his hand. Then he wiped the back of his hand on the front of his coat.



I TELL YOU SON — THIS IS NOT LIKE THE OLD STUFF!

This time he said, "Not like the old stuff."

He ordered six more to prove he was right and the beer was wrong.

On the seventh he repeated monotonously, "Not like the old stuff."

Then he waddled to the free lunch and loaded himself to the carload limit. That wasn't like the old stuff either. It was too fresh.

You can't please the oldtimer. He wants the same old lunch, the identical bar towels and the genuine historic flies that used to buzz around the electric fan.

The old boy was satisfied with seven unhappy experiments.

But, laying down his glass for the last time he looked at it, wagged his head sadly.

"Not like the old glass," he said. "Too small."

Then he went through the door at a somber gait.

At the threshold he paused gloomily.

"Not like the old places," he said sadly. "In the old places I never had to walk. They used to throw me out."

The Council Vacancy

A Competent Citizen Should Be Elected to the Place Without Unnecessary Delay

Mayor John S. Herron and his followers in City Council are being advised not to fill at this time the Councilmanic vacancy caused by Herron's election to the mayoralty.

The vacancy should be retained, it is argued, as bait with which to allure and disarm persons who otherwise might be hostile to the Coyne-Herron faction in the approaching primary.

This is characteristic, selfish politicians' reasoning.

If there is any thought for the welfare of the city, it is secondary; first consideration is given to personal and partisan advantage.

If it is to the city's advantage to have a full council of nine members—and the Legislature evidently thought it was — a competent citizen should be elected to the vacancy without unnecessary delay.

Restitution in Order

If Not Prosecuted, the Police Who Took Excess Witness Fees Should Be Made to Return the Money

Although required to swear that they were collecting witness fees for no more than one case a day, a number of policemen and constables are shown by an auditor's report to the County Commissioners to have collected fees for testifying in several cases on the same day.

Detective Inspector Frank R. Boyd is charged, for example, with having collected $24 for attending court as a witness in eight cases, all on the same day.

The county is said to have been defrauded out of thousands of dollars in this way.

Prosecution is recommended by Clerk of Courts Samuel J. Topley and Controller Robert G. Woodside, but District Attorney Andrew T. Park says:

> "Parts of the report might look pretty bad for these officers, but there is always the chance that they did not take the money deliberately. To prosecute these officers would be a pretty bad thing for me to do. They are the men I rely on to get convictions."

If there are to be no prosecutions, then, the erring officers should at least be compelled to return the excess money that they collected.

It should not be necessary to pay policemen witness fees for testifying in criminal trials resulting from their work unless they are required to attend court outside of their regular work hours.

To Preserve Confidence

The Rich and Powerful Should Receive the Same Treatment From the Courts as the Poor Receive

Several politicians who had been convicted or pleaded guilty of crime have been excused by local courts in recent years from serving prison sentences on the ground that their health was poor and imprisonment would be injurious. The pronouncement of a Federal judge on this subject is of interest.

In New York City last Thursday James J. McCormick, a politician, convicted of having failed to file income tax returns for 1929 and 1930, was brought before Judge John C. Knox for sentence. Three physicians, including one appointed by the government, told the judge that McCormick's physical condition was such that a term in jail might mean his death.

The court accordingly sentenced the man to serve four months in a correctional institution where his health can be guarded.

In refusing to excuse McCormick from imprisonment, Judge Knox said that to preserve public confidence in the courts it must be known that "a man who has wielded considerable political power, and is well to do, can have no treatment other than that which would be given to a person of more humble circumstances."

That is justice.

Abdication Asked

The Federal Budget Director's Extraordinary Proposal Calls for an Explanation

Congress has received from the newly appointed Director of the Budget, Lewis W. Douglas of Arizona, an insistent demand that the President be given emergency power to furlough at will on half pay trained and competent officers of the United States Army, and to cancel or modify any contract to which the United States may be a party.

This is the same Mr. Douglas who, as a representative in Congress from Arizona, said on the floor of the House on May 17, 1932, while the War Department appropriation bill was under consideration:

> "I will not vote to reduce the personnel of our national defense system for the reason that to do so will mean future loss of human lives."

If Mr. Douglas was so opposed less than a year ago to eliminating 2,000 officers from the regular army, why is he now in favor of furloughing on half pay twice that number?

Whence come the alarming reports from Washington that the strength of the National Guard is to be reduced and its field training suspended in whole or in major part?

Congress should find out forthwith if these proposals are being urged upon the President by a newly appointed Director of the Budget who is also undertaking, with the assistance of several obscure assistants, to reorganize all of the executive departments at Washington within a few weeks.

Mr. Douglas is not a miracle man. He is neither the President nor the Congress. He is only a new and untried executive appointee who has yet to prove that his alleged talent for great responsibility is in any degree commensurate with his apparent passion for power.

The household of the nation is vitally interested in maintaining and enhancing the confidence of the people in the good faith of their government at Washington.

The American people know full well that it is the constitutional obligation of the Congress "to provide for the common defense."

And every state in the Union is in favor of maintaining the Regular Army and the National Guard at a strength that will enable them to perform their mission in a national emergency.

Before Congress abdicates its authority and responsibility in regard to the fundamental functions of the Federal government, it should afford its former member the opportunity of a public hearing that he may explain his extraordinary somersault upon the all-important questions of Federal good faith and national defense.

Once Overs

—By J. J. Mundy—

Certainly you should make plans for the future and in order to do so, intelligently, you must give considerable thought to it.

In so doing remember it is the future which should concern you most.

And with that in mind, think hardest on the present.

It is going to require much thought to even "weather through."

For that reason, don't give up hope for the present and near future to the extent that you only think of what you will do when times are better.

Your thinking apparatus is your valuable possession.

In it rests your only hope of geting out of your present trying position of constant struggle.

If you throw up your hands with the conviction that there is no use in making further effort you are lost.

It may be most difficult for you to be hopeful and optimistic and keep faith in your own ability, but it is necessary that you should do so.

When you lose confidence in yourself, there is no hope for you.

It is probably true that never in your life have you experienced such a demand upon your resourcefulness, self-reliance and ingenuity, as at present.

But don't give up—don't fail yourself, either now or later.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 25.—Whatever the ultimate fate of the quixotic adventure known as Radio City, it's certain its Music Hall and new Roxy theater are financial successes. Unless they veer into storms not visible on the horizon, they will, with a low bow to Walter Lippmann, pay out handsomely.

It is true that in a world of quick changes Music Hall had to submit to a sudden shift, too. It took the vast Hippodrome 20 years to turn from elaborate extravaganza to movies. But Music Hall, by a nod from Deac Aylesworth, did identically the same thing in three short weeks. That saved it.

The two theaters within a brassie shot of each other have proved twin tornadoes in devastating many large cineman cathedrals along Broadway. Almost from opening to closing, they are packed to capacity while most of the others have only a thin trickle through their lobbies.

I recall caustic comment of a wag—Will Rogers, I think—following the agonizing opening of Music Hall with all its regimental splendor. "Next week," he cracked, "they should put on 'The Fall of the House of Usher'." And the jocosity fitted the situation then. But not now.

* * *

Corduroy is again coming into favor. Even fashionable avenue tailors are exploiting knickers of the material for Long Island wear. Members of the country gentlemen literati, such as Royal Brown, Ben Ames Williams and Samuel Merwin are donning them. Corduroy is in reality a royal cloth, originally cord du roi especially made for a French monarch.

* * *

As a member of what Irvin Cobb calls the younger owl wagon set in an Ohio town, I formed early aversion for corduroy. Every noonday a corduroyed gentleman climbed the stool next to mine for his meal. He was a hostler in a livery stable, and his corduroy held the odor of the stalls as fragrantly as an enormous gobleted Napoleon brandy that aromatic bouquet.

The twin goldfish, Ethelbert and Gwendolyn, are rounding — and rounding is the fitting term— their second year in a wide-flanged brandy glass, exactly the size of those featured at La Perouse and Voisin's. Gwendolyn continues the fluttering coquette and Ethelbert detached and meditative. All the overtures toward him behind a screenage of fern go unnoticed. He takes life entirely too seriously.

* * *

Insomniacs: Bob Davis usually awakens at 3 a. m. and reads until daylight . . . Irvin Cobb cannot sleep after 5 a. m. . . . Theodore Dreiser often arises at 2 a. m. and walks for two hours steadily . . . Herbert Hoover sleeps two hours and remains awake two hours throughout the night . . . Al Jolson, an old trouper, can't sleep on railroad trains . . . Dean Cornwell sleeps best in a rocking chair.

* * *

The corner above the Palace Theater, milling with its not too honest camp followers of Chance, is liveliest at 4 in the afternoon, when foxy fellows of the neighborhood seep out to idle along the curbs and puff "after breakfast" smokes. One late afternoon several years ago, passing there, I recognized a former Gallipolis schoolmate. He told of vague dealings in theatricals and in Wall street, mentioning big names casually. Last evening I saw him again, more faded and entirely weaned of disillusion. "I spent 10 years around here," he said, "awaiting breaks that finally broke me."

* * *

It may have nothing to do with longevity, but DeWolf Hopper's favorite lunch is a huge plate of hot soup, preferably vegetable, eaten at the highest possible temperature with two thin slices of toast Melba.

Owen Davis, the playwright, comes from a frozen reach of Maine where burials are deferred during the winter. Last December a native passed away and was filed in a root cellar from December until April. Davis' old neighbor in telling about it said: "When we took him out he was as fresh as a mackerel."

Ewing Galloway, whose dog Susie at 4 years of age is the mother of 11 offspring, is changing her name to Edna St. Vincent Millay, because she is so littery. All of which inspires Lisle Bell, reading across the room, languidly to look up and drawl that for years he has wanted to own a female pig born at the end of Lent so he could name it "Sow-Easter!" No wonder I'm nearly insane.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

And now "happy days have come again." Or so we're told. And will not everyone take advantage of them to Get Going? Yes, everyone will NOT!

For folks are funny. You can hand a lot of them Prosperity—but just try to make 'em use it!

Why won't they? Here's why won't they. Remember the old Mother Goose rhyme about Humpty Dumpty?

"Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall;
Humpty Dumpty had a great fall.
All the King's horses and all the King's men
Couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again."

WE CAN'T PUT OUR HUMPTY DUMPTY TOGETHER AGAIN. There you have the reason why thousands of us are going to stay Depressed even though Prosperity has at last come around our corner.

Once upon a time, before everything went blooey, we had our Pet Particular Scheme of Things. Some of us were born in it. Some of us had achieved it after years of struggle. Be that as it may, there we were settled at last, sitting pretty with our good jobs, our favorite friends, our nice little houses, our classy little cars.

Oh, those dear, dead days—how wonderful they were! No more bitter hardships to be faced. No more upsetting adjustments to be made. That was the life! How we loved it! How safe and snug we felt—and how soft and smug we grew!

Then came the smash.

Away went the "best laid schemes o' mice and men." Down came Humpty Dumpty in a very great fall.

And now, even though happy days may have come again— which still remains to be seen— not all the King's horses nor all the King's men can ever put our particular Humpty Dumpty together again. For those days are done forever.

Other days may come, bringing new jobs, new joys, new friends, new homes, but that particular Scheme of Things into which we had settled so softly and safely— that's gone for keeps, with our baby teeth and our first sweethearts, and no power on earth can bring it back again.

So then, what?

So then, a lot of us are going to spend the rest of our lives blubbering and bewailing around like the lazy, cowardly cry-babies which we are. For if we can't put together our dear old Humpty Dumpty world—then we don't want any world at all!

Don't be like that!

Go on, child, even if you can't put the pieces together again!

I know—it hurts. Something sweet and young has been lost from life—a laughing eagerness, a proud confidence. Perhaps you've had to take a harder rap than even that—watched love turn to hate; seen the grave close over all you held dear.

But go on! That's life and YOU'RE BIG ENOUGH TO TAKE IT!

You've lost some of the pieces, yes! But there are plenty left, and plenty of new ones lying ready at your hand. So, go on! Get busy! You built a world for yourself once. You can do it again!

Then wipe the old chin, child— and GET GOING!

Idleness has no advocates, but many practitioners.

People who are afraid of freckles never make hay while the sun shines.

The best way to get along is not to sit and dread anything, but to get on your feet and get it done.

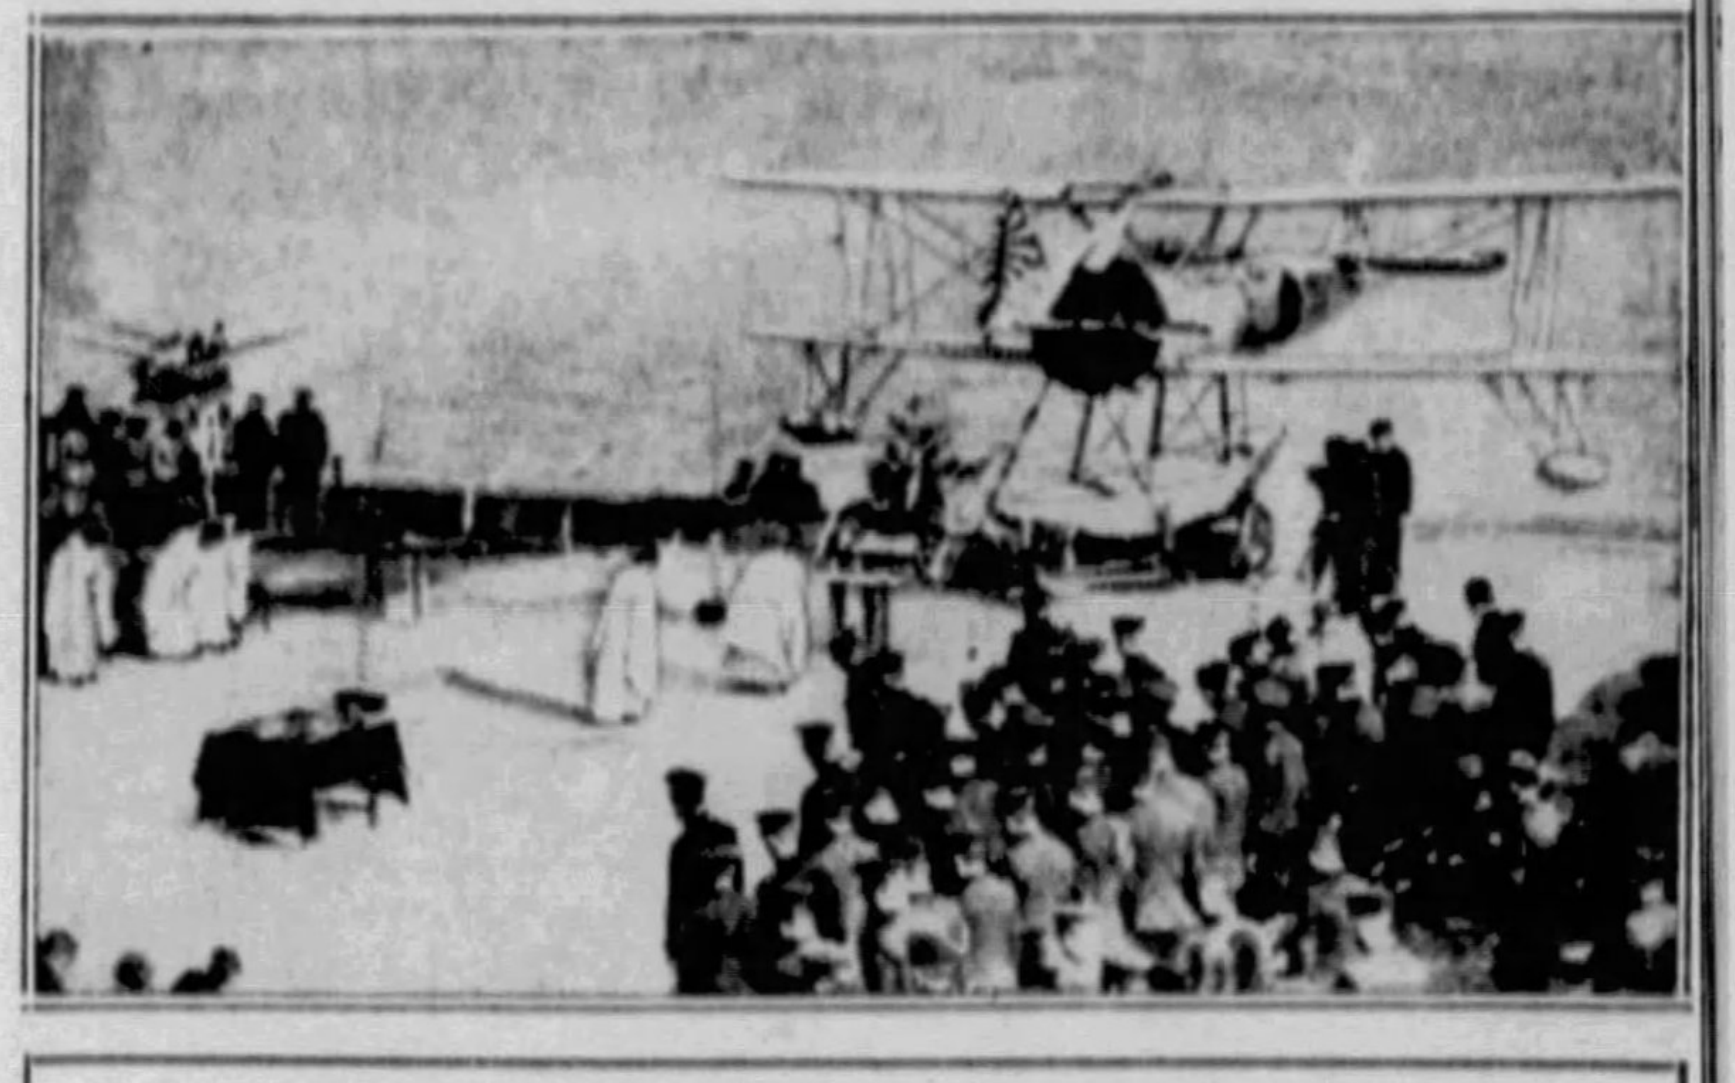
Bless Fighting Plane in Japan

That Country Knows What Air Power Means.



SHINTO PRIESTS INVOKING THE BLESSING OF THEIR GODS ON A NEW FIGHTING AIRSHIP.

The men in white are Japanese priests of the Shinto faith, to which a majority of Japanese adhere. You see them standing in front of the new Japanese fighting airship, calling down the blessing of the Shinto gods upon that engine of war. May it never crash; may all its enemies fall to the ground in flames; may it be worthy of its great mission, which is to assure the safety of the Japanese people and magnify the glory of the Emperor.

Long are the prayers and deep bowing of heads as the gods are called on to remember that the Emperor of Japan is "The Son of Heaven," his airships entitled to Heaven's protection and to constant success.

Ours being a different religion, we may believe, if we choose, that Shinto gods cannot amount to much and therefore cannot do anything to guarantee the success of this new airship in future flights.

But the intelligence of the Japanese people, awakened to the fact that mastery of the AIR in future will mean mastery of the WORLD, is highly important.

This picture shows the intense patriotism, love of country, which often means more in war than big guns and great generals.

This Japanese fighting airship was not built, grudgingly, with money taken from reluctant taxpayers.

It was presented to Japan's Emperor, fully equipped, as the gift of poor Japanese fishermen of the northern seas of Japan with money taken out of their pitifully small earnings. Thousands of them have saved the money to build this fighting airship at their own expense.

A nation combining great intelligence, with intense patriotism and limitless courage, will not easily be defeated.

BRAVE BEAUTY

By Winifred Black

The beauty came to see me the other morning.

"Poor beauty, how pretty she used to be," I thought, when she sent me word that she was coming. Hair as yellow and shiny as the petals of a buttercup. Eyes as blue as forget-me-nots. And the dearest little aquiline nose and dimples—well, you couldn't hear a word Beauty said, you were so busy watching her dimples.

A skin of roses and cream, except in the summer, and then a turn to a rich creamy tan that made her eyes and her yellow hair doubly startling.

Beauty in blue chiffon—dancing frock—with white roses—hush, man!

The gayest thing in town she was—poor Beauty.

Good humored, kindly, as light hearted as a bubbling bee, swaying on a tall shaft of meadow grass—lovely, joyous, lucky Beauty. Why shouldn't she be— as happy as a lark and as good as gold. Then one night she wanted to look especially well, for her engagement was to be announced at a special dinner. So she put on a long-trained white satin and her blue turquoise earrings, and just as she started down stairs her foot caught in the long white satin train and — crash — down she went!

She didn't speak a word for six weeks and it was three months before she really knew where she was.

No one thought she would live from one day to the next, but somehow, somewhere, she gathered strength—she was put into a cast and lived that way for a year and a half—and the other day she telephoned me that she wanted to see me about something important and I was as cold as a stone for hours before she arrived.

"I mustn't show her how sorry I am," I thought—"I must act as if she was just Beauty running in for a few minutes' chat."

And then she arrived—dear Beauty—prettier than ever—gayer than ever—on crutches—Oh, yes, and will be for the rest of her life, but you forget all about the crutches when Beauty laughs.

"Have it out," said Beauty, "you silly thing. Why I'm not sensitive about the crutches, I'm tickled to death to be able to use them—I feel like a bird flying through the air—you see I thought I would never get out of my room again."

And then she began talking about a new book she had just read and a new poet she had discovered and a certain shade of hibiscus someone had sent her to plant in her garden.

Poor beauty—what nonsense!

Brave Beauty—gallant Beauty, high hearted Beauty. Why, when I think of the discontented, disgruntled girl I know who sulks because she's had to give up her trip abroad and the other girl who would not speak to her father for three weeks because he said she'd have to make the old roadster do—well — here's to you Beauty and to all light hearts and brave from the equator to the pole.

It makes life worth living—just to think about you.

The man?—Oh, he's married to a girl with a martyr complex. I'm really sorry for him, and whisper —so is Beauty.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

God's Hand

How careful is God's hand to hold
The little creatures in His fold!
The mole that in the darkness creeps,
The owl that through the daylight sleeps,
The baby birds in every nest,
So warm beneath their mother's breast!
With velvet fur, with painted wing,
How lovely is each small, wild thing!

So patient is God's hand with these,
The denizens of fields and trees,
So watchful of their every need
For leaf and grass and brook and seed
That it seems clear in His vast plan
These all have place, as well as man;
And, though we know not how or why,
Beneath His care they, too, must lie!
